AN ANNOUNCEMENT

After having been in business for 50 years we have sold our store in Milltown, Ky. (due to ill health) to Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bunsell, who have already taken possession. I want to thank our friends and customers who have been so faithful to me and feel sure the public will receive the same service we have endeavored to give them.

We want to thank Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Clark who have helped us so much for several years when we needed help so badly. Without their help the past two years we could not have continued. Annabel Gill, Pearl Gill 12-13 Itpd

ADMINISTRATOR NOTICE

All persons knowing themselves to be indebted to the estate of Willie Belle Ham, deceased, will call upon the undersigned at once and settle same, and those having claims against said estate will present same properly proven to the undersigned for attention for payment. Stanley Ham, Administrator, of the estate of Willie Belle Ham, deceased; Charles M. Cox, attorney 12-6-3tchg.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all those who were so kind during the illness and death of our beloved husband, father and grandfather, Rev. William H. Hammonds and those that sent food, flowers, money and cards. Especially do we thank the ministers for their consoling words, those who sang, the pallbearers, the Price Brothers Funeral Home and Dr. Runyon for their excellent service.

May God bless all of you.

The family. 12-13-Itcg

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation to our many friends for their acts of kindness shown to us upon the death of my wife, and our daughter and sister, Frances Atkinson Collinsworth. To the ministers, Dr. R. R. Covey, Rev. August Peters, and Rev. Norman Kiser for their prayers and consoling words. To Mathers-Shearer for their efficient service.

HOW TO COOK UP MORE HOLIDAY FUN FOR YOURSELF

Let an automatic electric range take over the work while you take in the party

Go ahead — join the fun while your electric range minds the meals. Its controlled heat makes sure everything cooks on schedule, turns out perfect.

There's less cleanup after dinner too. Electric heat can't make dirt, won't leave "cooking tracks" on curtains or walls, not even on pots and pans.

Start your holiday cooking season with a new, flameless electric range. They make thoughtful gifts at Christmastime.

NICHOLAS HIGH NEWS

by David Wagoner and Danny Smith

The Senior class of N.C.H.S. has been measured for their caps and gowns and are very enthusiastic about their annual sales. The most annuals ever sold, also the ads the seniors sold this year has been the most ever collected by any other seniors.

The speech class of N.C.H.S. will give a Christmas program to the student body the 20th of December before we get out for Christmas vacation. Also last Tuesday their officers for the year were elected. They are as follows: president, Ralph Wesley, vice president, Eddie Taylor; secretary, Judy Mitchell; treasurer, Jennie Vaughn; reporter, David Wagoner.

Judy Caswell and Jean McClanahan, members of N.C.H.S. band went to Lexington last Sunday to try out for all State Band. Results of this will be known in about a week.

The Junior class of N.C.H.S. received their class rings Tuesday, December 11, and everyone is very pleased.

The faculty of our school had a rough time Saturday night winning the basketball game over the boys of the F.F.A. chapter. The donkey ballgame which followed was very good also, although the juniors beat the seniors by two points. Everyone had a rough time riding the kicking animals and hitting the goal.

Our basketball team put up a good fight last Friday, losing their game to University High by three points. All the boys played well.

Ralph Wesley and Eddie Taylor the senior debate team of N.C.H.S. will represent our school this Friday, December 15 on Debate of the month at the University of Kentucky. They will debate Harrodsburg high school.

SCALE MODEL of the Kentucky Guild Train, the nation's first traveling exhibit of arts and crafts products and techniques, is examined by Paul Hadley (left), director of the Kentucky Department of Commerce's Division of Arts and Crafts. The model, which will be used to publicize the train's second tour of the state now under way, was built by Donald W. Lanham (right), designer-craftsman and sculptor who is a consultant to the Arts and Crafts Division. The train is a joint venture of the Kentucky Guild of Artists and Craftsmen and the State Department of Commerce.

Pregnancy disease in ewes can be prevented by proper feeding during the last four to six weeks before the lambs are dropped. If the ewes do not gain in weight during this period, pregnancy disease may occur. Ewes should gain about 20 pounds during pregnancy and most of this gain should come during the last 4 to 6 weeks. It is not enough that the ewes are in good condition but they must be kept gaining. From now on, ewes should get 2 to 4 pounds of hay daily, depending on the amount of pasture. In addition, they should get ½ pound of grain. If ewes are already in good condition, they will need even more feed as they must be kept gaining.

Remember that ewes in good condition may develop pregnancy disease. The way to prevent pregnancy disease in ewes is to have them gaining in weight during the last 4 to 6 weeks of pregnancy. To know if ewes are gaining, it is a good idea to weigh a few or feel their backs and ribs and if they are gaining you can soon detect it.

The flavor and tenderness of good beef is improved if the beef is aged before being frozen or before eating. Beef contains connective tissue that is not very tender. Beef also contains enzymes which will soften or tenderize the beef if it is properly aged. Aging means hanging the beef carcass in a refrigerator for ten days to two weeks. This gives the enzymes a chance to work on the connective tissue.

Aging is recommended for beef that has a fairly good covering of outside fat such as prime choice or good carcasses. Aging is not recommended for beef with less fat than prime choice and good.

Many expert cooks are convinced the only easy way to make flaky, tender pastry is to use a lot of fat.

But U. S. Department of Agriculture scientists, seeking ways to reduce fat in baked products, announce two methods of mixing pastry dough that make high-quality pastry with less than the usual amount of fat. And the methods are not difficult, say food specialists of USDA's Agricultural Research Service. One of the mixing methods used liquid cook oil. Ingredients for a two-crust pie pastry using liquid oils are ½ cup minus 1 tablespoon cooking oil, ¼ cup water, 2 cups all-purpose flour, and ½ teaspoon salt.

Shake together water and oil (both at room temperature. Sprinkle this into the dry ingredients while blending with an electric mixer at lowest speed for 3 minutes. Or, you can stir it in with a fork. The dough will appear dry but it can be easily molded by hand. Shape the dough into a ball, roll out between waxed paper. Place the pastry in the pie pan and bake.

Researchers explain that sprinkling the oil and water into the dry ingredients evenly distributes them throughout the mixture — and it's this even distribution that makes melt-in-the-mouth pastry.

Corn, cottonseed, soybean and safflower oil work equally well.
