"Rural Electric Power from Harrison RECC is a strong, silent, economical and efficient helper in my farming operations."

says Allan Calhoun Route 4. Cynthiana, Kentucky

"If rural electricity didn't do anything but pump water, it would still be the best, cheapest 'hired hand' on the place, if you ask me, rural electricity's the most important thing that's happened to farming in more than 25 years,

Rural electricity is one of the most important things that has happened to all Kentucky in the past 25 years too. Because rural electricity has made the farmer more efficient, he produces finer, fresher, more healthful food which all Kentucky eats. Because he can produce more with less work . . . Kentucky benefits again from lower food prices. And finally because rural electricity has made the farmer more prosperous, he spends more money in the towns and cities of Kentucky.
