Three Attend CKSBA Meet

The Central Kentucky regional meeting of the Kentucky School Board Association held its annual meeting at Eastern Kentucky State College, Richmond, Wednesday evening, October 21, with Dr. Charles Renfro of Danville presiding. Attending from the Nicholas County Board of Education were Clay Dayton, Robert Coatney and Thomas C. Johnson.

The relationship of the State Department of Education with the local school boards, problems and needs of local school districts in financing education and in improving public relations were among the subjects discussed by Roscoe Miller, chairman of the State Board of Education, Ed Ballard, director, Property Tax Division of the Department of Revenue, and Morris Clement, Executive Director of the Kentucky School Board Association.

Mr. Miller pointed out that many of the problems school boards members have can be attributed to failure to keep the public informed on the goals, needs and problems of the local educational system.

Mr. Ballard, in his remarks on property tax problems, stated that though 80% of local revenue is derived from property tax, inequities in assessments and a low level of assessment prevents adequate use of the tax as a source of revenue for local governments and schools.

NOTICE

The citizens of Nicholas County are deeply concerned for the future of our Nicholas County schools and I am a deeply concerned father of school age children.

When the school districts were re-apportioned, all other districts in the county included a portion of our county seat. My district No. 1 does not.

With the present set up we can have a school system comparable to that of surrounding counties without an added tax burden.

I have been to many homes in my district, some were not home, between now and Nov. 3 I will try to see you. I earnestly solicit your support. Help me to help our children have better schools.

Our teachers and bus drivers are secure in their positions despite rumors to the contrary.

I am asking for your help, November 3.

Ag.Census Plans Announced

Plans for taking the 1964 Census of Agriculture in Nicholas County were announced today by Mrs. William F. Kearns Jr. newly-appointed census crew leader for the county.

The job will be done in three stages, the crew leader said. First will come recruitment and training of enumerators to count all farms in the county. About one enumerator for each 150 farms will be needed.

Shortly after November 9, the Bureau of the Census, an agency of the U. S. Department of Commerce, will start the second stage by mailing agricultural census questionnaires to all rural bookholders in the county. This will give farm and ranch operators, who are required by law to fill out the forms, a period of time to consult their records and and fill in answers to the questions.

In the final stage, enumerators will visit each farm in the county to help farmers complete answers to any questions the farmers may have had difficulty with. Enumerator visits are scheduled to begin in this county on November 16, 1964. Enumerators will take about three weeks to complete their work, the crew leader estimates.

The Census of Agriculture is taken every five years ending in "4" and "9" to gather up-to-date information on the nation's agricultural resources and production. Such information is vital in making decisions affecting many segments of the U. S. economy. Data gathered include the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, livestock, inventory, information on farm equipment and facilities, farm products sold, and use of fertilizers, insecticides, and herbicides.

Fund Drive For Girl Scouts

The Girl Scout fund drive will open Nov. 5. Jack Morrison has been named chairman of the drive for the business area. The Junior Women's Club, with Mrs. Robert Darbo as chairman, will solicit the residental area on Nov. 10.

The Wilderness Road Girl Scout Council covers most of central and eastern Kentucky, an area consisting of 52 counties. The Carlisle Girl Scouts are a part of this council and receive benefits from the professional staff in Lexington who come here to give guidance in the monthly leaders meetings and attend to the administration of Girl Scouting in this area. The five camps within this area, any of which Carlisle girls may attend, and printed materials and training given free to local volunteer leaders, and many other ways to insure a continuing program. The liability insurance which the local troops previously had to carry themselves is now carried by the council, relieving the local group of almost $100. per year expenses.

There are 90 girls registered in Carlisle and 18 adults. This is a large youth program for a small town. The program for the girls is not strictly recreational although they enjoy it. It is a character building program developing skills, encouraging service to others and respect for God and country, and helping each individual girl to grow into a helpful, happy, resourceful citizen of tomorrow.

The money from this fund drive stays entirely within the Wilderness Road Girl Scout Council, developing camps, paying professional administrative staff, and other services. 98 percent of adults working with Girl Scouting, including all those in Carlisle, receive no pay for their service except the joy of seeing girls grow into better adults.

Mrs. W. R. Kingsolver Carlisle Girl Scout troop organizer and consultant.

Water For Countians Depends On Want

"If you want water bad enough, you can have it!" Rob Roy Norton of the Farmers Home Administration, a credit agency of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and other members of his agency pointed out at a meeting numbering some 46 persons last Thursday evening.

The fact that there were more than a handful of people in attendance when the day and evening were a good 'tobacco season' augured well for Nicholas County.

Charles Watkins, chairman of the Nicholas County Water District, introduced the speakers, brought matters up to date concerning the forming of the District this past July, and summed up the talks when he stated, "We'll have a water District, where it goes, and who it services, is up to the people."

Bill Moore, engineer for Howard K. Bell Co., Lexington, stated his feasibility report depended upon a preliminary survey to be conducted by those interested. The survey is being directed by the water district supervisors, Russell Selvage, Mr. Watkins and Dorsey Watkins. Mr. Moore also pointed out that residences in the county varied from seven to eight per mile to 15-20 near Carlisle, and that there was about 100 miles of road with houses in the county.

Several persons present took the necessary forms and pledged themselves to work roads and areas of the district which they were familiar. They are expected to have their work done within two weeks.

Those signing the survey forms will put up a deposit of $10 to help defray engineering expenses. Assuming the district to be feasible this deposit will be credited to their hook-up charge. In the event, it doesn't work out, monies, if any will be returned pro-rata.
