Specialist In Education
Degree Awarded Wesley

The Specialist in Education degree, a relatively new advanced graduate degree, was awarded to a Nicholas County Educator, Superintendent Raymond Wesley, May 18 at the Ninety-Seventh Commencement of the University of Kentucky.

The Specialist in Education degree was first conferred by the University of Kansas in 1950, since 1956 the University of Kentucky Graduate School has offered the program. Mr. Wesley was admitted to the program in 1961, which required a master's degree in academic standing on all previous graduate work of at least 3.4 or higher, teaching certificate or credit certificate, and a research project and a thesis on the project.

Mr. Wesley completed his research project and a thesis on the project, "The Effect of the School on the Community." The project was completed in April, 1963. He is a member of the National Education Association, the Kentucky Education Association, and the Nicholas County Education Association. He is also a member of the Nicholas County Board of Education.

After acceptance to the program, the candidate must complete the oral examination administered by a committee of three professors. The Graduate Council which was accepted by his advisor on April 24, 1963, completed its research project and a thesis on the project, "The Effect of the School on the Community." The project was completed in April, 1963. He is a member of the National Education Association, the Kentucky Education Association, and the Nicholas County Education Association. He is also a member of the Nicholas County Board of Education.

Commencement exercises will start Sunday night, May 24, at 8:00 p. m. in the High School Gymnasium. Dr. Robert O. Weaver, minister, High Street Christian Church, Lexington, will be the guest speaker. Dr. Weaver is one of the most sought after speakers in the Christian Church. He is past-president of the North American Christian Convention and the Southern Christian Convention. He is Trustee of the Cincinnati Bible Seminary, and formerly Chairman of Trustees of the National Christian College, White in Atlanta, for over 22 years he led in the building of the largest independent Christian Church in the Southwest. He is a member of the publishing committee of Standard Publishing, one of the nation's largest publishers of religious material. Dr. Weaver has served on the board of trustees of the Nicholas County Board of Education, and has organized Book Clubs in several cities, and active in the Boy Scouts of America. He is the author of many articles which have appeared in National religious publications. He is married and the father of four children. He is the daughter of Mrs. L. L. Lamm, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hanson Ellington of Moorefield. This is the second time Lamm has been selected as Miss Nicholas County. She is a member of the 1964 graduating class at the University of Kentucky. She has been active in the Dramatics, Journalism and Staff member of the Nicholas County, she has been enrolled in a Girl Scout troop for nine years.
