1965... KENTUCKY HOMECOMING YEAR

It's Homecoming Year in Kentucky, by proclamation of Governor Edward T. Breathitt and by the natural homesickness of thousands of former natives and their friends who are anxious to see and visit Kentucky in 1965. More than a hundred communities across the state have made special plans to welcome and entertain the Homecoming Year visitors. In addition, hundreds of families, churches and schools are holding real, old-time reunions. No occasion is too small - or too big - to fit into Homecoming Year.

There are song fests, fine dramas, flower shows, parades, picnics, parties, and most important, just plain people who have rolled out the welcome mat to all travelers in Kentucky. A visitor is likely to pop into a homecoming celebration just about anytime in 1965. And, while all the festivities are being planned and carried out, the home folk are spending joy, cheering their guests, tending their bookshelves, and getting ready to show the visitors a good time. Kentucky restaurants have the homecoming spirit, too. Tables are gracing with delicious Kentucky dishes - from famous Kentucky Ham, caribou, barbecue or burgers to shucky beans, number sauce, spiced corn, black-eyed peas - all done up in typical Kentucky fashion. And the clean-up brigades have been set to work, making Kentucky even cleaner, greener and lovelier for Homecoming visitors. All in all, 1965 is proving an unusually good year for the lucky traveler who comes to the Bluegrass.

background of forested hillsides and timed to the music of our Cumberland Falls. There is an island park at Thurston, square dancing at Cumberland Falls, and unexcited fishing and canoeing.

To the north of the Bluegrass is the Land by the River - a postcard-pretty region that borders the broad Ohio River and the widest reaches of the scenic Kentucky and Licking rivers. Water sports are a natural here, and vacationing pleasures are further enhanced by camping areas, historic sites, and scenic views. Water sports are a natural here, and vacationing pleasures are further enhanced by camping areas, historic sites, and scenic views.

Sightsee Underground, Too
Crossing into the Historic Gateway of Kentucky, the horse and carriage routes of the past are still to be seen in the scenic country of the Bluegrass, Kentucky's natural beauty and scenic views.

Water, Water, Everywhere
At the far western tip of the state there's the land of Big Lakes - a real wonderland for water lovers with 158,300-acre Kentucky Lake and its sparkling neighbor, 45,000-acre Barkley Lake, creating between them a nature-preserving National Recreation Area. Here are the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and a region are friends of high quality country.

Moving Eastward, the Audubon-Pointe-ville vacation region offers visitors a natural paradise. The Pennington - the small town that lends its name - grows profusely as do many other species of flowers, plants and trees. John James Audubon chose this region in which to capture on canvas many world-renowned birds and wildlife paintings. Lakes, streams and outstanding food also to the region's enjoyment.

Just to the east in the area called the Roundabout, included are the knobs and valleys of the birthplace and boyhood home of Abraham Lincoln, and the area lies on the route of the Lincoln Heritage Trail. One of the "crisis" spots in the site of Ft. Knox, where the national gold depository is situated. There are two more, a luxury vacation resort, lakes and a fast-growing young metropolis.

The Central Kentucky Cave Area was one of the state's first vacationing centers and is the home of Mammoth Cave National Park as well as many smaller underground caverns. First-rate attractions lie above the ground as well, including Park Mammoth Resort and Harpers River Reservoir, a new fishing lake.

Big City Beckons
For a city vacation, it's Louisville, the state's largest city, the home of Churchill Downs and the Kentucky Derby, the site of the great stadium race held annually on the Ohio River, and a metropolitan mine of things to do and see. Museums, southern mansions, city parks, historic "Old Louisville", racing, boating and swimming, plus a multitude of night spots are among the city's attractions.

From Louisville to the Bluegrass is just a step across the county line. Hitting back a steep ascent to the rolling hills, rolling hills, criss-crossed by white fences; track and harness racing; historic Old homes; the State Capitol at Frankfort; the University of Kentucky, two State colleges and six private colleges, including world-famous Berea, Booneville, Fort Harrod, the Shertwell restoration and Mt. Vernon Homes - all are a part of the Bluegrass charm.

South from the Central Bluegrass is the Lake Cumberland-Bible Hightis anglers and camper's paradise. These two giant lakes are just a part of the region's lure, paired as a
