

FARM BUREAU in Action

Kentucky Farm Bureau fed J. E. Stanford what he mentioned the fact that the first job ever held on this earth was that of a farmer, because farming was man's first vocation for thousands of years after the creation of the human race.

2 HELD ON THEFT OF PATROLMAN'S CAR
Two 17-year-old boys were apprehended last Wednesday afternoon on charges of stealing a car owned by a Carlisle policeman. Arrested were Jesse Christopher and Larry Harney, both of Paris. They are being held in the Nicholas County jail on grand larceny charges.

The car was taken Tuesday night from the residence of Patrolman Eugene Kelly. It was found Wednesday over a 75-foot embankment on the Thomas road. The car was partly submerged in a creek.

He likes sunshine, good food, State Fairs, dinner at noon, auctions, his neighbors, his shirt collar unbuttoned, to show all a good soaking rain in August.

He is not much for droughts, ditches, through ways, experts, weeds, the eight-hour day, grandsons, pers or helping with housework.

Farmers are found in fields — plowing up, seeding down, rotating from, planting to, fertilizing with, spraying for, and harvesting. His wives help them. Little boys follow them, the Agriculture Department confuses them, city relatives visit them, salesmen detain them and wait for them, weather can delay them, but it takes Heaven to stop them.

A farmer is both Faith and Fatalist — he must have faith to continually meet the challenges of his capacities amid an ever-present possibility that an Act of God is late spring or early frost, tornado flood, drought can bring his business to a standstill. You can reduce his acreage but can't restrain his ambition.

Might as well put up with him — he is your friend, your competitor, your customer, your source of food, fiber, and self-reliant young citizens to help replenish your cities. He is your countryman — a denims-dressed, business-wise, fast-growing statesman of stature. And when he comes in at noon, having spent the energy of his hopes and dreams, he can be recharged anew with the magic words: The market's up! The author could we'll

Farm Facts

Lessons from Agricultural Statistics. A recent bulletin, "Kentucky Agricultural Statistics — 1961," published jointly by the United States and the Kentucky Department of Agriculture, contains some interesting statistics for those who like to delve in figures. I have just been studying my copy and find in it information that both pleases and depresses.

It was good to note the great progress made in corn in Kentucky during the past year. The average annual yield of that crop in Kentucky was around 25 bushels per acre, now it's well over 50. It was good, too, to note the rapid increase in beef cattle numbers, reflecting the improvement made in pastures during recent years. In ten years the state doubled its beef numbers and increased its rank among the states from 20th in 1952 to 14th in 1961. According to the statistics, Kentucky ranked first in the production of only one crop, pecan seed. We produced 39 percent of the total U.S. harvest. Kentucky ranked second in the production of three crops: orchard grass seed (29%), tobacco (29%) and lespedeza seed (17%). The state was third in the production of blue grass seed with 25% of the national output. Milk cow numbers continued to decline and are the lowest since 1951; however, the annual production of milk per cow has increased during that period from 3,500 pounds to 5,200 pounds, with most of the increase coming in the past five years. The state still ranks third in the production of American cheese and fourth in unswissened evaporated whole milk. The 1960 tobacco crop brought Kentucky farming news. The top food producing and producing farm state of the country. Some progress is being made in that direction. Kentucky's cash farm income thirty-five percent of Kentucky's cash farm income came from tobacco.

There has been much progress in swine production in this state recently and there is no reason why many more feeder pigs should not be produced here. There are opportunities, too, for more commercial hog feeding operations within the state. One field in which Kentucky lags seriously is that of producing fruit and vegetables for the fresh market and for processing. I have just returned from North Carolina and was interested in a program there planned to make that state one of the top food producing and producing farm states of the country. Some progress is being made in that direction. Kentucky's cash farm income thirty-five percent of Kentucky's cash farm income came from tobacco.

Therein lies one of the reasons why we should have more of them. MERCURY WANT ADS PAY!

GLAZED BAKED SMOKED HAM (Fully Cooked)

Use whole or half Tabletite Smoked Ham. Cut cross lines into fat with sharp knife. Stick whole clove into each diamond of fat. Place in a covered roasting pan with 2 cups of cider, 7/8 lb. pineapple, water or other liquid. Cover and bake in 350° F. oven, allowing 30 minutes per pound. When heated through, brush with mixture of brown sugar and prepared mustard or plain sugar or honey. Return to 450° F. oven. Mixture will caramelize, enclosing Ham in appetizing coating. Serve hot, with lima beans in tomato, sprinkled with grated cheese and baked.
