CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be heard at all Christian Science churches Sunday.

Readings from the King James Version of the Bible will include this verse from Revelation (4): "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created."

One of the correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states (p. 207): "There is but one primal cause. Therefore there can be no effect from any other cause, and there can be no reality in aught which does not proceed from this great and only cause."

The Golden Text is from Psalm 72: "Blessed be the Lord God, the God of Israel, who only doeth wondrous things."

THE UPPER ROOM

THURSDAY, JUNE 1
Read 11 Corinthians 4: 8-18
That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ (1 John 1: 3).

Tradition speaks of the martyrdom of most of the Apostles, saying Matthew was killed by the sword. Thomas shot with arrows and put to death with a spear and Peter crucified head downward. Many early Christians suffered martyrdom.

We wonder sometimes why we should be the lot of many heroes of faithmen in whom dwelt the spirit of Christ. They could not keep silent, for they had experienced the love of God Torture and persecution could not stop them from proclaiming the good news of the redemptive power of Christ.

This long line of heroes of faith along the march of time stands as a challenge for all Christians today. There is a great need for spreading the gospel of Christ to those in the world who still live in darkness. As Christians we can be missionaries in our own spheres of life.

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, we beseech Thee to touch our hearts with the Holy Spirit that we may become missionary minded. Instill in us the urgency of spreading the gospel to those still in darkness. Use us as instruments to proclaim Thy redemptive power. In Christ's name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Everyone can be a missionary in his own sphere of life.—Dwaine Matir, Publisher (Reynolds)

Good iron shortens summer ironing tasks

LEXINGTON, KY. — Warm weather usually means more clothes for you to iron; a good iron makes the job easier and more pleasant. Mrs. Ella Anderson, UK Extension specialist in home management, lists some of the points to look for in an iron.

A good modern iron is lightweight, with a handle that stays cool and fits the hand comfortably, she notes. The soleplate is smooth and well-finished with beveled edges and a streamlined point for easing into gathers. The iron has a fabric dial controlled by a thermostat so that proper heat is always ready and held for different fabrics.

Some form of heel or side rest on the iron makes ironing less tiresome. Mrs Anderson points out For a left-handed person, a cord that comes out of the iron at the center back rather than at the right is more convenient. Also check the nameplate and make sure the wattage is at least 1,000, she suggests.

The heat on the soleplate of the iron should be distributed evenly to prevent "dragging" from cold spots and scorching from hot ones To test an iron for even heat, put the iron on a piece of white blotting paper, turn the heat to high or linen and let stand for five minutes. If the iron heats evenly all over its ironing surface, the imprint will be one even color If not, cold spots will show up light, hot spots dark

Mrs. Anderson suggests that you look for these points in a steam iron an easy-to-fill reservoir that you can refill while the iron is hot, good water capacity about a cup; a large volume of steam, easy change-over from steam to dry, automatic steam cut-off when not in use, temperature control for different fabrics, and light weight.

WAKE OF PROGRESS . . . The old Presbyterian Church, a landmark for years in Austin, Texas, is being torn down to make way for new buildings in the area.

Milk tops June list of foods

LEXINGTON, KY.—This is Dairy Month, which means that dairy products will get much attention during June, notes Mrs. Letta Jasper, UK Extension specialist in consumer marketing. You'll see special displays of milk, ice cream, milk sherbets, sour cream, and cottage cheese. Milk production reaches its peak this month, which is the main reason dairy producers choose June for their special promotion campaign.

For outdoor cooking and eating, broiler-fryers for any and all purposes will be plentiful during June and throughout the summer, Mrs. Jasper predicts. Egg supplies and prices are expected to stay about the same as during May.

You'll see more lamb, at least during the first part of the month, than the average at this time of year. June is the time when Kentucky spring lambs reach their market in heavy supply, she notes. Commercial broilers will be plentiful, too. June. Although much goes into processing of frozen and canned fishery products, some will be sold fresh. On local markets, flatus, cod, flounder, haddock, perch, halibut, lobster and shrimp will be found in good supply.

The Kentucky strawberry season extends into the first week or 10 days of June; then supplies will come from growing areas in the north as well as canned and frozen supplies from local orchards and farms. Expect to see the end of June. Plenty of watermelons, cantaloupes, grapes, and new crop potatoes. Mrs. Jasper concludes
