Fleming-Mason Rural Electric Co-op meeting will be Friday, July 13

The 24th annual meeting and farm show of the Fleming Mason Rural Electric Cooperative Corp. will be held on Friday, July 13, at the Co-op grounds in Flemingsburg, according to C. J. Ross, coop manager.

The four-hour program will consist of entertainment by professional performers, a beauty contest, two drawings for free prizes, a business meeting and two presentations dealing with the progress of rural electricity and electrical safety.

Local beauties, 16 to 22 years of age, previously unmarried and members of co-op consumer's family, are eligible to compete in the beauty contest.

The young lady selected by the judges will be crowned "Miss Fleming-Mason REC of 1962". She will also represent Fleming Mason RECC in the annual state beauty contest at Kentucky State Fair and Exposition Center, Louisville, in September.

Application for the beauty contest may be obtained from the RECC office at Flemingsburg.

Visitors, in addition to members, are invited to attend the show and will be entertained by six professional acts. These include the Miamians, a balancing act which combines skill and daring; Chuck and Rita Brown, in a zany act of mixed emotions to keep the audience guessing if Chuck will survive his capers on a shaky framework high above the stage; Miss Naomi, with a juggling act that will enthrall beholder; Ruby Haag with a delightful performance as she puts her trained dogs through difficult chores on the tightrope; Pedro Morales Jr., who juggles barrels, logs and other items with his feet. Florine Oler at the organ to play requests from the audience and render many favorite tunes.

This top-talent will present a fast-paced, well-rounded, one hour variety show.

Consumer members are encouraged to register for the valuable prizes that will be given away at two drawings during the program.

Visitors are cordially invited to attend this meeting and learn more about the rural electric cooperative, Ross said. The meeting registration begins at 6:00 p.m.

Bill Straw resigns to accept Kenton Co. agent position

William T. Straw, County Agricultural Agent for Nicholas County for the past 19 years, has resigned this position effective August 1. He has accepted the same position at Kenton County with headquarters at Covington.

It is with reluctance and many fond feelings that this decision has been made, Mr. Straw said this week. Carlisle and Nicholas County has brought many satisfactions as a good place to live and work. We are saddened to leave our many friends and co-workers. We hope and know that the good people of Nicholas will extend to my successor the same generous cooperation and good will that we have received."

During Straw's tenure in the county he has worked with many groups and organizations for community development.

Namely the Farm Bureau and other rural organizations for needed income from farms. Active participation has been maintained with Carlisle Nicholas County Chamber of Commerce (and he is currently secretary of the group), Rotary Club, Nicholas County Development Corporation (member of the board of directors, and secretary), Red Cross (past president), and member of the Carlisle Baptist Church Board of deacons and building committee. Substantial progress has been achieved in the following areas: Reorganization of Utopia Club, Expansion of Farm Bureau, County Youth Fair, Artificial Breeding of Dairy Cattle, Soil Testing Laboratory, and Tobacco Festival.

COMMENT

By Kay T. Fisher

Saturdays was busy and happy day for us. We left here about 11:30 a.m. for Bardstown to be the guests of the Stephen Foster Drama Association, Inc.

The day's events started with a parade which was scheduled for 3 p.m. but was late getting started as are all parades. Not being very good at standing for very long at a time we decided to drive around and get our bearings, so drove to My Old Kentucky Home State Shrine and enjoyed the coolness of the shaded lawn while awaiting the Governor's Reception to be held there at 4 o'clock. During our wait several of our publisher friends had the same idea. We made the tour of the home of Federal Hill where Stephen Foster wrote "My Old Kentucky Home" while visiting his cousin, John Rowan II, in 1852. We were escorted through the home by a charming young lady in period dress who gave the history of the home and it's beautiful furnishings in a most charming manner. While there we saw Emily Asbury.

From there we went to Wickland, also known as The Home of Three Governors, another Bardstown landmark. Here we

Local tobacco being measurer

Jeffie Hamm, measurer for Nicholas county will be on the public sales floors of tobacco has been held and more information reported by H. D. Vice, chairman of the Nicholas County ASC committee.

All members of the county committee urge all prospective of all farmers in helping them to complete the measurement of tobacco as quickly as effectively and as soon as possible.

The reporters have been instructed to determine acreage of tobacco by measuring with tape and in cases where reporters feel it is practical, aerial photographs will be used. All farms participating in the Feed Grain Program will have corn and diverted acres measured at this time.

You can help to get the measurement of our county completed by doing the following things.

(1) Help the reporter measure your tobacco when he makes his first visit to your farm. Reporters are again paid on a unit basis and not on a per day rate, so you can see how important it is both to you and to the reporter that he measures your tobacco as quickly and as accurately as possible.

(2) Please do not ask the reporter to figure your tobacco when he visits your farm, as he has been instructed that all computations MUST be made in the county ASCS Office.

(3) If a producer is in excess and after receiving a notice of the excess acreage he must come into the county office to dispose of the excess acreage within 10 days from the date entered on the notice.

(4) If he is not satisfied with the first measurement he must make a request for re-measurement also within 10 days. If the above mentioned requests are not made within the specified 10 days he loses price support in on tobacco. Only a reason beyond the control of the operator, such as illness, can be accepted for failure to come in within the 10 day limit.
