CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The indestructible relationship of God and man will be explained at Christian Science services Sunday in a Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Mortals and Immortals."

These words of Paul will be included in the readings from the Bible: "The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together." (Rom.8).

A correlative citation from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states: "It is only by acknowledging the supremacy of Spirit, which annuls the claims of matter, that mortals can lay off mortality and find the indissoluble spiritual link which establishes man forever in the divine likeness, inseparable from his creator. (p. 491).

Mrs. Martine Bowles Mynear, 30, wife of Walter Dean Mynear, residents and had weather delayed him, and it wasn't until November 7 that he could line up his ships outside Port Royal Bay and move in to attack two forts there.

In Single File

In single file, the ships moved into the bay directly between the guns of Fort Walker, on the left, and Fort Beauregard, on their right. As they passed into the bay, each ship opened fire on Fort Walker and, in the doing, sent a small Confederate fleet of river boats scurrying into a creek.

Once in the bay, the line of ships swung to the left and came back out again, still firing broadside into Fort Walker. Some of the ships then turned again and made a third swing past the forts. By that time, resistance had ended.

Confederate Brig. Gen. Thomas F. Drayton (whose brother, Percival, was commanding a Union ship firing on Fort Walker at the time) led his men in retreat from the fort.

Seeing Fort Walker fall into the hands of the Yankees, the Confederates at Fort Beauregard abandoned their position, and Port Royal—finest port between Charleston and Savannah—was in Union hands. The battle ended with the loss of

by Lon K. Savage

Two big attacks were launched against the Confederacy 100 years ago this week, both on the same day. When the day ended, the two sides could call it a draw. One attack, led by Flag Officer Samuel F. Du Pont at Port Royal, S. C., succeeded, the other, led by Gen. Ulysses S. Grant at Belmont, Mo., failed.

The big day was November 7 (which happened to be one day after Jefferson Davis, running unopposed, was elected to a six year term as president of the Confederacy. Before that date he had been acting on a provisional basis.)

Du Pont's attack actually had started weeks earlier, when he outfitted an expedition of ships and troops to sail southward toward the Carolina coast, but ac-

AMERICA IS STILL GROWING! There are many reasons for us to have confidence in our country, and not the least of these is the remarkable record our industries have achieved. Since 1900, our gross national product has increased at the average rate of 3% per year, from $79 billion at the turn of the century, to $503 billion in 1960. This gross national product will be rapidly approaching the $1 trillion mark by 1975—another good reason for confidence in a growing America.

TODAY'S meditation

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 9
Read Isaiah 26:1-9;
John 14:25-31

My peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. (John 14:27.)

Peace! How we all long and pray for it in this distracted world! For years the cold war has been fomenting hatred, malice, and all uncharitableness. Many conferences, attended by leading statesmen of nations, have been held; and very little has been accomplished. Armaments are still being piled up, while millions of people are underfed and suffering.

Why all this unrest, this suspicion, this jealousy? It is because nations and individuals do not acknowledge Jesus, the Prince of Peace, as their Lord.

They are not willing to submit themselves to His rule, to obey His teaching.

He came to this world to make peace. By His atoning death on the cross, He made it possible for men to have peace with God—to know the peace of sins forgiven, the peace of reconciliation, the peace of fellowship with God.

The Prince of Peace says to us, as He said to His disciples long ago, "My peace I give unto you."

PRAYER: O God, Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, may Thy divine peace keep our hearts and minds in the knowledge of Thee and Thy will. Help us to be Thy peacemakers among men; through Thy Son our Savior we offer our prayer. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: God keeps in perfect peace those whose minds are stayed on Him.

W. P. Hares (England).

Have You
an unknown diabetic in Your Family

More than one million diabetics do not know they have this disease. A simple urine test, to find out if sugar is present, can save years of future trouble.

Diabetes is an incurable disease that is easy to live with if the diagnosis is early and medical advice is followed. Proper diet, insulin if needed and certain precautions, enable diabetics to live a normal and happy life.

Middle or old aged people, particularly those over weight, can develope diabetes and not know they have it until it is too late to prevent its serious consequences.

During diabetes week November 12-18, we suggest (if there is any doubt!) that you visit your doctor and take a test, it will only take a minute and may help you to be sure.
