Aerial View of North Central 4-H Camp

Being we didn't take this picture we can only assume the direction is north by east. In the foreground is the town of Gallows Hill road which forms the dams for the two 4-H Lakes, the larger of which is on the left. The road up the ridge, passes by the caretakers house first, next is the shelter house, to the left, the cluster of buildings is the girls area and to the right, the boys. Near the top of the picture can be seen the Hickory Ridge and Stoney Creek roads.

Plan ACP Spring Practices

Farmers who have been considering soil and water-conservation practices to be established on their farms with Agricultural Conservation Program cooperation this spring and summer should file their requests for program assistance as soon as possible, H. S. Vice, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation, Nicholas County Committee, has suggested. The 1964 ACP was drawn up several months ago, and applications are being accepted at the ASCS county office.

The Chairman explained that the sooner the application is filed, the easier it will be to obtain approval of the practice and take care of other program details before the work is begun.

Under the 1964 program, cost-share program assistance averages about half the cost of carrying out such conservation practices as establishing and improving vegetative cover of grasses, legumes, or trees for soil protection; installing erosion-control structures; and practices for the conservation of more efficient use of water.

In addition, the 1964 program provides for similar cost-share assistance to farmers in developing soil and water-conservation practices primarily for the benefit of wildlife. These include the establishment of wildlife food plots or habitat, ponds and shallow water areas, and other practices which provide important wildlife conservation benefits.

The Agricultural Conservation Program has been in continuous operation since 1936, when it was authorized by national legislation to encourage farmers to protect soil, water and woodland resources on the farms of the nation by sharing the costs of needed conservation measures.

"AC Program assistance has been singularly effective in introducing conservation practices on privately owned cropland, pasture, or woodland," Mr. Vice said, "and this applies particularly to practices which provide little or no immediate return."

MIRANDA HOMEMAKERS

By Mrs. Edgar Scott

The Miranda Homemakers held their meeting Feb. 12, at 11:00 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Walter Kendall. Mrs. Lovell Shaw was co-hostess. Twenty-seven members. Mrs. Margie Wilson, Miss Cheryl Lowe and two visitors. Miss Ethel Dwelly and Mrs. W. D. Smart, attended.

After a delicious pot luck dinner, our vice pesident, Mrs. Carl Hughes presided at the meeting. Devotional and poem was read by Mrs. Joe A. Stone. Reports from various chairmen were given, and State Federation meeting of Homemakers to be held in Lexington March 30, April 1 and 2, was discussed, with several members making plans to attend.

Our lesson, "Buy Lines" for choosing wallpaper was given by Mrs. Maurice King. This was a very interesting lesson as our leader told us that in chosing your pattern, select one which will please the whole family, one you will not tire of and one easy to care for. In buying we should think first of our walls, our furniture and the size of our rooms. She showed us many patterns in paper stressing which would be most suitable for the different rooms in the home.

The March meeting will be at the Assembly Room with Mrs. Joe A. Stone and Mrs. Maurice King, co-hostess.
