

From the Diary of a Country Editor

by Warren R. Fisher Sr.

Were the Gay Nineties Really Gay?

Outside the fields are blanketed with snow... The radio and the newspapers bring news of temperatures ranging even to twenty feet below zero in Ontario... So those of us who are used to talk, not a little boating, of the nineties, as I remember them, were colder for longer periods than any recent winter.

A Little Yappin'

by Nellie Grimes

OL' TOM The barnyard was a duster... He gave an air of royalty, His eyes were open wide... You think he was the master Of the yard, and then I see...

For he was duty bound, 'A'ZIZI had a friend... He knew would roll around, So Thanksgiving round the table...

When you bow your heads to pray, Remember dear Ol' Tom This was just a livin' for his day...

Therapy a few years back.

The poem was written by me... Well, the L. A. Times has a stand by author... I would check their license plate and drive the race there...

My wife just came from the market where she stayed in the thirty minutes... The people are buying out of the stores. The man ahead of her bought $128 worth of groceries...

Readers' Comments

I left Carlisle in 1923. At that time I was going to Hartsville to school... Well, the L. A. Times has a stand by author... I would check their license plate and drive the race there...
