Dear Mr. Hardin:

I received your nice letter and also read it in the Carlisle Mercury. I am sending a copy of this to the paper also so that all will understand why we passed the curfew law.

First, we passed it to help our officers have the law behind them when they picked up youngsters disobeying.

I'm very fond of young people and in no way do we intend to interfere in their social or other activities. The 10:30 time limit is for the purpose of keeping down loud noises and excessive driving along the main square of Carlisle, caused mostly by youngsters who hang around town until up in the early morning hours.

All young people are welcome to ball games, shows, etc., that last until after the curfew hours. All we ask is that when activities are over that they go on home and do not congregate on the main streets.

The curfew has been very successful in other towns and we hope it will be here. Most of our trouble is from the older boys who if they would help their parents when they need them, they wouldn't want to stay up all nite but would be at home resting.

If all boys were as nice as the two boys you have, I'm sure we would need no curfew.

I will be glad to discuss any matters with the young people at any time.

Yours very truly,
William Power

Gentlemen:

On behalf of the Nicholas County Fiscal Court, I have been asked to write this letter to you to state the deep appreciation to each of you for having come to the Courthouse at Carlisle last Friday, September 20 to testify at a wage rate hearing, which will form the basis for the establishment of minimum wages on public projects to be constructed in Nicholas County in the next few months.

The Fiscal Court realizes that each of you in your particular occupations are quite busy and that you came to the courthouse as part of your public spirited duty in an effort to be of whatever help you could be in seeing that wages were established that would be reasonable in this county. The members of the Court know that it is this type of cooperation that makes it possible for our community to continue to grow and they wish to individually thank each of you for the efforts in this matter.

Very truly yours,
Charles M. Cox
County Attorney

A Little Yappin'

By Nellie Crump

News of the Week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse M. Dotson, of the Bald Hill section of Nicholas County, have moved to the Scott cottage on High street.

Mr. and Mrs. Cray Marshall and family were guests of his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cooke, of Ft. Mitchell, Ky., last Sunday.

Were you up in time to see the ice Monday morning? I understand there was also ice in low places over Nicholas County last week.

A sure sign that winter is "comin' round the mountain." I opened my front door this morning and found a great big kershaw lying on the porch. Many thanks to the one who put it there.

True to name, this is "A Little Yappin" (very little) but all for this week, due partly to the fact that I have had rather serious eye trouble recently and do not have what it takes to get or write news. If you have something for this column, please call 465. Your help will be appreciated. Thank you.

Fire Prevention Week
October 6-12
Preventing Fires is Everybody's Job

Every year the start of the heating season brings an increase in the number of farm fires. The National Safety Council says that more than 3,000 people die each year in farm fires. The annual cost of these fires is over 150 million dollars.

Tragic as these figures are though, they tell only part of the story. Add to this the loss of livestock production, foodstuffs, housing, and potential farm income and you begin to see the seriousness of this annual loss.

You can help protect your home, family, and farm business by being certain that these basic safety precautions are taken.

1. Be sure every member of the family knows what to do in case of fire.

2. Check possible escape paths, and make sure they are kept unobstructed.

3. Have fire fighting equipment available, and be sure every family member knows how to use it.

4. Be sure eveyone knows how to report a fire. Post the number over the telephone.

5. Check your chimneys, flues, furnaces, and heaters for safe and proper operation.

6. Check the attic and basement for accumulation of trash. Remember, clean areas don'tbreed fires.

7. Remove and burn trash and debris from around your farm buildings.

These simple precautions may save your home, family, and business.

Tobacco Stripping

Nicholas County tobacco growers will soon start stripping their tobacco. Care of the stalks is a very vital matter. One ton of tobacco stalks contains about $11.00 worth of nitrogen, phosphate, and potash. About three fourths of this is soluable in water. If the stalks are left out in the rain for a few days, most of the fertilizer value will be lost. Growers are urged to keep the stalks in the dry or spread them on sod or small grain fields as the tobacco is stripped.

Too Rushed to Eat

Eating on the run! That's the main reason many teenagers say they don't eat properly. They are in too big a hurry to stop for a good meal.

Dr. Evelyn Spindler of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Federal Extension Service recently interviewed 75 teenagers to find out why they didn't eat better. Here's what she found—

They got up too late for breakfast, had to catch a bus, spent too much time in dressing and make-up.

They had only 30 minutes for lunch and sometimes meetings were crammed into the lunch period.

They came home and had a quick snack after school, had to rush back before dinner for play practice, band rehearsal, football. After that, they ran out for a snack at the drug store or hamburger shop.

Meals on the run—plus self-inflicted diets—add up to poor nutrition.

This is particularly true. Dr. Spindler says, of teenage girls. Boys require about 2,600 calories, about a third more than girls of the same age. And in eating more, boys usually get more nutrients. There's also some evidence that boys choose better foods than girls.

Dr. Spindler believes it's imperative that teen-age girls take a good long look at their diets. For every 10 girls, six of them are poorly nourished—that is, they get two-thirds or fewer of the nutrients recommended for their age group by the National Research Council.

The nutrients most commonly lacking in teen-age diets are calcium and vitamin C. Iron too is often low in the diets of young girls.

A VISITOR FROM INDONESIA
by Karlyn Coatney

On Wednesday, September 18, Bro. Leslie H. Smith missionary to Indonesia, came to visit the sixth grade in the Carlisle Elementary School. We felt that we were very privileged to have one speak to us from this country since we will be studying about this country later in the year.

He first told us about the country of Indonesia itself. Bro. Smith told in a very interesting way of the location, the dense population of the country, various customs of the people, and of the missions program of this country.

After his brief talk he showed us very interesting colored slides. With each slide he gave at detailed explanation.

Following the slides he showed us several things from Indonesia including a puppet, a native costume, a sword, and an Indonesia Bible, from which he read John 3:16 in the native tongue of that country.

After a years stay in the United States, Bro Smith and his family will return to Indonesia as Southern Baptist missionaries for a five year term. We feel as if we are better acquainted with the country of Indonesia since hearing about it from someone who lives there.

IS PRIVATE PROPERTY A HUMAN RIGHT?

Americans believe:

In Abraham Lincoln's wisdom, "Property is the fruit of labor, property is desirable, it is a positive good in the world." Just as all honest work is dignified, so is the fruit of that work a symbol of dignity. Private property rights are essential to a life of dignity and freedom. The essence of Man's freedom is the right to have and to hold that which he has earned.

Communists believe:

There being no God, human rights are those granted by the state. Man's purpose is to serve the state. This is also the purpose of property, therefore, private property defeats the purpose of man. Individual freedom is impractical because it interferes with state planning. The glory of the state must be achieved through selfless dedication to the purposes of the state.

ETERNAL VIGILANCE IS THE PRICE OF LIBERTY

To renew and quicken interest in our precious heritage of Freedom, and its superiority over the Communist philosophy, these messages are being published by Kentucky Utilities Company, an investor-owned electric company.
