A Little Yapping

By Nellie Grimm
Weekend at Virginia Beach
Mrs. W. J. McCarty and her little daughter Kim went to the beach at Virginia Beach, Va., last week.

Misses Donna and Maude had a party and had a number of young friends with them on Spring Street on Friday night at their home on Spring Street as well as on the lawn at the Midway Club. My little friend Mae is coming there this year also along with several other Carlisle girls.

Yaps—
From Petticoat Row to Denver.
I was never more thrilled than when Gladys Moffitt came to see me one of those late afternoon tea parties. We were next door neighbors on Locust street a few days ago and formed a wonderful friendship. Gladys' daughters even said I was a very old Gladys went out to visit her a good job and stayed there for some time. Gladys lives in Thornton, a suburb of Denver. Having several days vacation, she headed for Kentucky, she said.

Yaps—
Babe Ruth Mrs. Moorehead with her and her mother and her mother's sister. The weather was so hot that the mother was so hot that she was in the shade of a tree. Gladys went to visit her a good job and stayed there for some time. Gladys lives in Thornton, a suburb of Denver. Having several days vacation, she headed for Kentucky, she said.

Yaps—
The Past on Parade.
I was writing this especially for Stanley Trumbo who has been quite ill for several weeks. I believe it will be of interest to the boys and girls around here. ## Our Readers' Comments

Mr. Warren R. Fisher, Jr., Editor and Publisher of The Carlisle Mercury, Carlisle, Kentucky.
Dear Warren:—
Your "new look" impresses me very much and I want to congratulate you on the clean dignified paper you publish. It is nice to see that you are not giving someone the devil on the front page or common jokes on the inside.

Long may you publish the "Good Old Mercury".
