Guaranteed by Uncle Sam:

A retirement plan that will return $1.93 for every $1.00 you put in

Would you like to be sure that every dollar you put aside for retirement will pay you $1.93 later on? It can be done, and here's an example:

Buy a $100 Savings Bond (for $75) each month for 17 years and 9 months. (This is exactly ten years longer than the official maturity period for Bonds, and means extra interest earnings.) At the end of that time, you can cash in a Bond every month for the next 17 years and 9 months, and each one of them will pay you $145.

This works out to $1.93 for every $1.00 you put in Bonds—and please note—the $75 figure is only an example. You can put as little or as much as you like into this retirement plan. See the chart.

SOME ADVANTAGES YOU MIGHT THINK ABOUT

You can save automatically with the Payroll Savings Plan. Tell your company how much to set aside from your pay for Bonds. This way you won't forget to save and your savings will add up automatically.

You now get 3¼% interest, at maturity. This new rate, which went into effect June 1, 1959, makes your Bond money grow faster. Series E Bonds now mature 14 months earlier than before—in just 7 years, 9 months. Bonds bought before June 1, 1959, earn more, too—an extra ½% from then to maturity.

You can get your money, with interest, any time you want it. Bonds are a ready reserve that you can cash any time at any bank. But it pays to keep them.

Your money is guaranteed by the U.S. Government. Bonds are an absolutely riskless investment. The Government promises you that the cash value of your Bond will not drop—it can only grow.

Your money can't be lost or stolen. The Treasury will replace your Bonds, free, if anything happens to them.

You save more than money. You help save the peace with every Bond you buy. Peace costs money—money for science, education, military strength. And the money you save helps keep our nation's economy strong.

Pick the amount you would like to receive each month for 17¾ years

	$36[20]	$72[20]	$145[20]	$290[20]	$725[20]
You save each month for 17 years, 9 months	18[75]	37[50]	75[00]	150[00]	375[00]
At maturity, 7 years, 9 months from issue date, each Bond will be worth	25[00]	50[00]	100[00]	200[00]	500[00]
	Hold each bond for another 10 years
You collect each month for 17 years, 9 months	36[25]	72[00]	145[00]	290[00]	725[00]

Table based on assumption that 3-¼% rate will be in effect 17 years 9 months from applicable purchase date of each Bond.

Blue Grass Fair renewed

The famous Blue Grass Fair is being reinewed after a lapse of some 25 years under the sponsorship of the Lexington Lions Clubs, for six days, June 12 to 17.

The popular Fair was the mecca of thousands of visitors during its heyday with special trains making the yearly jaunt from Cincinnati, Louisville, and Ashland, packed to the handrails with patrons expectantly awaiting such great sights as the "head-on crash of two giant locomotives" as the publicity stories read then.

There'll be no locomotives crashing in the modern edition of the fair, but countless attractions geared to present day wants will be on hand for all to see.

One of the biggest midways ever to be seen in the state of Kentucky will be placed at one end of the Lexington Trotting Track, site of the 1961 Fair . . . a huge tented city will be erected to house hundreds of exhibits ranging from tiny fishhooks to full kitchens . . . from the newest in surrealist art to the latest in compact cars . . . from the newest Nike weapons to the Atomic City's finest display.

THE ENTRANT . . . French starlet Monique Bertaud on the beach at Cannes, France, where she is competing for the "Miss Festival" title at the Cannes Film Festival.

The farm and its life will have a large part in the Fair with large tents turned over to 4H and FFA displays along with special participation by June Dairy Month.

Harness racing, parades, farm machinery, commercial, and education displays will all have an important place on the fair grounds.

Highlights of the Fair will be the crowning of "Miss Blue Grass Fair" on Monday, June 12, when beauties sponsored by Lions Clubs from sixteen Central Kentucky Counties will vie for the title. The lucky young lady will later compete for honors on a state-wide basis.

High School Band Day will find more than 20 bands from within the state in competition for hundreds of dollars in cash prizes. The famous Grand Ole Opry from Nashville, Tennessee, will also perform for the crowds in front of the grandstand on Tuesday, June 13 under the auspices of the Fraternal Order of Police.

Square Dancers will have their day and more than 30 teams will compete in two divisions of this enjoyable hobby on Tuesday, June 13.

For the first time this year in Kentucky, the Gene Holter Wild Animal Show will be seen during the entire week of the Fair. The unusual show features such hardly-ever-seen thrills as ostrich and camel racing with local leaders acting as riders.

The U. S. Air Force Band from Wright-Patterson Air Field will perform in concert on the opening day as part of the free attractions and Governor Bert T. Combs will officially cut the ribbon to open the event on Monday evening, June 12 at 7 p.m. The Governor will also crown the winner of the beauty contest later that evening.

In an attempt to revive the spirit of the old fair, the Hazard Lions Club will organize an excursion train, marking the first passenger train in many years to travel the L & N lines from Eastern Kentucky. Nearly a thousand people are expected to pack the train for "Eastern Kentucky Day."

Jimmy Young, formerly of the County Fair Division of the Kentucky State Fair, has been selected as manager of the Blue Grass Fair. Young is widely known in Kentucky as a promoter of special events and because of his work with county fairs. Honored for his civic work in the past, Mr. Young was chosen as the outstanding young man in Fayette County in 1944 by the Lexington Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Fertilizer since '40 shows big jump

LEXINGTON, KY.—Kentucky farmers increased purchases of fertilizer about five-fold in the period 1940-1960, the UK Agricultural Experiment Station Feed and Fertilizer department says.

The department issued a report recently, showing that in 1940 total fertilizer purchases in the state amounted to 117,351 tons of mixed and straight-material (such as ammonium nitrate) fertilizers. But in 1960, the total was 563,978 tons. Mixed fertilizer tonage was about four time as much as the straight-material figure.

Bruce Poundstone, department head, in his report (taken on a five-year interval) said that in 1940 the analysis 3-8-6 (now virtually unused) was highest in tonnage with 16,912 tons. In 1945 it was 2-12-6 analysis, 69,766 tons. In 1950, 6-8-6 was tops with 102,249 tons. In 1955, the analysis 5-10-15 took the lead with 71,110 tons and in 1960 maintained it with 102,745 tons.

In the straight-materials category, the popular 20 percent superphosphate has been the leader all the way through except in 1960, ranging from 29,310 tons in 1955 to as high as 126,672 tons in 1950. In 1960, ammonium nitrate was the leader with 31,963 tons.

Poundstone said the 20-year figures show the definite trend toward high analysis fertilizers and the changes in farming techniques.

Some light needed when you watch tv

LEXINGTON, KY.—If your eyes get tired while you watch TV, perhaps the room does not have enough light. Watching television need be no harder on the eyes than any other "close work" if the room is properly lighted, according to Beth Burr, UK Extension specialist in home furnishings.

If you look from a very light area to a dark one, your eyes must adjust to the change. When you watch TV in a dark room, your eyes must make a big adjustment each time you look away from the screen—no wonder the eyes get tired.

Lots of light isn't necessary for television watching, but you do need some light throughout the room, Miss Burr says. Try to have the wall softly lighted behind the television set to avoid glare or contrast between the screen and wall. A lamp over or beside the screen will light this wall without reflecting on the screen.

For television viewing—and for general use, too—have lamps with shades that allow light to pass through without a bright spot showing. A "three-way" bulb also may be useful in the television lamp; such a bulb can be dimmed for watching TV and brightened for activities that need more light.

Remember that when you watch TV, you're looking into the end of the picture tube on a 17-to 20-inch screen; this area is about 10 times brighter than the average movie screen. For this reason, you should be, from 8 to 10 feet away from the screen; and make sure the children do not sit very near the screen, she warns.

Finally, Miss Burr suggests that you look off into the distance every now and then as you watch television. As with reading, sewing, or doing any other "close work," your eyes need a rest sometimes. Looking away will be restful for your eyes if the entire room has enough light.
