Outstanding 4H'ers Selected

Stewart Moore presented watches to Elizabeth Ann Clay and Larry Jolly at the 4-H Talent and Achievement Program held last week at the Carlisle School. This is the 4th year that Mr. Moore has presented the annual Coe Oil Co. awards to the outstanding Nicholas County 4-H boy and girl.

The outstanding boy and girl are selected each year based on their participation and leadership in the 4-H program in Nicholas county.

Elizabeth Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Clay and has been in 4-H six years. In 1963 she completed and was county champion in four projects, good grooming, housekeeping, clothing, and foods.

Modeling ability and good quality sewing earned Elizabeth Ann the title of Miss Nicholas County at the county style show last spring. She participated in the 1963 Kentucky State 4-H Style Revue held during the 4-H Leadership Conference at Lexington last June. Her dress was exhibited at the Nicholas County Fair and the Kentucky State Fair at Louisville.

A desire to show others "how to" has helped Elizabeth Ann gain additional experience through 4-H. She presented a demonstration at County Rally last spring on Southern Spoon Bread and was county champion in the corn-meal division. She presented the same demonstration at the District 4-H Rally and was awarded a blue ribbon.

Leadership and service at the annual 4-H Camp with fellow 4-H members earned her a Jr. Councilor position while at camp. In addition to serving as a Jr. Councilor, she earned four activity patches and a citizenship patch.

Church and school activities are also important to Elizabeth Ann. She sings in her church choir and serves as secretary at the PYE. In school, she has been very active in the Science Club.

Larry Jolly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Jolly, has been in 4-H Club work for 6 years.

Tobacco is Larry's main 4-H project. He has exhibited his project tobacco at the county, district and state fair tobacco shows over the past three years, winning several awards. He has won 1st place in the county and district 4-H rallies.

Larry has served as a club officer most every year since he first joined 4-H. In school he has been a member of the Pep Club
