Three From County Discuss 'Conservation Cooperation'

William F. Threlkeld, Harvey Wagner, and Billy Parker, representatives of the Soil Conservation Service, North-Central Kentucky 4H Camp Committee, and the Nicholas County Development Corp., respectively, appeared on Maysville's WFTM radio program "True To The Farm" recently to discuss "Conservation Cooperation".

Threlkeld discussed proper land use including its use for recreational purposes.

Wagoner stressed the conservation of youth and the value of the local 4H camp project.

Parker told about the history and plans of the Nicholas County Development Corporation, a non-profit organization, determined to make this area a recreational center.

The program centered around the cooperation of local and state agencies in the development of an idea that was sparked by Dorsey Watkins, president of the Nicholas County Fish and Game Club.

The entire project is expected to contribute to the conservation of soil, water, youth and adults.

NCHS Approved For Membership In Southern Secondary Schools

The Commission on Secondary Schools for the Southern Association has approved the Nicholas County high school for membership for the ensuing year.

The letter sent to the high school commended the school upon good educational practices and the faculty as reflected in the report.

Morris B. Cierley of the University of Kentucky is secretary of the association and sent the notice of approval.

The school can be expected to continue in this association and also receive a Standard rating from the State Department of Education as it has had for several years if steps are taken by the board to remove the operation of the high school at two different sites.

The board has made a study of the recommenda-

Girl Scout Training Program For Leaders To Be Held Here

The newly created Wilderness Road Girl Scout Council has moved into new offices at 1400 Forbes Road in the Meadowthorpe shopping center in Lexington.

Organized two months ago, the council is composed of 304 troops with a total of 7,300 members. It has 49 Kentucky counties, one county in Virginia, one in West Virginia, and one in Tennessee.

Before the Wilderness Road group was formed, eight separate Girl Scout Councils served these areas.

Council personnel and volunteer trainers have set up an extensive training program for leaders and interested adults. Six towns have been chosen as training centers for a basic leadership course this spring.

Grand Jury Submits Feb. Term Report

The Grand Jury respectfully submits this report of its activities during the February Term, Nicholas Circuit Court, 1964. The grand jury met in regular session on Monday, February 17, and conducted the following business:

The grand jury heard witnesses in the investigation of a break-in at the Nicholas County High School in their efforts to see if there were other people involved in said break-in besides the three previously indicted but after listening to said witnesses it was determined that most of the discussion related to rumors and gossip and the grand jury did not return any additional indictments.

The grand jury heard one witness regarding an alleged break-in, entering and assault and battery but determined that there was insufficient evidence to return an indictment.

The grand jury heard one witness regarding an alleged break-in at the Nicholas County Fish and Game Club but determined there was insufficient evidence to return an indictment against anyone for said break-in.

The grand jury heard six witnesses concerning alleged drinking in and around school premises and school functions but there was insufficient evidence to return any indictments. The grand jury recommends that the Commonwealth's Attorney and the County Attorney relay certain matters brought to its attention in this investigation to authorities of
