Wildcat season starts Saturday

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Kentucky's Wildcats kick-off their 1961 football season here Saturday night, (Sept. 23) against one of the nation's leading independent teams, Miami of Florida, with high hopes of upsetting the forecasters who have pegged them for an eighth place finish in the Southeastern Conference.

Head Coach Blanton Collier, entering his eighth season at the UK helm, makes no secret of the fact that his team will be gunning for the Hurricanes — who have never beaten Kentucky in five tries since 1948.

"We have an advantage this year in opening against a non-conference team," the coach explains. "And a victory would give our boys a tremendous momentum for the rest of the season. Our task is not going to be an easy one—certainly, as we do, such powers as Mississippi, LSU, Tennessee and the like—but we are not going into this campaign with the idea of finishing in eighth place."

Confirming the absence of the big guns of the current crop of Wildcats, a predominantly home-grown group and a young one, but the team also boasts some top personnel.

Heading the list is one of the top passing combinations in the nation is the pairing of quarterback Jerry Woolum and ends Tom Hutchinson and Dave Gash. The trio was largely responsible for Kentucky's national ranking as the fourth best passing team last year and instrumental in the Wildcats' late season surge that saw only one loss in the last seven starts. Hutchinson, All-SEC as a sophomore and picked on numerous pre-season All-America this year, finished as the second best receiver in the conference and was led a merry chase all season by Gash. Woolum enters the season with credentials as the passer with the best record of any returning SEC player.

CARLISLE DEFEATED

stood Carlisle 6, Stanford 0.

In the second quarter both teams had possession of the ball but neither scored.

The third quarter followed the same pattern with neither team scoring again.

In the fourth quarter action picked up when D. Wooldrige scored for the Wildcats in the first part of the quarter. Disbey scored the point after T.D.

A few plays later Johnson came back for Carlisle and scored on a perfect quarterback sneak. There was no extra point.

Carlisle kicked off with the Wildcats returning the ball 15 yds. from the 35 yd. line. It was nearing the last few seconds of the game and it looked as though Carlisle had the game tied up when Wooldridge scored again for Stanford. He made the extra point but there was a disagreement between refrees as to whether it was a T.D. or whether Wooldridge went out of bounds on the 5 yd. line. After a bit of discussion between refrees and coaches it was declared a T.D. and the game was over.

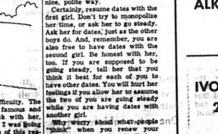
She Wants To Date 'Steadily'
By C. D. Smith



THE WEEK'S LETTER: "At the beginning of the summer, I first got to know a boy who was going steady with a girl. About two or three weeks later, we broke up. She said she still liked me, but didn't want to go steady—only steadily. I was confused at first and didn't know what to do. I let the summer go by without giving her a reply. Now that I have found out she isn't mad at me, I want to go back with her. There is another girl that likes me and I am afraid that I would hurt her if I went back to dating the first girl. How can I keep from hurting either one?"

OUR REPLY: You goofed, for sure. What the first girl was telling you at the beginning of the summer was simply that she did not want to tie herself down by going steady. What she did she wanted to go "steadily," she meant that she wanted to have many dates. Most girls do, you know. She wasn't mad at you. She was simply giving you "the word" in a nice, polite way.

Certainly, resume dates with the first girl. Don't try to monopolize her time, or ask her to go steady. Ask her for dates; just as the other boys do. And, remember, you are also free to have dates with the second girl. Be honest with her, too. If you are supposed to be going steady, tell her that you think it best for each of you to have other dates. You will hurt her feelings if you allow her to assume the two of you are going steady when you have dates with another girl.

Certainly, remember what people "think" when you renew your dates with the first girl? She's a popular girl, isn't she? What is so unusual about asking a popular girl for dates—particularly if you have dated her in the past? Why worry about an unimportant detail?
