What Blue Grass Industries Means To Me
By a Proud Employee

In my introduction, I would like to emphasize how important Blue Grass Industries is—not only to me, but to each and every one of us, it's employees. BGI brings business to our town and this enables many of us to learn about and appreciate Nicholas Counity. You don't know what you've got until you lose it," holds very true here.
Here we have a job for which we are trained at the company's expense; a job perhaps that many of us take for granted until it becomes ill. Then we realize the importance of our job here at Blue Grass and we find ourselves taking new pride in saying, "I've got a job."
Blue Grass means an opportunity to me—a chance to improve myself, meet friends, engage in company activities and to be a part of a growing organization. I believe that we are trained here to have a sense of responsibility and to face each tomorrow with courage and assurance.
Each of us is given this opportunity and we should make the most of it.
From the outside people see a huge, attractive building, walking into the building, one would note the humming of the machines and all the workers doing a job for themselves and their company. But to us who are privileged to work at BGI, it looks entirely different. Coming into sight of the factory, we notice first the sign, Blue Grass Industries, which means a security. us.
Then we notice the pretty well kept lawn and Old Clory flying high in front of our building. To us
this represents democracy. The humming of

Yuletide Preparations Underway

Christmas is just around the corner and fanta's Elves are busy getting things ready for his arrival at Blue Grass.
What is this before my eyes? Why, he has already arrived in the warehouse. Why, I'm seeing Sootie, there are two Kris Kringle! They are ready to wave hello as you enter the door
during the holiday season.
Crab, Bang, Boom
what's the matter? I peak out the door and see Mr. Barton and Mr.
Tolliver building a stage.
I asked, "When is the performance?" They replied, "December 2, at 8:00 p.m. during the Carlisle Christmas Parade."

On my way to dinner, I ran into Ray Hunt with a beautiful lamp. This he tells me will light the way for Blue Grass callers on Christmas day.
What will we do with this hat? Why, make a soft bed for the Baby Jesus. The Nativity scene will greet you as you pass our way and we hope you will pause to share its meaning.
Last but not least, our annual Christmas Program will be held on Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 22 in the company dining room. Gifts will be exchanged and work dismissed until after Christmas.

BLUE GRASS SALUTES NEW PERSONNEL
We are glad to have you join the Blue Grass family. It has been said that the key to success is doing for others. Center your interest in your job, your family, and your fellow workers. Work for their success—and you will wake up some morning and find YOURSELF,
a success.
