let's shed a little light!

. . . on rural electricity and rural electric co-ops. First, what are they? They are user-owned electric power cooperatives . . . organized and built by their farmer members. What is their main purpose? To bring electric power to rural communities at a reasonable price. Are co-ops government owned or supported? No. The user-owners borrowed money from the government, at a set interest rate, to build and equip their lines. This money must be repaid within 35 years and every Kentucky co-op is up-to-date on payments.

Are co-ops tax-free? No. Rural Electric Co-ops, singly and collectively, are among the biggest taxpayers in Kentucky and the taxes so collected are used for the benefit of all Kentucky . . . not just farm communities.

And here's another important point: Kentucky's farmers originally built their rural cooperatives for one purpose only . . . to get the electric power they could not buy elsewhere! Out of their cooperation has grown a force powerful enough to keep Kentucky's prosperity growing.

Kentucky's Rural Electric Co-ops help everyone

Mr and Mrs. McNeely have much to share with loved ones and friends in the States as they tell of their first term of missionary service in a land of intolerance and religious persecution.

Since 1958 Mr. McNeely has been New Testament professor in the Baptist Seminary in Barcelona and has served on the national Sunday School Committee since its organization. Mrs. McNeely is the Seminary librarian and has been active in the national Woman's Missionary Union of Spain.

TAKE SUMMER JOBS

William T. Straw, and Billy Conley, are in Hyannis, Mass. where they will work during the summer in a Cape Cod resort. Both are students at the University of Kentucky and will return there this fall.

RECEIVES 15-YEAR PIN—Palmer Smart (center), Paris central office foreman for the Southern Bell Telephone Co., is being presented with a 15-year service pin by R. 4-H'ers attend state 4-H week

More than 1,000 4-H Club members from 119 counties in the state are back home this week after spending five days at the University of Kentucky's 38th annual 4-H Week, June 13-17. These boys and girls were selected for the trip to Lexington because of their outstanding 4-H work; they represented some 89,000 members throughout the state. Attending from Nicholas County were Judy Caswell, Luanne Ellington, Rose Ann Simons, Michael Morford, Paul Dampier, Ralph Bowling, and Bassett Barton.

Dual theme for the week's program was citizenship and leadership. The 4-Hers themselves did most of the talking as they discussed their future roles as leaders and citizens in their home communities, the state and the world. Several state and UK officials also talked to the group on these subjects.

A "United Nations session," with 4-H'ers "representing" 30 different countries of the world, opened the week's program. The boys and girls of Nicholas County were assigned to represent Nationalist China At the session, they discussed the question, "Should Red China Be Admitted To The United Nations?" After a lively debate, they voted not to admit Red China by a vote of 14 to 10, with 6 abstentions.

A practice session" in democracy was part of the week's agenda, too, as the 4-H'ers took part in campaigns for and election of their new state officers for 1961-62.

Highlight of the week for many of the girls attending was the state 4-H Dress Revue, where county dress revue champions modeled the winning outfits they made in their 4-H clothing projects. Judy Caswell modeled her lavendar formal at the Revue and also on television Tuesday afternoon. Nicholas County boys, Paul, Ralph, and Bassett were delighted to act as escorts for the lovely girls.

Another highlight of the week was Thursday Night's Talent Show. Club and Specialty Act winners in the District Talent Shows performed.

The goal for the week's program was for each delegate to develop their "full Of Responsibilities" to live up to in accordance with the Bill Of Rights they live under.

Feed grain acreage check to be made

Farmers who are taking part in the 1961 feed grain program should be ready by June 26, to have their acreage checked, according to H. S. Vice, Chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Mr. Vice expects the measurement of feed grain acreage in the county to get under way about June 26. At that time, employees of the county committee will start visiting farms that are participating in the feed grain program. During the visit the acreage of corn and grain sorghum will also be measured.

The acreage of land designated diverted acreage will be measured and the current use of the land will be recorded. Diverted acreage is to be used for approved conservation under the program.

Eight weeks is the time estimated by Mr. Vice, to be required to visit and check all the farms in the county that are taking part in the feed grain program.

WORLD WAR I VETS TO MEET

There will be a meeting of the Veterans of World War I, Monday, June 26, at 7:30 p.m. at the Legion Hall. The meeting is called by Richard Hunt.

Enthusiasm shown in lake development

Considerable enthusiasm is apparent, soliciting teams reports. During the first four days of contacts with Nicholas Countians and other interested persons in surrounding areas, sales of stock and lots continues for the construction of the Nicholas County lake resort, owned by the Nicholas County Development Corporation.

As of noon Wednesday, Charles M. Cox, corporation treasurer, reports $14,350.00 deposited.

Meeting Set

Sales teams will report at an open meeting tonight (Thursday) at the court house at 7:30 o'clock. Anyone interested in the purchasing of stock or lots are specifically invited to attend. The meeting is open to the public.

Lake Description

The lake will be 120 to 140 acres in area with a shore line of 29,040 feet. Lake capacity will be 4½ billion gallons of water. A gently rolling topography prevails over most of the shore line. Generous size lots are available for cottages. A family is limited to a maximum of two lots. $1,000 will place a family on a priority list in lot selection.

The lake will be approximately 2½ miles north of Carlisle.

Relatives meet after 40 years

Pedro Kure, Barahana, Republic of Dominicana, brother of Mrs. Thomas Abraham, arrived in Carlisle on Tuesday for a meeting with his sister, the first in 40 years.

After a visit with Mrs. Abraham and family he will leave for Lebanon, his native home.

New wheat allotment deadline

Any farmer in Nicholas County who does not have a wheat allotment for his farm and wants an allotment for 1962 should make application by June 30, 1961. Such an application must be filed in writing, according to H. S. Vice, Chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

150 acre lake will be formed by highway fill

Frankfort — Governor Bert Combs today approved action of the lake development committee to cooperate with the highway department in construction of a highway fill dam which will form a 150 acre lake to be located about two and one half miles north of Carlisle.

The lake will be constructed on a new rural secondary road to connect U. S. 68 with Ky. 32. Cost of construction of the highway and fill into a dam is estimated at $100,000.

The local sponsoring organization, Nicholas County Development Corporation, plans to invest considerable more than this amount in the project, said J. O. Matlick, Commissioner of Conservation and Chairman of the State Lake Development Committee.

County Attorney Charles M. Cox, one of the leaders in the local program, points out, "this is the only lake of its kind in this part of the State. It will be of considerable interest to everyone who enjoys fishing and boating or having a summer retreat for their family. The lake will be a valuable asset not only to the community of Carlisle, but to those people residing in surrounding counties. We appreciate the cooperation of Gov. Combs and other state officials in helping to make this project possible."

The Nicholas County lake is another project in Gov. Combs' plan to build a "chain of lakes" across Kentucky by utilizing highway fills for dams. By converting highway fills into dams, water can be impounded at a fraction of the cost of conventional methods, Matlick says.
