The development was given by Mrs. Jimmie J. Moore. Each month this year, the publicity chairman is asked to write Moore's H's with Mrs. J. S. about a certain subject. The Wilsons, as co-hosts. There were 24 members present. The lesson was read to welcome Mrs. and Jimmy Conrad into our club, given by our home agent, Mrs. Moore.

Margie Wilson. We were told in the second lesson, how to prepare the surface for a finish, dry, and smooth the area with success in smoothing any job depends on the selection of the proper abrasive. Flat, garnet, aluminum oxide and emery papers may be used. We were given points on bleaching the wood, filling it, staining and toning it to suit our taste.

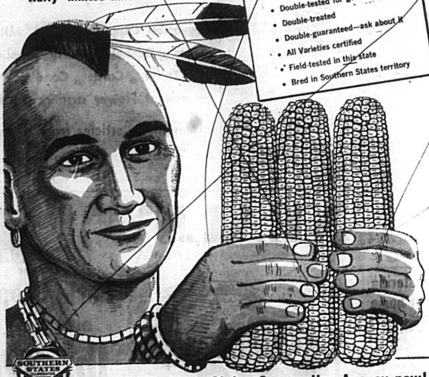

One important part of the lesson was the handling of knots. Knots are caused by hard impurities which are deposited layers of wood fibers, stems and hard matter. The impact has been great enough to cut through the wood fibers, stems and hard matter will not cure the damage. Where 'performance' counts...

Rural Electric were organized to bring electric service to people just as areas unable to get this service any other way. Through cooperation and a lot of hard work, the lines were built to bring in this much-needed electricity—at rates the member-consumers could afford to pay!

By careful management and a conscientious dedication to the job, the Rural Electric were able to bring service to their members at a fraction of the costs which had been estimated—serving thinly populated areas, with few customers to the mile—providing a sort of "caterpillar" for the measurement of electric power distribution costs everywhere.

Rural Electric are the source of dependable, low-cost electric power for rural areas—where rural power requirements are required—you can count on the Rural Electric!
