Here Come Those Unassembled Christmas Toys

(From Changing Times Calendar and Engagement Book for 1966.)
Might as well face it, men—you've been had. And along about midnight Christmas Eve, unless you smarten up fast, you're going to be had again. Look sharp, or once again you will stumble into bed at 5 a.m. Christmas morning, a haggard, red-eyed victim of the annual horror, the unassembled toy.

In olden times parents had two ways of getting toys to give their children for Christmas. They could buy something at the store or make something at home. But American business ingenuity—that good wide-awake, mass-producing American enterpriser—has come up with a third choice: toys you buy at the store and make at home.

Watch Out Christmas Eve
The scene is really too familiar to need description. Here it is Christmas Eve, and the decorated tree twinkles and glitters with the joy of the season. The kids have finally been coaxed to sleep. Mom and Dad have filled the stockings, wrapped the last-minute gifts, heaped the packages high beneath the tree. With all else ready they bring Junior's 540 fire truck, the covered treasure, to take its place of honor. When the crate is opened, what do they find. No fire truck, but a box full of loose metal and a stern injunction from the factory to get busy and make a fire truck. If they are lucky, it is done by dawn.

So prepare for the ordeal this way. Get everything possible done earlier. Leave Christmas Eve for the tasks that are unavoidable last-minute.

Round Up the Troops
Rally reinforcements. Invite those bachelor uncles and childless cousins over to sip eggnog and beam at the kiddies' toddlers off to their visions of sugardrums. Then thrust hammers into their hands and set them to work.

Don't forget out-of-town entries. Aunt Nell, in Tulsa, was acting in good faith when she phoned the department store to charge and ship one dollhouse. And you know who will put it together.

Check the old toolbox. Make sure that everything is ready to be worked with. See that you are equipped with all the common, everyday tools that are ordinarily required for toy assembling—pliers, hammer, socket wrenches, offset screwdriver, retail file, etc. Check the Band-Aid supply.

At present that is about all that is needed to ease the agony. Somebody Congress will wake up and pass a law. It will authorize the victim of that unassembled toy, when his work is complete to submit to the so-called manufacturer a bill for time and materials. Wages will be prevailing union rates, computed of course, at time and a half. The charges for a single Christmas Eve will bring the industry to heel.

Until then you can only proceed, forewarned and forearmed, to fight the good fight.
Merry Christmas!

TOP ATTRACTION IN ANY CHRISTMAS PARADE

Yes Santa Claus is the drawing card for any Christmas Parade and the annual Jaycee Parade held Thursday evening, Dec. 2 was no exception. At one time there was such a throng mobbing Santa, that the floats couldn't get into the town square.

C.K.C. gave when they defeated Nicholasville here Tuesday night by a score of 33 to 32.

Nicholas Countians will protest dams on the Licking river for power. Large acreage of rich soil will be sacrificed to rising tide. If flood control measure is adopted.

The Bourbon District of Honor of the Blue Grass Council, Boy Scouts will be held at Carlisle at 8 o'clock next Sunday afternoon at the Carlisle Christian Church. An invitation has been extended to A. B. Chandler, High Commissioner of Baseball and former U.S. Senator to deliver the principal address.

Tobacco Promotion Benefits

J. E. Anderson and Phillip Hillcock profited by $75 premium monies awarded them by the Bourbon County Tobacco Promotion Board, for their high crop sold on the Paris Tobacco market. Their crop totaling 6,096 pounds averaged $70.90. In the picture are from left, Mr. Anderson, Mr. Hillcock, Lyle Rader, mgr. of Farmers #4 Warehouse; Parker Bradley, chairman of Bourbon County Tobacco Promotion Board; Vol Ferguson Jr., co-mgr. of Paris Tobacco Warehouse Company. The promotion board is made up of a group of Bourbon County businessmen. Prizes were awarded Monday for the highest crops above 5000 lbs, with monies in each category of $50, $75, $100. Three crops under 5000 lbs. also got awards.

Winter-busings is a relatively new practice in Kentucky, but has been reasonably successful. Agronomists say burning alfalfa fields during winter doesn't seem to hurt the alfalfa's coming back in the spring. Nor is there any particular danger in grazing the crop after frost-out, if that method is used for removing the early infestations. Dr. Miller points out that spring control will be helped by these fall and winter steps. Misc. 3240A, Alfalfa Weevil

Farm & Home

Happiness is from the cow according to A.W. Rudnick, Jr. Department of Dairy Science, University of Kentucky. Happiness is a glass of milk, a dish of ice cream, a tangy cheese snack. What do they have in making a party a success and a drab meal a feast.
The holidays are here and with them come all the usual parties and gay festivities. Do you want this evening's small gathering to be a success. Put out a bowl of sour cream dip flavored with your favorite spices and reserve it with a bowl of potato chips. There will be no leftovers.

Are you worried about an hors d'oeuvres tray for some formal party? Put small chunks of a variety of cheese on cream, a tangy cheese round the edge of the tray. They will add color and will vanish before the olives and celery do.
Do you want a dessert to please all tastes? Ice cream is good at any season, but try a different flavor. Or, to please a gourmet, serve Camembert or Leidenkranz and crackers. With a cafe-au-lait, the cheese tops off any repast.
