Church NEWS

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Why the healing law of God can be relied upon to overcome sin and sickness will be explained Sunday at Christian Science church services.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" Among the Scriptural selections to be read are these words of Isaiah (33): "For the Lord is our judge, the Lord is our lawgiver, the Lord is our king; he will save us . . . And the inhabitant shall not say, I am sick: the people that dwell therein shall be forgiven their iniquity."

Readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include (p. 381): "God, the lawmaker, but He is not the author of barbarous codes. In infinite Life and Love there is no sickness, sin, nor death, and the Scriptures declare that we live, move, and have our being in the infinite God."

Teachers attend C.K.E.A meet

Nicholas County teachers were among the 2,000 or more Central Kentucky teachers and school officials attending the annual meeting of CKEA at Richmond, last Friday, September 29. The CKEA has a membership of 3,296.

As president of CKEA Dr. Morris Cierley of the University of Kentucky presided over the meeting. Dr. Roy N. Walters, Berea, assumed the presidency following Friday's meeting.

Dr. Robert R. Martin, Eastern President, welcomed the group. Dr. Cierley announced that Dr. Martin had been endorsed to serve as vice-president elect of the Kentucky Education Association in April.

Talton R. Stone, state director of the National Education Association, strongly urged every teacher in Kentucky to support NEA. R is through unity that the NEA can continue to push for federal support.

Following the first general session, sectional meetings were held involving classroom teachers, elementary principals, secondary principals, superintendents, higher education and teacher educational and professional standards.

Dr. L. G. Derthick, assistant secretary for educational services of NEA and former U. S. Education commissioner climaxed the convention with an address in the afternoon. His topic was "School of the Future." Dr. Derthick said, "We are in a race for knowledge and we cannot take this blessing of education for granted." He further stated, "We can improve our field by using brain power as well as uniting for more financial support. We have to project a better image of America and we must begin this in our classrooms."

Elmer Bellamy, President of the Nicholas County Classroom Teachers Association, was a platform guest at the meeting.

Garden debris plays host to plant diseases

LEXINGTON, Ky.—Many organisms that cause plant diseases in vegetables, fruit or flowers can live through the winter in debris left from summer, says R. A. Chapman, UK Agricultural Experiment Station plant pathologist.

Burning or taking away such debris will often start a good control program that will benefit the next year's fruit crop, vegetable garden or flower plantings.

For instance: The apple scab fungus (active this year) survives in fallen leaves. The fungus causing black spot of roses can live through the winter in a similar way. Fungi that cause brown rot of peaches and black rot of grapes over-winter in rotted fruit. Many bacteria and fungi that affect annual and perennial plants overwinter in stubble and debris from, gardens; fungi that cause early blight and septoria blight of tomatoes and the fungus causing gray mold of peony and other plants can survive in such materials. Root-knot nematodes survive the winter in the galled roots of infected plants.

Raking up leaves and garden remnants and burning or hauling them away helps start a good control program that aids control measures such as spraying or dusting. Chapman says dead tops of perennial plants such as peonies and chrysanthemums should be cut off. Dead annual plants pulled up or dug up if nematodes were a problem, and leaves raked.

If compost is desired from this dead material, the piles should be thoroughly rotted (by use of lime, fertilizer, soil, etc.) and not used for at least one year. But if these composting preparations cannot be carried out properly, the materials should be burned or hauled away.

NEW DODGE POLARA—This is the high-performance, high-style 1962 Polara "500" which Dodge is introducing in the luxury sports car market. The new, medium-price prestige car is powered by a 305-horsepower V-8. It's available in two models:

Chickweed control is needed now

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Chickweed and henbit, two weed pests in strawberry fields, should be treated—now, says James Herron, UK Experiment Station horticulturist.

These two plants sprout in fall and winter, grow until spring when they develop seed, and die during summer.

Best treatment is Crag-Sesone in October. Use at the rate of 3 to 4 pounds an acre as a spray. Weed area thoroughly before spraying as Sesone is effective on germinating seed, not the actively growing plants.

Extension Leaflet 164, detailing treatments, is available at county agents' offices.

Soil structure no fertility key

LEXINGTON, Ky.—The soil on your farm may be well drained, in good physical condition and have a thick topsoil.

Thus, it "looks good." But this is no guarantee it is fertile. You simply cannot look at soil, or feel it, and discover its fertility.

So, says B. N. Driskell, UK Cooperative Extension Service soils specialist, this is where soil testing enters the picture.

Fall is an excellent time to take soil samples. The ground is firm, and fall results are almost exactly the same as spring-sample results as far as fertility levels.

A soil test tells the farmer what plant nutrients the soil lacks (or even has in abundance). This helps set up fertilization and liming programs. Good fertilization and liming practices increase the chances of better income and better quality crops.

Don't forget—liming in the fall is the best. But don't lime fields unless they've been soil-tested. You might add lime to a field which doesn't need it.

ME? PUT MY HEAD IN THE SAND?

It isn't true that we ostriches stick our head in the sand. Not all the time, anyway. Sometimes? Well . . . once in a while, maybe. Humans should talk. I know humans don't stick their heads in the sand—but they don't always keep their eyes wide open, either. Why, just today I heard a couple of human ladies discussing their out-of-town shopping trips. One fired they were and how some of their "bargains" turned out to be not a wonderful offer they compared these "bargains" with prices in local stores.

Sure, they're wide awake now. But, how many other humans know it's best to stop at home? Is everybody awake?

Telephone Talk

by CHARLES A. HARRIS Your Telephone Manager

MOST FOLKS ARE familiar with the part our telephone servicemen play in providing good telephone service. You might not know, though, that a telephone serviceman can serve in another very important way, if the need arises. Throughout the Bell System, more than 165,000 employees—including approximately 60,000 telephone servicemen—hold first aid certificates! Each man's truck or trailer contains a well-equipped first aid kit, ready to use.

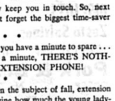
IT'S FALL AGAIN and there's so much to do—places to go—people to see. And more and more people are finding that shopping by phone is a good way of saving time and energy to do the things that need doing. Many stores today offer a telephone shopping service . . . their ads in the paper and the Yellow Pages of your telephone directory time you're in a rush, don't forget the biggest time-saver of all: your telephone.



keep you in touch. So, next

REMEMBER, TOO, when you have a minute to spare . . . and when you can't spare a minute, THERE'S NOTHING LIKE A HANDY EXTENSION PHONE!

TO EACH HER OWN! On the subject of fall, extension phones, and such, just imagine how much the young lady-of-the-house would enjoy a Princess extension phone of her own? She could discuss homework in quiet . . . have fun-on-the-phone without disturbing other members of the family . . . and carry on her private conversations in private! Why not surprise the "princess" in your family with her very own Princess extension—soon. All it takes is a call to our business office.

AND, when you give her a Princess, make the occasion doubly important by having her name listed in the phone book! An additional listing is low in cost, and think how much she'd love it!

Carlisle FHA'ers meet Monday

Carol Caswell, Reporter.

The Carlisle Chapter of the future Homemakers of America met on Monday, October 9th, 1961 in the school auditorium for their monthly meeting. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mary Logan Gilley. There were 28 members and one sponsor present. Wanda Hamm gave the devotional.

The program was given by Faye Lyman, Beverly Mann and Carol Caswell on "Individual Recreation". They showed examples of the many things possible to do for recreation alone.

Then Judy Giffin explained to the members the possibility of selling Christmas paper and ribbon or tape. The chapter voted to sell the paper and ribbon for $1.49 a package.

Shirley Reid gave a report of the District fall meeting held at Harrison County High School on Saturday, October 7, 1961. She told of the new things learned and the program given.

Then the meeting was adjourned to meet the second Monday in November.

The 1962 Ford Galaxie line features a crisp, fresh approach to Ford's classic styling. Shown here is the Galaxie 500 Sunliner convertible, one of twelve models in the Galaxie line. While the new Galaxie is slightly shorter and fractionally narrower than the 1961 model, the large passenger compartment is the same as 1961. Large door openings, coupled with Ford's convenient two-position door stops, make entering and leaving the Galaxie an easy and natural movement. The Sunliner top is anchored at each roof bow to prevent "ballooning" when underway. The vinyl-clad top is stowed under a color-keyed boot.

MESSENGER'S QUARTET — Appearing nightly at the Carlisle Christian Church Revival through October 22 at 7:30. Dr. Duke Jones of Newman, Ga. is the evangelist.
