CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"What is Truth?" is a vital question to be considered at Christian Science services Sunday.
Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon on the subject of "Truth" will include this representing Statement: "I will cry unto God most high; unto God that performeth all things for me. He shall send from heaven, and save me from the reproach of him that would swallow me up. God shall send forth his mercy and his truth" (Psalms 57:2,3).
The importance of prayer in understanding Truth is emphasized in this citation to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (11-27-31: "Prayer cannot change the unalterable Truth ,nor can prayer alone give us an understanding of Truth; but prayer, coupled with a fervent habitual desire to know and do the will of God, will bring us into all Truth."

Sewing Machine Attachment Demonstration

A sewing machine attachment demonstration is scheduled Thursday, January 26 at 2:00 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. at the Carlisle Baptist Church. The usual attachments that come with the sewing machine plus the buttonhole and zig-zagger will be demonstrated by the Singer Representative from Maysville, Kentucky.
She will also demonstrate using an automatic machine. Those interested in learning how to use the sewing machine attachments or in learning about the new deluxe machine are invited to attend.
Elbows of long-sleeved woolen dresses usually are the first place to show actual wear. Reinforce these weak spots inside the elbow with a piece of light weight fabric of the same color.
A scarf will save wear on the neckline of your coat and help keep it free of creams and powders.
If you must sit with your coat on for any length of time, unbutton it and pull it up slightly in the back to lessen strain.

Fallout Shelters Can Save Millions of Americans

Many Americans near the points of bomb impact could be killed in a nuclear attack by blast, heat and initial radiation. But millions could survive by the simple expedient of protecting themselves against radioactive fallout.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER has asked fallout shelters "the best single defense measure for the protection of the greatest number of our people."

For about $25 to $150 per person, families can construct shelters, on a do-it-yourself basis, into which they can go after any nuclear attack to stay alive until radiation intensity outside lessens to safe levels, civil defense authorities point out.

Any shelter must be designed to meet the necessities of life, including food, water, first aid and sanitary supplies and lights. There must be enough for all shelter occupants for at least 14 days.

Two pamphlets are available to help you construct a suitable basement or underground shelter. One is MP-15, "The Family Fallout Shelter," which details five basic designs of concrete block, reinforced concrete and prefabricated metal. The other, "Clay Masonry Fallout Shelters," shows five other plans for basic shelters, calling for use of clay products (brick or tile).

THESE PAMPHLETS can be obtained from your local or State civil defense offices, or by writing to Box Home Shelter, Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, Battle Creek, Mich.

Many persons building shelters are setting them up as recreation rooms, dens, or extra bedroom space, thus gaining multiple use of the facilities, civil defense officials report.

OCDM encourages multi-purpose use of shelter space. Its prime concern is that such radiation-proof shelter be provided now, officials say. On the day of an attack, such efforts would be too little and too late.

Neighbors help us to live longer and enjoy it more

Most of the comforts and conveniences that we enjoy today are accessible to us more or less in proportion to the number of people who live near us.

Schools, churches, doctors, electric power, stocks of foods, medicines, and clothing, trained technicians to service our needs, customers for the products of our own labor . . . all of these are ours to enjoy . . . as long as there are enough PEOPLE in the community to support them.

Every dollar that leaves this community helps to move somebody out. Every dollar that spent here, helps to bring more people in.

Something you didn't eat

"Something you didn't eat" was the title of a film sponsored by the Nicholas County School Lunch Program and shown to all Nicholas County students last week.
"Oh, it's something you have eaten," is a familiar statement by doctors and parents alike. But what about something you didn't eat?"
The dread disease scurvy was discovered to be caused by the lack of Vitamin C when a ship doctor found that two oranges and one lemon daily helped sailors who were ill with scurvy to get well The discovery of Vitamin B 1 was made when it was observed in Oriental countries that natives who ate polished rice became ill with beriberi and the ones who lived on unpolished rice remained healthy The something in the brown husk of the unpolished rice was Vitamin B 1

The old adage "a chain is no stronger than its weakest link" is very familiar The same thing applies to human beings The chain of health is made up of green and yellow vegetables, tomatoes oranges, and other citrus fruits Apples and other fruits and vegetables, milk and milk products, meat, poultry, fish and eggs, and bread and other whole grain cereal products If any one leaves out a link of these foods in his diet that means a link in his chain of good health is weakened.
Mothers, school lunch workers, or anyone who plans and prepares meals must check carefully to include some foods from each group in the daily diets of the ones they are feeding. Especially is Vitamin C needed daily because the body cannot store this vitamin.

used.
B. Regular tires—inadequate under many winter conditions.
C. Winterized tire thread treatment or breakout material—provide better traction on ice, not much improvement in snow over regular tires.
D. Mud-snow modern design—provide better snow and ice traction than regular tires.
E. Embedded metal coils, serpentine ribs—provide better snow and ice traction than regular tires. Effective on wet ice.
F. Sanders—performance outstanding in traction on ice only.
G. Regular round wire tire chains—good stop-and-go performance on ice and snow. Sideskid, resistance low compared to reinforced tire chains
H. Reinforced tire chains—best in overall performance on both ice and snow.
WHAT TO DO?—1. A driver should select the tire that best suits his situation and supplement it by always having reinforced tire chains available in the car trunk there if the need is needed for severe conditions.
2. Pump brakes to reduce skidding, maintain steering control, and shorten stopping distance. Use brakes judiciously to evaluate road surface if questionable.
3. If a vehicle begins to skid, the driver should reduce the power and turn the steering wheel in the direction of the rear end skid until recovery begins.
4. The application of power and steering forces should be gradual and smooth on winter surfaces
5. Use recommended tire pressures for best tire performance on ice.

Farm facts

JANUARY—1961

BEST BUYS—1961. The two best buys on most Kentucky farms in 1961 will be fertilizer, when used efficiently, and credit, when used wisely. The surest way of lowering crop production costs is to produce yields well above the average and the best way to do this is by providing an abundant supply of available plant food. Fortunately, the cost of fertilizer is still low when compared to most other farm production needs. The efficient way to use fertilizer is to test the soil and add the kinds and amounts shown to be needed. The purchase and use of only needed fertilizer is poor business. Any county agent can provide information on soil testing.
The biggest and best farmers usually use borrowed money to supplement their own capital. A recent U. S. Department of Agriculture study showed that farmers received from $350 to $400 for every $1000 working capital added to their operations. A good farmer can usually make money by borrowing money to do things that he couldn't do without borrowing it. Wise-use of credit includes such things as the purchase of needed lime or fertilizer, buying additional land to enlarge the enterprise; and the purchase of livestock—hogs, beef, dairy or sheep—where such livestock can be used efficiently. I know of no other tool of production—and that is what credit it is—that has increased in cost as little as interest rates. Fifty years ago farmers paid 6% for borrowed money; the rates are still the same today provided the loan is sound and the borrower efficient.

DAIRY OPPORTUNITIES

Dairying has long been considered a very dependable farm enterprise and one which is especially adapted to Kentucky's rolling pasturelands, mild climate and favorable markets. The state already ranks third among the states in cheese production and fourth in condensed milk. Now I hear that several Kentucky milk plants have expansion plans and are looking for new producers. This may be a good opportunity for progressive young farmers to get into the business. Dairying provides a pay check every two weeks, conserves and builds soil and fits in well with our tobacco enterprise. It is an opportunity worth looking into.
