

Not Sleeping Well ???

Just Tell 'Em Off!

Do you sometimes have that helpless, frustrated feeling about government? Not only at Washington, but in a back lot, and the Court House, and City Hall.

A friend of mine has discovered a cure. At least it gives him a feeling of relief from that helplessness that grips so many of us.

Our friend (sometimes we wonder about his friendliness, but he is generally a nice guy) stops us and comments on editorial, news, how we like the paper, and other papers.

We listen to his paper, and other papers. We take to elected officials, funds, funds, comments, suggestions, criticisms. Now and then he can be a damn nuisance.

Recently, after he had pointed out our fur the right way and left us feeling friendly toward him for the moment, we asked why he makes a habit of showing concern over public affairs and other people's business.

Our cranky friend and severe critic didn't put it in these words, but here's our impression of his reply:

"For years I suffered in silence, I thought only cranks and cranky types could do that. I read the news and the newspapers, I heard how Washington, but it's a back lot, and the Court House, and City Hall.

much as that is about the only way that is of learning who is going on in and around Carlisle. My Aunt, Mrs. Percy Beatty, keeps me up on all of the news of the family and close friends. I enjoy all the pictures as some of them are of people I haven't seen in a long time. I was in Carlisle this year but only had two weeks and it isn't long enough to get around to see everyone that I would like to have seen.

Much luck always to you and your paper and my sincere, best wishes to all that I know in the home town.

The Carlisle Mercury

My last three copies of the Mercury have caught up with me and I want to take the time to thank you for the new address we sold our home in Compton and are living in an apartment in a town close by. If you read about our "past one hundred" degree weather that we had about three weeks ago then you know our moving to an apartment wasn't very timely. We are living upstairs and you can't imagine how uncomfortable that it was. There wasn't an air conditioner to be had until the last three days of the heat wave. We finally found one in Downey and closed off all of the rooms of the apartment except the kitchen and living room and were able to keep reasonably cool. We always have heat in the month of September but it was unusually hot this year. Most of the schools closed and the beaches were packed, with even business men going in for an early morning swim before they went on to their jobs.

I enjoy the Mercury so

ATTEN CONVENTION

Dorsey Watkins and Chilton Waight spent Thursday and Friday in Louisville at the 30 Annual Conservation Congress Convention. The theme for this years program was, "Water: The Stream of Life". Governor Bert T. Combs, J. O. Matlock, Chairman of The Natural Resources Development Committee and Commissioner of Conservation, John Charles Daily, Moderator for AIC, Whittie May Line Program" and former member of the National Water Pollution Advisory Board and John Breckenridge, Attorney General attended the convention.

Her answer was, no, I do not visit you.

Mysterious?

This is a Caduceus. Ages ago it was the symbol of the Greek god of healing and was at one time used at the top of prescription. Army medical officers wear this symbol as a call of ornament today.

Do you no longer use this symbol but it still has a meaning for the thoroughly trained pharmacist in our prescription department. It stands for our responsibility to the public which we serve faithfully in times of health and sickness.

Atwood Kinsman Reveal

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson, Larry Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Orlan Wade and Johnny Small attended services at Lyndon Christian Church, Louisville on Sunday night, Oct. 13. Rev. Loris Kinsman, formerly of Carlisle, is holding the revival. The Messenger Quartet of Lexington is in charge of the music. These gifted singers have appeared at the Carlisle Christian Church several times.

Little Dog Beloved

Pewee, the little dog belonging to the Kinsman children on McCracken street, received a broken leg when he tangled with a bicycle one afternoon last week. He was taken to the veterinarian, and received the best of care. He is doing well on three legs and does not seem to bother about the one trailing along supported by splints.
