Telephone Talk

THE BELL SYSTEM IS ONE OF AMERICA'S MOST FAMOUS TRADE MARKS. The original seal was developed by Angus Hibbard, the Bell System's first general manager, and included the words "Long Distance Telephone" inside the outline of a bell which was enclosed in a rectangle. Eventually the wording was changed to "Local and Long Distance Telephone", and still later a double circle replaced the rectangle. The seal, as it now appears, dates from 1939. You'll see this familiar guide to good service on company buildings, on public telephones and in advertising.

GOOD BUSINESS SUGGESTION: Do you use printed stationery for either business or personal correspondence? If so, may we suggest you include your area code and telephone number in the letterhead. If you own your own business, belong to clubs and organizations, or do a great deal of personal correspondence, it's a good idea to give folks your phone number as well as your address.
LONG DISTANCE IS A BARGAIN ANY TIME OF DAY, but not an especially good buy after 6:00 p.m. on weekdays or any time on Sundays and holidays, when bargain rates are in effect. Also remember that rates are largest if you call station-to-station. A long distance call is the next best thing to a local call.

"Our bills for electric heating are much less than we expected. The estimate was $620 a year for our big house; so your experience has proved like that of many others that electric heating may cost less than you think."
"The big difference," says Mrs. Alderson, "is in cleanliness. I don't have to dust nearly as often and there's none of the old grime that we used to have."
Before you build or modernize, investigate clean, safe, comfortable electric heat. KU heating specialists will help you plan and estimate annual heating costs before you decide.
