Stripping tobacco is an old-fashioned chore — yet one of the most important phases of cropping. These are tips on stripping from Ira Mannie, UK Cooperative Extension Service tobacco specialist. 1. With a wide-side surplus of tobacco, the best prepared crops will attract buyers. The selection by buyers will be those because there were an estimated 600 million pounds of barley grown in the U.S. this year, but worldwide use of the last crop amounted to 500 million pounds. 2. Don't strip crops until stems are thoroughly dry. When stripping, remove the leaves and put in one of five basic grades (flag, flying, bright leaf, red leaf and tips). Then the these grades in halves of 25 to 40 leaves each, or when the butt of the land is about the size of a silver dollar. 3. Pay close attention to the above mentioned basic grades in stripping. This prevents compaction which might drive a buyer price at market in addition, the buyers naturally prefer graded baskets. 4. Press the tied hands lightly, just enough to smooth out the leaves. Then see page 7.

PARKS HOMEMAKERS HONORED—The Parks club was recognized by Mrs. Glenn Clay, county membership chairman, Nicholas County Federation of Homemakers Association, at their 17th annual meeting held recently at Nicholas County high school. Mrs. Warner Lowe, president, received the gavel in behalf of Parks Club for scoring the highest points per member enrolled. This is the second successive year the club has taken this award, giving them permanent possession of the gavel.

FRANK JAMES put the striped steaks into a "chimney bulk," this is a hollow square formed of sticks, butt ends of the handle to the outside, tips to the inside. Place the plant in the hole, apply good rich soil around the bulb and tamp thoroughly until the hole is half filled. Then, loosen the dirt, lay it back on the soil, and apply water until the bulb's bottom sticks are wet the ground, and that the entire lot is covered with plastic sheets or tarps to keep off dirt, trash, etc. S. R. Barlow, publicity chairman for the Nicholas County Tobacco Festival, says growers should start selecting their entries for the festival to be held Nov. 9. More details will be given as soon as the committee makes their final plans at a meeting in the Extension Office on October 17.

October is a good month to set or move evergreens. The home owner should understand how evergreens may grow and spread before the plants are set. Certain of the evergreens grow better in a location that has a northern or western exposure; others may need a soil that is above average in fertility and well drained. This type of information should be obtained in advance of planting if home owners expect evergreens to grow and do well. Whether the evergreen you set this fall will live depends largely on the way it is planted. It usually comes to the owner with a ball of earth around the roots, wrapped with burlap. The hole for the plant should be dug with the outside edges straight down, the bottom level, and the hole should be 6 inches in diameter larger on each side than the ball of earth around the trunk of the plant and allowed to soak down into the ground, watering the ball of earth that was originally around the roots of the plant. Watering is important because the wind blows through the evergreens during the winter and removes moisture from the plant.
