In The Service

The Nicholas County Blackberry Festival affords a wonderful opportunity for our oldtimers to get together and cheer the rag about people and things of the past which to us, at least, are interesting if not important in our lives.
Naturally, our memories are not to be depended upon, so we have to get things straight by checking with other oldtimers who may still be around. Nate Young Sr. proves to be our most reliable source of information, since as a hobby, he has collected a great many photographs of people and events which are very helpful in supplying the missing links in our memories. We must apologize to Nate for being as just a youngster as compared with some of the characters we like to mention. For example, there is Charles Rogers who once worked in the Robertson's Office in the Court House and whose picture appeared among the County Officials on the steps of the Court House. (Nate Young's Collection) Mr. Rogers, looking far less than his eighty years, now residing in West Virginia, has been a regular attendant at the Blackberry Festival for several years and is here again this year.

Noting some of the young fry going down the street in their nice baseball uniforms, Charles, Nate, and I got started on the subject of baseball as played in Carlisle in the "Good old days" by Perry McClanahan who dismissed to use a glove, Dick and Clint Myers, Ed Olie, Hamilton, the latter three from Myers Station who were available on Clint and Olie were the "Battery." Nate admitted that this trio was before his time, but he did remember the famous game between souped up teams from Millersburg and Flemingsburg which was played in uncle Dan Hutchings' "Parade" in Carlisle. The game created great interest and enthusiasm among the local fans who bet their dollars on their favorite team.

As Mr. Rogers recounted, Flemingsburg came loaded for bear with a crack battery from Mayville with which they hoped to take home the bacon. However, some wide awake fans from Millersburg and Carlisle went to Flemingsburg and beat them. The game was a real treat for the fans who bet their dollars on their favorite team.

MARINE PFC. Leo Lynn Jr. beaten with crack battery from of Lexington, returned Saturday by plane to 29 Palms California, after spending 15 days leave with his parents and friends.

Leo Lynn Jr., a Marine private first class, returned Saturday from a 15-day leave in California. He was with his parents and friends.

Blue Licks Park shelter building to be constructed

Frankfort, June—A shelter building is to be erected at the Blue Licks Battlefield State Park near Mt. Olivet it has been announced by Kentucky State Parks Commissioner Edward V. Fryman.
The building is to be opened with the exception of restaurant and storage room. It will contain a fireplace and will be heated by a wood-burning stove. The site of the building will be 28 feet by 52 feet.
The contract for construction of the building was awarded to the Irvin Shuman Construction Co. of Frankfort. Fryman reported.
He said construction of the new shelter is part of the State park expansion program announced in December by Governor Combs. The program was made possible by voter approval last November of the $10 million parks bond issue.

Topographic maps of county available

Made from aerial photographs, the topographic maps are large scale general purpose maps—one inch on the map equals 2,000 feet on the ground.
Each map, representing an area approximately seven by eight miles, is shown on a sheet 22 by 27 inches.
Principal features shown are roads, water courses, woods, hills and valleys. This provides basic topographic information which is necessary for special purpose maps.
The information available is of material benefit along many lines, including proper location and construction of highways, large buildings, power lines, flood control, navigation structures, gas transmission lines, water reservoirs, radio towers, radio and television towers and other engineering purposes.
Nine maps are required to cover Nicholas County. The maps retail for thirty-five cents each, plus 10% postage and handling charges.
The United States Geological Survey cooperates with the State of Kentucky in mapping the entire State.
