CAST IRON PIPE—That's what's in the hole. Not for one minute did we doubt that would be uncovered when we went to photograph this scene last Thursday afternoon at the request of Paul Shepley, Hall & Mather superintendent. —Mercury file

Questions, Questions, Questions

Only the ignorant fail to ask questions! And it is a shame there were not more asked several months ago—then perhaps a certain section of the city would not have been left out of the sewer plans.

Now back to the hole above.

Councilman Paul Garrett questioned whether vitreous clay pipes were used to repair a storm sewer broken when a ditch was opened several weeks ago.

Paul Shepley, superintendent for Hall & Mather sewer system contractors, assured him the clay pipes had been removed and a cast iron section installed.

A third party is reported to have stated there never were any clay pipes used.

One way to solve the dilemma—dig a hole.

Mr. Shepley, who contacted us to take pictures last Thursday, assured us the clay pipes were only a temporary measure until the cast iron pipe could be cut to fit the section of broken storm sewer and the ditch was filled with the temporary pipes in place, (as a safety measure) then later reopened to put in the section of cast iron pipe, and cast iron it is.

Readers' Comments

Carlisle, Ky. April 12, 1964
Dear Mr. Fisher,
I am sure the citizens of Carlisle are seeing the fulfillment of a dream in the construction of the sewer system in this good little city. We all share in the satisfaction connected with a progressive program such as this.

The planners of the sewer system must come in for some criticism however, for their failure to include the sewer facilities to our hospital. Surely, if the line can be laid to the County Farm some two miles out, it would not be unreasonable to expect a similar line to be laid to the already built hospital just a mile from the city in the opposite direction.

This is especially true in view of the hospital's great need for such a facility. At present raw sewage from the hospital is dumped into the very same creek that courses from one end of Carlisle to the other.

Thus the omission of the sewer planners is going to result in a sewer system that only partially meets the needs of the whole community.

Both state and Federal authorities have the authority to require that the situation be corrected and it is entirely reasonable to assume that they will exercise it.

We have had several outbreaks of hepatitis east of the City in recent years. It is apparently more than a passing coincidence that the disease had appeared after the hospital sewage situation commenced.

Therefore in the name of public health, I call upon the City and County fathers and all good people of this Community to press for the amendment of the plans for the sewer system to include a line to the hospital now.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Walter Shepherd

Correction Please.
The name of the little lady from Ireland mentioned in the paragraph "Going One by One" in this column last week was incorrectly spelled. The name was Barry—not Berry. Possibly she will be remembered by a few members of the Carlisle Catholic church.

Sincere Sympathy.
Heartfelt sympathy is expressed for two of our close Morgan street neighbors: Otha Crawford, whose father, W. D. Crawford, died at the Veterans Hospital in Lexington after a long illness, also Leroy Sloop, whose mother, Mrs. Mary Louisville Sloop, died unexpectedly last Saturday afternoon.

Moving to Carlisle.
Mrs. W. G. Gates has sold her Nicholas county farm and bought a home in Carlisle from W. J. Pryor. The cottage has recently been known as the Mrs. W. I. Baker home on McCracken street. Remodeling has begun and Mrs. Gates plans to move soon. Clara Belle Sapp, who has lived in the cottage for several months, has moved to the Myers road.

ARRL CERTIFICATE GIVEN VA CLUB

The Public Service Certificate of the American Radio Relay League has been awarded the Veterans Administration.

In presenting the certificate to the hospital club in behalf of the League, Dr. C. I. Swartz, Chief of Staff at the hospital, noted that the certificate is not the type of award that is specifically worked for, asked for or expected. It comes as a spontaneous recognition of outstanding work by amateurs during communication emergencies.

Interested amateurs and patients organized the VA hospital amateur radio club in 1962. Station W24XV is a part of the radio and electronics clinic in the manual arts therapy section of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation Service.

Many local amateurs, or "hams" as they are often called, assisted in getting the station "on the air."

In addition to its communication role in disasters, the station helps patients in learning new skills in the electronics field and may also provide a means for them to communicate with relatives and friends in their home communities.

The amateur station works with local Civil Defense and Red Cross authorities when both in-state and out-of-state emergencies occur.
