TB battle continues

The New Year holds promise of great progress in the battle against tuberculosis, according to Theodore Sanford, Lexington, president of the Kentucky Tuberculosis Association, who today urged Kentuckians to "keep up" their business of 1960 by honoring their Christmas Seal letters.

A world of distractions

If there is one word which describes the condition under which we and all civilized people live today, it is "distraction."

This is a common enough word, but it has had and significant meanings. For one thing, the dictionary tells us, it means a drawing off or diversion of the mind. It means confusion and perplexity. Then, at the far end of the spectrum, it means distraction, frenzy, even madness.

Child injured by shotgun blast; local tobacco sales are stopped

Delores, January 2, 1961
Delores Jolly, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edith Jolly near Myers, was brought to the Johnson Memorial hospital on Christmas Eve suffering with shotgun wounds on her body as the result of a shot which had been fired by her husband as she stood on the porch of her home.

SATURDAY MORNING IN SUBURBIA

government in ordering and directing the lives of the people. So "distraction" is the symbolic word. Our minds are torn by a hundred things in the world of communication, visual and verbal. In a matter of seconds, some event takes place half a world away in made known to us in words and pictures. In a matter of hours, we can travel as physically travel half a world away from our homes.

It is no wonder that, living as we must in this turbulent, hectic, as the old French proverb has it, more and more difficult to resist the lure of the screen. Fundamentals become dim and may even be lost beneath the cruel and blinding light of changing and threatening events.

But some things do not change. That is what we because of our heritage and because of our inescapable human nature. A free world confronted by a slave world which wants to destroy us, cannot afford to forget the question: What is all for this spending of almost unimagined resources of energy and treasure on a scale never before so much as an approximation in history. Why are we asked, as a people, for personal military sacrifices greater than any other nation has ever yet known?

There is a simple answer: that we must defend ourselves and our friends among the nations against the forces of darkness which are drawing off or diverting of the mind, it means confusion and perplexity. Then, at the far end of the spectrum, it means distraction, frenzy, even madness.

We have a multitude of distractions these days. The cold war goes on and on, everwidening, with no end in sight. Our world's eyes are recently riveted on an unprecedented meeting of chiefs of state at the United Nations in New York, where, just one week before the beginning of World War III, we have just gone through a political campaign of unique intensity in which the doctrine of "containment" has been witnessed a reign of terror and a reign of terror and a reign of terror.

A LITTLE YAPPIN'
by Nettie Crump
Wistfully looking out a window, I pondered how I would get over to the City of Shiloh to see the Christmas program. It is said every night of "thinker" here, and my little Bessie, who was a member of the church, was a member of the church, was a member of the church.
