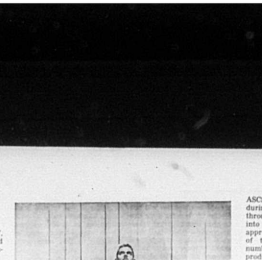
Lexington Trots more popular

As the second week of racing under the lights comes to a close at the Lexington Trots, several interesting items crop up. Of first interest is the fact that the Blue Grass region seems to be taking the sport to its heart. Every city and town has sent pictures during the past week as revealed by the attendance check of the parking lot.

From the standpoint of the mid racing fan, the meet has proved so far, that form is important in harness racing. Figure fiberits state that 43.7% of the favorites have won, while



SOIL STEWARDSHIP WEEK
MAY 27—JUNE 3, 1962

a whopping 70.80% of favorites have won or placed. Even larger is the percent of favorites in the money—72.9%!

Contributing survey to this is the success of the leading driver Joe O'Brien, the Canadian born, mighty-mite, who has already picked up 15 wins to lead his nearest rival, Jack Jones by six. However, the canny Jimmy Arthur has pulled a couple of upsets and anything can happen from here on out. There are still 15 nights to go! Of course, trained observers are always on the lookout for a trend . . . in the case of pari-mutuel wagering here, the trend is definitely on the way up. The first week per capita betting was around $11 but this week it skyrocketed to better than $23 indicating that the crowds are catching on to the form which is included in the daily program. Handy, and simple to read it is a boon by all.

During the coming week, more cities, clubs and organizations will be recognized, with the Kiwanians honored on Tuesday, Exchange Club on Wednesday, Varien Associates on Thursday, University of Kentucky on Friday, and Georgetown-Richmond Night on Saturday. Post time nightly is at 8 p.m. with eight races carded to end at 10:30.

Turkey marketing order is explained

The proposed national marketing order for turkeys is designed to provide fair returns to producers and reasonable profits to consumers by helping to present an oversupply of turkeys, H. S. Vice, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, announced. This would compares with a 1961 crop wheat penalty of $1.00 per bushel.

Under the 1962 wheat quota program, the marketing quota penalty would be put in operation only when needed, as determined by representatives of the industry.

Eligible turkey producers will vote on the marketing order at the ASCS County and State offices of the during the period June 18 through 22. Before it can be put into effect, the order must be approved by at least two-thirds of the producers voting, by number or by volume of their production. Growers must have ality marketed more than 3,600 pounds (liveweight) of turkeys in 1961 in order to be eligible to cast ballots in the referendum.

The Chairman explained that, even though the marketing order is approved by producers, neither of the two market supply-management measures provided by the order would automatically go into effect. The measures are for use only when needed, and this would be determined by the industry-nominated Advisory Board and approved by the Secretary of Agriculture, who acts as a "referee" under the new program. This is done, either one or a combination of two methods might be used to regulate the quantity of turkeys received by handlers.

Mr. Vice declared that, if the proposed turkey marketing order is approved by growers and made effective, the Secretary of Agriculture must call for another referendum of producers in October of 1964 to determine whether they favor continuation of the order. A similar referendum for the same purpose must be held at 2-year intervals thereafter if the Administrative Board makes such a recommendation to the Secretary.

Wheat quota penalty set

The marketing quota penalty rate for 1962-crop excess wheat production has been set at $1.59 per bushel for 1962—three times a farm's wheat excess—by expressed in bushels—determines the actual amount of penalties.

For 1962, the Chairman explained, the law also directs that the amount of wheat subject to penalty shall be figured at twice the farm's normal yield on all the excess acres unless the 1962 actual yield is proved to be less and the producer files a request for an adjustment.

Mr. Vice stressed the fact that some farms with 15 acres or less of wheat may be subject to quota penalties on their wheat production this year as a result of changes made in the law for 1962. Before this year, producers on farms harvesting less than 15 acres of wheat were not subject to penalties. Now, however, quotas apply to all farms on which the 1962 wheat acreage exceeds the smaller of (a) 15.5 acres or (b) the highest acreage in any of the 3 years, 1959, 1960, or 1961.

When the penalty is satisfied, the remaining wheat may be marketed free of penalty. If the penalty is not satisfied, any wheat marketed has an automatic lien against it.
