

Utopia Camp

Eighteen adults and children from Nicholas County attended the State Utopia Camp at Camp Bingham in Washington County last weekend. Mrs. William Threlkeld, reporter of the local Utopia Club, said the group had a very enjoyable and profitable time. James P. Howe, Recreation Specialist from U. of K. and Ralph Ramsey, Rural Sociology Specialist, were in charge of the camp. Don Smith, one of the State Utopia officers from Nicholas County, was program chairman and presided over the sessions.

Dr. Earl Kaufman, Head of the University of Kentucky Recreation Department, spoke to the group on the value of recreation in the development of the individual. He also emphasized how it could solve many of our social problems.

Those attending from Nicholas County were: Don Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Lynn Watkins, Paula and Jennifer, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Waggoner, and David, Mr. and Mrs. William Threlkeld and Kay, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson, Sally, and Sam, and Mrs. Estil Nofsinger.

NC Teachers Hold Meeting

The Nicholas County teachers and other professional employees met Friday, August 7, for their first meeting.

The morning session was devoted to the consideration of problems of instruction and plans for improving instruction. The afternoon session was devoted to sessions by individual schools with the principal presiding and leading the planning session.

The teachers will hold a meeting again on August 28, at which time a report will be submitted by individuals and committees who have selected special problems, plans, or techniques of teaching to be presented for county wide use.
