Farm & Home

By Earl J. Neffinger, County Agent, Marjorie Wilson, Home Agent, Mason Morrison, Assistant County Agent

Nicholas county families, along with those throughout the nation, will cooperate in "National Fire Prevention Week" October 7-13. More than $150,000,000 worth of farm homes, buildings and other property go up in smoke each year, according to U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates. A substantial portion of the 6,000 deaths, home fires reported for 1960 by the National Fire Protection Association occurred in rural areas.

Keep deadly, destructive fire away from your home by checking what you know of fire safety. In farm homes, faulty or misused heating and cooking equipment start more fires than any other single cause. NFPA studies show. Actually, defective stoves and heaters, along with defective chimneys and sparks from chimneys, are responsible for almost half of all fires in farm-dwellings.

Cardinal line of gasoline and kerosene electrical faults in wiring and appliances are both high on the list. Bad smoking habits and children playing with matches are other major causes. In barns and outbuildings, the prime fire hazard is spontaneous ignition in hay, corn and fertilizer. Other most frequent causes are electrical faults, lighting, defective heating equipment, and careless handling of gasoline and oil.

These facts point to a thorough check-up and clean-up of conditions that could cause a fire in your home or other buildings. During Fire Prevention Week make a new start towards complete fire safety on your property, and keep headed that way throughout the year.

The Fire Safe Home. Few things can cost you your home and one of a million of your family more quickly and tragically than fire. Every hour 66 American homes are destroyed by fire, every 10 hours one person, most frequently a child or elderly person, dies in a dwelling fire. All this is due to our failure to heed fire hazards and our failure to correct them.

Resolve to make your home a fire safe home. Urges County Home Agent, Mrs. Marjorie H. Wilson. A home safe from fire, she says, depends on two important factors: good family habits about fire and its hazards, and good construction.

Good family habits include such things as care with matches and smoking, good housekeeping, to get rid of rubbish, proper use of electrical fuses, appliances, and extension cords, and a constant general awareness of the ways fire starts and how to avoid them.

Good construction for a fire safe home, according to the National Fire Protection Association, includes:

1. Built-in fire stops, these are barriers of wood and masonry between attics, joists, rafters or stringers that serve to prevent the spread of smoke and fire.
2. Solid doors for every room. An ordinary wooden door can keep smoke and fire out of a room for as long as 30 minutes.
3. Good escape routes. Best exits lead directly outside, not through other rooms. Windows should be large enough and low enough to climb through, and operate easily enough for the youngest member of the family.
4. Interior finish of materials with low flame-spread characteristics. Wallboards made gypsum, cement, asbestos and similar materials are noncomb.

REVIVAL AT EAST UNION CHRISTIAN CHURCH — George H. Hunt, minister of the Church of Christ in East Liberty, Ohio, will hold a revival at the East Union Christian Church, Oct. 22 through Oct. 28, at 7:30 p.m. Mr. Hunt was born and raised in Bath county and has spent the past 14 years in and around Columbus, Ohio. You are invited to attend these services.

builtable and resist flame spread. Fire-resistant roofing material, such as asphalt shingles, slate, asbestos or metal, and shingles never should be used as a roof covering.

4. Proper wiring. Qualified electricians follow the provisions of the National Electrical Code when installing wiring, which means a fire safe installation.

5. A good heating plant properly installed and located, regularly inspected and cleaned. A furnace should never be located under stairs or near an entrance where fire originating in the heater might break escape.

Pears are plentiful now so serve them often. For a salad treat, fill the centers of pear halves with a mixture of cream cheese, chopped nuts, and crystallized ginger. Serve in a lattice nest, suggests USDA home economists.
