Workshop held

All the Nicholas County school lunch personnel attended a two-county school lunch workshop at the Bourbon County Vocational high school on Tuesday, June 12. The workshop was conducted by C. E. Bevins, State School Lunch Director, and Miss Jane Lewis, District Supervisor, for the benefit of the school lunch programs in Bourbon and Nicholas counties.
Miss Lewis reviewed the requirements for the standard Type A meal. She emphasized the need to plan menus well in advance to meet the requirements of the Type A meal with consideration given to cost, equipment, preparation time, commodities on hand, seasonal foods, likes and dislikes of children and finally appearance with a variety in foods, color and texture. School lunch workers will always strive to plan, prepare and serve a nutritious meal to the students.
Dr. W. E. Davis, Bourbon County Health Officer, told of the new health program that is going into effect this fall where the health officer, nutrition workers, teachers and school lunch personnel will all be working together on a program with the overall goal to increase the length of lives of present day students by 10-15 years. This goal is to be accomplished through education for practicing proper nutrition and exercise to improve health. Stress will be put on educating for better food habits which will include fewer fried foods in the diet, less highly saturated fats, less obesity and less overweight with the hoped for result of fewer people dying with coronary disease.
Mr. Bevins conducted a panel discussion in the afternoon. A principal, an elementary teacher, a student, home economics teacher, school lunch manager, and school superintendent each gave his or her role in the school lunch program. Mrs. Elizabeth Conyers of Nicholas County Grade School presented the role that the manager plays.
Mrs. Elizabeth Clay, school lunch director of Nicholas County, gave a report on the Kentucky School Food Service Association. Mrs. Clay is the president of the organization and she encouraged every school lunch worker to join this professional organization as a means for helping improve standards.
Charles Wilson joined the group for lunch and remained for the afternoon program.

MEDICAL DATA BY PHONE! The Bell System is developing instant transmission of "live" electrocardiographs by telephone through use of special DATA-PHONE data sets. When this service is perfected, a medical attendant, after connecting electrodes to the patient's arm, would dial the number of the receiving location and start the DATA-PHONE data set. Instantly, graphs would be produced in the distant location where a consulting specialist could study the recording. Methods of transmitting other types of medical data and x-rays by telephone are also being developed by the Bell Labs.

THE WEST WON HANDS DOWN in a recent comparison of prosperity in the two sectors of Berlin. In the German equivalent of our Yellow Pages, the number of goods and services available highlights the tremendous contrast between Eastern and Western ways of life. Some examples: gas stations—305 in West Berlin, 58 in East Berlin; libraries—95 in the West, 3 in the East; Dairy products stores—83 in the East, 166 in the West.

85% OF AMERICAN HOMES HAVE INDOOR PLUMBING, which shouldn't surprise most people. But the growing number of extension telephones in bathrooms is something new. A cosmetics shelf is the perfect spot for a Princess phone. (Just don't use it while in tub or shower.)

PROGRESS REPORT '61 was a busy year at Southern Bell. We built telephone facilities costing about $293,000,000. By year's end, we were serving nearly 7,600,000 telephones. Direct distance dialing was made available to about 850,000 more customers, which meant at the end of 1961, 46% of our customers could dial their own station-to-station long distance calls.

AND SPEAKING OF PROGRESS, take a look at this "tool chest on wheels." Pictured, underneath all the wire, boxes and tools, is one of the first telephone repairmen. Southern Bell repairmen are still very much on the job . . . even more efficient and quick to answer your calls in their modern-day trucks.

THURSDAY, JUNE 21
Read Philippians 4:1-9

Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. (Matthew 11:28.)

Some years ago when an office co-worker broke a wrist, someone asked if she had received benefits from the health and accident insurance on which she had paid premiums for so long. Her amazing reply was, "Oh, I didn't even bother them with this minor thing! I want to save that for real emergencies."

Many of us have a similar attitude toward our heavenly Father in our daily experiences. Instead of relying upon God's promise of help in troublesome situations, we go on in our independence paying the premium us and helps us in every time of worry and annoyance. If only of need, we would accept God. He would be our comfort and help in all every time of need.

We need not wait for the real emergencies of life. If we rely upon divine guidance, the big problems may be averted. In any event, they will lose their terror, for courage and strength will be given us to surmount our difficulties.

PRAYER: Dear Father, help us to be aware of Thy presence, to know that none but our self—created clouds or barriers will shut Thee out. We offer our gratitude for help and blessings received. In the name of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, who taught us to pray, "Our Father in our daily experiences. Father who art in heaven — Amen."

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: If we love God, He abides with us.
