me up on the porch and when my Mother came to the door, told her what I did. I got an immediate tanning but knew the worse was yet to come. That night when my Father came home Mom told him that we would have to move away from Carlisle as I had brought disgrace on them by being brought home by the marshal. After supper Dad handed me his knife and I went out and cut a willow switch and got the rest of what was coming to me. I don't know if all this made me a better boy or not, but I sure know it kept me from getting any worse.

Yes Sir, Marshal Simms sure kept us boys in line. I just wonder what would happen today if a policeman did something like that. Well, first he would be fired. Then the parents would swear out a warrant for him for mistreating their innocent child and violating his civil rights, then wind up sueing him for false arrest. Back in those days the other citizens had a few rights too, and Mr. Simms did a pretty good job of protecting those rights from me and the other boys. Those were the days alright and I still is, but those days will never be back. Never again will I hear the chug, chug, of the old steam thresher coming down the road or the evening passenger train pulling into the busy depot. My Mother and Father are both buried in Carlisle and of course my heart is there. I get back every year or two for a little visit with Nellie and Leonard and Sug Alexander and Leonard generally has a piece of jowl meat for me to bring back with me. We just don't have that kind of jowl bacon out here in the mountain west. This is a great place here and I love it, but sometimes I get to wishing that I was old enough to retire and could move back to Carlisle to live out my days.

Yes Sir, I have enjoyed those three clippings and I hope that before too long Nellie will write something like it again. I guess she knows more about the people and events of those days than any person living in Nicholas County today and when she is gone a great historian will have been lost. I might add that Doctor B. F. Reynolds brought me into the world and unless I am mistaken he is still living. What a great guy he was.

Sincerely yours,
Jim Crump

Boat Registration

Frankfort — Boating enthusiasts in Kentucky may now apply for registration of boats for the 1964 season, according to William King, State Boating division director in the Department of Public Safety.

King said application for registration should be made to Circuit Court Clerk's offices.

Feed Grain Signup Nears

Farmers will have an opportunity to sign up in the 1964 Feed Grain Program early in February, according to H. S. Vick, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee. The signup period will be for seven weeks, from February 10 through March 27.

As in previous years, the Chairman explained, the feed grain program will be voluntary and each individual producer on farms growing one of the three feed grains covered by the program will make his own decision about whether to take part. The program is available for corn, grain sorghum, and barley.

To take part in the feed grain program, the farmer will agree to take out of production and devote to an approved conservation use at least 20 percent of the total feed grain base (for all of the three grains grown on the farm). The farmer may divert the acreage of one or more of the feed grains covered by the program to approved conservation uses, such as trees, grass, wildlife plantings, or to recreational uses.

Payments will be made to participating farmers on the basis of the normal production of the acreage diverted from the feed grains. Payments will be made at the rate of 50 percent of the normal production of the diverted acreage.

It PAYS To ADVERTISE!

Classified that is—John H. Conyers, Carlisle Route 3, was emphatic, in fact, happy as a lark—the classified he had placed in the January 16 issue of The Mercury had sold all of his 35 Purebred hogs, and in record time too.

John says, "They started calling me Thursday night and by Sunday noon, all were gone. I've had several calls since."

Marion Donovan bought five gilts; Kash Ratliff, 22 boars and gilts; Clarence Jackson, four bred sows, and Walter Bell, two bred sows one boar and one gilt.

Yes sir! It pays to advertise!

North Central 4H Club Camp Reports Building Progress

LEXINGTON—The North Central District 4-H Club Camp in Nicholas county is progressing favorably in its building program, Ray R. Ranta, state 4-H Club chairman, reported this week.

Construction completed at the site as of Dec. 15, 1963, Ranta said, included 19 cottages, a shelter house, the caretaker's residence, two lakes, and a new road into the camp.

Construction now in progress includes a dining hall and kitchen and one cottage. Two bath houses are nearly complete.

To be constructed when funds are available are a swimming pool, two cottages, an educational building, plus water, gas and sewage facilities.

Ranta pointed out that more than half the estimated $295,000 needed to complete the camp already has been raised in the 27-county area the camp will serve. He also noted that 4% of the buildings will be winterized for year-round use. When finished, the camp will comprise 344 acres of land, the swimming pool and 28 buildings, plus the two lakes.

Funds are raised entirely by contribution. All donations are tax-deductible. After completion, the camp will be maintained and operated by the University of Kentucky.

Persons or organizations contributing $2,000 or more will have the donation memorialized by a plaque, Ranta said.

NICHOLAS COUNTY KENTUCKY was organized in the summer of 1799 and on December 18 it was named in honor of Colonel George Nicholas who had died in Lexington, Ky., July 25, 1799. He was born in Williamsburg, Va., in 1743 (date on marker is in error). His war record lists his rank as Captain with the Virginia troops during the Revolutionary War. It is assumed that the colonel title was for service in the militia after the war. The first honorary Kentucky Colonel title was issued in 1822. The above picture of the historical marker is at Colonel Nicholas' grave in the old Episcopal burying grounds on Third Street in Lexington. --Photo and text from collection of Roy L.
