MOOREFIELD HOMEMAKERS
by Mrs. Joe D. Blount

The Moorefield Homemakers Club met Thursday, May 7, at the home of Mrs. Jimmie Conrad with Mrs. Angus Jacobs and Mrs. James Hamm as co-hostess.

Mrs. James Hamm presided over the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Harvey Wilson. There were 14 members and three visitors present.

Mrs. Joe Wilson gave the devotional. Mrs. J. S. Wilson gave a talk on "School Drop-Outs", and emphasized the importance of keeping our children in school.

Our lesson "Quilting" was given by Mrs. Herman Vice. It was a very interesting lesson and she showed us several patterns which she had made and two quilts she was quilting.

During the business meeting officers for the coming year were elected. They were: Mrs. James Hamm, president; Mrs. James Reid, vice president; Mrs. Joe Blount, secretary and treasurer.

During the social period Mrs. W. J. Clark led the group in games. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Our next meeting will be June 11, at the Moorefield Grade School. Mrs. James Reid and Mrs. Ralph Toy will be hostesses.

Hong Kong grass will be the lesson.

CARLISLE WEST HOMEMAKERS

The Carlisle West Homemakes Club met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mae Berry.

Mrs. Eugene Neal, president, called the meeting to order and welcomed Mrs. Warren Lowe, Mrs. Fred Rushford, Mrs. Walter Bell and Mrs. Lovell Hollar, as visitors to the club.

"Quilting", was the lesson given by Mrs. Albert Henry and Mrs. Frank Henry. There were several quilts on display and quilt tops of unusual patterns created quite a bit of interest among the members. We learned how to set the quilt together and the best method of quilting, after we had assembled the quilt into the type of frame to be used. We were told to use a short needle and a superior six cord "polished" or waxed thread.

A finished quilt deserves the best of care and should not be allowed to become too soiled before washing. Do not wring by hand or spin dry in the washer, but hang on the line and let it drip dry.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. J. R. Hamilton.

With the score tied 4-4 entering the final inning Nicholas County's Danny Cleaver drove in Chester Scott with a single to give Nicholas a 5-4 victory. In the final game, Ludlow's James Keller tripled with Billy Young on first to give the Northern Kentucky nine a 7-6 win.

State Fair Dates Set

Planners of the Kentucky State Fair, rich in time mellowed tradition, will be gazing into the future during the 1964 exposition, Sept. 11-19, at Louisville.

The State Fair, historically a pioneer nationally, will undergo microscopic studies of its goals and purposes.

The 1964 event will climax a year of study, inaugurated by the State Fair Board with the aid of experts in all fields of Kentucky life.

Is there too much emphasis on getting an animal ready for the show ring and too little attention paid to how the meat tastes on the dinner plate? Or, should fairs be de-emphasizing shows and upgrading carcass contests?

Is the State Fair keeping pace in telling the story of where Kentucky is going in industry? In agriculture? In cultural development? In historical awareness?

Is the State Fair hitting the target as an entertainment medium? As an educational medium?

These and many more questions will be asked before, during and after State Fair 1964.

Looking through the microscope will be experts from the Department of Agriculture, College of Agriculture at the University of Kentucky, industrial and community leaders, and professional people in varied fields.

Some changes are planned for the 1964 State Fair. Others will be slowly showing up in years to come.

New in 1964 will be a Dairy Products Show, a Gold Medal Industrial Exposition, and Girl Scout participation.

Seemingly, cottage cheese, electrical appliances and the like, and Girl Scout projects make an incongruous combination. Actually they are alike in that each will be setting the stage for the State Fair's future development.

The Dairy Products Show was inaugurated to call attention to Kentucky's standing as America's No. 2 state in cheese, evaporated milk and cottage cheese production.

The Gold Medal Exposition will be the renewal of a time-honored program of recognizing manufacturing excellence by the award of gold medals at the State Fair.

The Girl Scout program will give these youngsters an opportunity to compete at the State Fair for the first time. Urban youngsters will be displaying non-agricultural projects throughout the Fair.

State Fair director James Brewitt puts it this way:

"Kentuckians can be proud of their State Fair. It has weathered years of crisis and many stormy battles. It has pioneered in many areas—agricultural and commercial. It is one of our country's top State Fairs. But it has a big step to make into the future. And in our studies we hope to find ways for Kentucky to explore the future through the State Fair. —
