AN ELECTRIC RANGE COOKS RINGS AROUND THE REST!

and we'll help pay for the wiring!

Good a cook as you may be — you can't help cooking even better, automatically, with perfectly controlled heat of a modern electric range. Electric heat comes on fast, too — and clean, because flameless electricity simply can't make dirt. And electric cooking is cool — the heat goes up into the pan, not into your kitchen.

So be modern — take another step up toward the joy of total electric living — with a new electric range from your electric appliance dealer.

WIN UP TO $35 ON YOUR WIRING BILL BY BUYING AN ELECTRIC RANGE NOW! If you change from 3-wire to 2-wire, 100-ampere service and install an electric range, we'll pay $25 on your wiring bill. If you have 3-wire service and install an electric range, we'll pay $15 toward additional wiring needed. Offer good through March 31, 1965. See your KUC "GDP" manager for eligibility.

KU KENTUCKY UTILITIES COMPANY

Let's Look It Over
By Edward T. Bream
Frankfort — Boys, pray, and resolve to do everything I can during the almost three years I have left as Governor to see to it that Kentucky does not repeat the shameful record of the last year of an unofficial total of 930 highway traffic deaths.

The 1964 toll exceeds the 893 fatalities recorded in 1961, which until last year was the worst 12 months for traffic highway deaths in our history.

During the 1964 Christmas holiday season alone, 222 accidents were reported to State Police, with 164 injuries and seven fatalities.

Traffic accidents have increased by 92 per cent in Kentucky during the last 10 years, with a resulting 87 per cent increase in personal injuries. At the current rate of accidents, the economic loss to the State due to property damage, medical expenses, loss of wages, and insurance costs will be $2 billion in the next 10 years.

To wage effective war against death on the highways, Kentuckians should support extra and enforcement officers in a program to find program which will save lives.

Last May, we initiated a program of traffic safety, and called for an analysis of our highway problems by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety and the National Safety Council.

This program, which vitally affects all Kentuckians, is an attempt to reduce the slaughter on our roads by stricter enforcement of laws, greater public support for law enforcement officers, a tougher driver point system, and other action.

We have taken the first step with introduction of the driver point system. This places traffic offenders in a position of losing their licenses for extended periods of time, thereby removing them as a hazard on the road.

In another step, I have instructed the Department of Public Safety to undertake a state-wide public education program on traffic safety. To carry out this program effectively, the Co-ordinating Committee for Highway Safety must define and put into action the safety functions of several departments.

This committee is proceeding upon recommendations brought out in surveys by national organizations to determine those areas in our highway system which most need attention.

Our steps are based on those of the President's Action Program for Highway Safety. Other steps in Kentucky's Action Program call for the immediate retraining of our State Police, more extensive use of radar and roadblocks on our roads, statewide driver education, and a uniform ticket for use throughout the state.

We are working to enact a driver-licensing program which would seek out physically and mentally incapacitated drivers before they contribute to an accident. None of these programs will succeed without the full support of Kentuckians throughout the Commonwealth. We do not believe until all drivers realize that slaughter on the highways is unnecessary... that it can and must be reduced now.

Pick Variety Best For You

What's involved in picking a tobacco variety? Generally, says Dr. E. H. Smith, Jr., K. A. Extension Service specialist, it's the variety that does best for the individual farmer and the soil he grows on.

"Each farmer has particular reasons for growing a certain variety," he says. "That's why most varieties are picked on the basis of doing the best job for you."

1) Each farm has a soil environment that dictates careful variety selection. The best may have black root rot, or fusarium wilt, or black shank. Thus, proper selection (with resistant varieties) will mean a profitable crop against a possible failure.

2) Disease problems are major for tobacco. For land with black root rot, fusarium wilt, or black shank, KY 12 are good varieties that will give good yields of useful leaf.

3) If you are still growing the old standard varieties—KY 15, KY 41A, KY 35, KY 10 and KY 12 are the best varieties. Burley 21 produces the most useful yield of useful leaf for both Burley 21 and KY 12 is recommended. If you are still growing the old standard varieties, Burley 21 or KY 12 is best.

4) If black shank is the problem, use of a resistant variety should be the best of the hybrids and can be grown where their parents were grown. Both these produce good yields of useful leaf.

5) If you are still growing the old standard varieties, Burley 21 or KY 12 are the best varieties. Burley 21 produces the most useful yield of useful leaf for both Burley 21 and KY 12 is recommended. If you are still growing the old standard varieties, Burley 21 or KY 12 is best.

6) If black shank is the problem, use of a resistant variety should be the best of the hybrids and can be grown where their parents were grown. Both these produce good yields of useful leaf.
