CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The nature of God as Spirit, not matter, will be brought out Sunday at Christian Science church services.

Opening the Biblical selections in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Matter" are these verses from Exodus (20): "And God spake all these words saying . . . Thou shalt have no other gods before me . . . Thou shalt not make with me gods of silver, neither shall ye make unto you gods of gold."

This citation will be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (pp. 199, 200): "When Homer sang of the Grecian gods, olympus was dark but through his verse the gods became alive in a nation's belief. Pagan worship began with muscularity, but the law of Sinai lifted thought into the song of David. Moses advanced a nation to the worship of God in Spirit instead of matter, and illustrated the grand human capacities of being bestowed by immortal Mind."

Washington Reports

BY KY. CONGRESSMAN
JOHN WATTS

A company which manufactures and sells fall-out shelters announced recently that its annual business volume had increased several hundred per cent in the last two months.

Undoubtedly, this increase, which is only a segment of the sudden spurt of civil defense activity all over the country, originated with President Kennedy's initial speech on the Berlin crisis which called for a mammoth step-up in military preparedness and an extra appropriation for CD programs and facilities. Certainly, it spurred again with the announcement of resumption by the Soviets of nuclear testing in the atmosphere. And with yesterday's announcement of the Public Health Service that some fall-out had been detected in Alaska as a result of the Russian tests, the bomb shelter business will undoubtedly boom even higher.

In this connection, a national church recently carried an article under its Religion section dealing with the problem of CD preparedness. The point the same question to several clergymen — did they think, the magazine queried, that it was Christian for a man to kill to protect his own family? In the event of nuclear attack, would a mild sedation for a man to kill to protect his own family? In the event of nuclear attack, would a mild sedation for a man to kill to protect his own family? In the event of nuclear attack, would a mild sedation for a man to kill to protect his own family? Obviously, a shelter can support only a limited number of individuals for a certain period of time. Does the man whose foresightedness caused him to build his own shelter have the right to restrict it to his family or those whom he wishes to admit? One man stated definitely that the first item he was stocking in his home as a shelter was a gun—not for use against an enemy invasion, but against his friends and neighbors. His first and only duty, he said, was to his family. He had built the shelter for them, and did not intend to hold open house if the bomb fell.

In still another news story the tale was told of the man who paid workmen to build his shelter and disguised them as exterminators, so that his neighbors would not be aware that a shelter was nearby.

Certainly, the desire for survival is the strongest urge known to man. I am not making any judgment on the ethics of the tragic situation — I don't think any man, until he is faced with it, could say whether he would kill to safeguard his own life or his own bomb shelter. But I think the rash of stories, reports, and incidents relative to the construction of fall-out shelters demonstrates that President Kennedy acted just in time when he proposed revitalization of the CD program. I think that every man must prepare himself and his family for such an eventuality. Civil defense is like insurance—it may never be needed, but if it is, it's suddenly very valuable and all the years of payments seem in retrospect to have been quite worthwhile.

TOURING SCENIC KENTUCKY
CUMBERLAND FALLS STATE PARK
By Marty Lovelace

Cumberland Falls State Park, nestled deep in the foothills of the Cumberland mountains in Eastern Kentucky, is one of the most scenic and oft" visited parks in America.

There are many varied and obvious reasons for this park being such a popular vacation spot, but probably the most contributing factor is the "Falls." which is a 68 foot drop over sharp, sheer rocks, and the only falls in the Western hemisphere; and one of the two places in the world, where a "Moonbow" may be seen. The Moonbow is a natural phenomenon and may be seen on moonlit nights.

The park has not only the "Falls" as a spectacular attraction, but excellent facilities for fishing, swimming, riding, hiking, and sunbathing, along with a profusely growing forest which is a photographer's haven.

DuPont Lodge, keyed to the quiet, relaxed atmosphere of its surroundings, can accommodate 155 persons. The Lodge is situated on a cliff overlooking a most breathtaking scene, the ever changing colors of the forest.

From the patio at the Lodge, one may view, hundreds of feet below, the winding of the river through the hillsides. In addition to the Lodge, there are the Moonbow Cottages, fully furnished for "wooday" living, the Trading Post, with a sandwich shop, novelty shop, modern restroom facilities, a souvenir shop, and a commissary for the supplying of grocery needs for guests using the vacation house-keeping cabins.

You'll find the food served at the Lodge, excellent, and Connoisseurs will smile with delight when the Swedish Smorgasbord de luxe is served on Saturday night before the square dancing begins.

During the summer months, one of the featur attractions is the production "Endless Waters," a drama which is presented nightly beneath the falls. This outdoor drama of lights, words, and symphonic music is timed with the lighting of the falls, and is a most natural and the inspiring production.

Cumberland Falls State Park is located on Ky. Highway 90, between U. S. Highways 25 and 27. Your local service station will be happy to assist you in choosing the best and most convenient route to the "Falls." See you there!
