In Service

JOHNSON, COMMENDED

Upon my departure from the battalion I want to take this opportunity to thank you for your excellent management of the Battalion Message Center during my tenure as Adjutant. During this period you improved the system of operation to ensure prompt delivery of all correspondence between the companies, battalion and higher headquarters. Through your cooperation, initiative and attitude, you have helped to make the S-1 Section the most efficient in the 10th Armor Group.

I wish you continued success in your military life and all your future endeavors. Your a fine example of a soldier in the United States Army.

James R. Jaglelski
1st Lt. Armor
Adjutant

This letter was received by SP4 John T. Johnson, US 52577862, Headquarters Company, 5th Battalion, 33d Armor, fort Knox, Kentucky thru Commanding Officer, Headquarters Company, 5th Battalion 33d Armor, Fort Knox, Kentucky.

4H Club Contest Offers $800

Fourteen 4-H boys and girls will be eligible for $800 in prizes in the 1965 4-H Club Achievement Contest.

The 19th annual contest, sponsored by The Courier-Journal, The Louisville Times, and WHAS, Inc., is designed to honor the top 4-H boys and girls in Kentucky.

State boy and girl champions will each receive a $100 U. S. Savings Bond. The top 4-H boy and girl in the six Cooperative Extension Service districts will each receive a $50 Savings Bond. Certificates of merit will go to the boy and girl champions in each county.

The 14 winners in the contest and their parents will receive all-expense-paid trips to Louisville next February to attend the annual Farm Awards Luncheon where the prizes are presented.

All Kentucky 4-H Club members who are 14 years of age or older and who have been in 4-H Club work four years or longer, including this year, are eligible to enter the contest. Previous state winners of the contest are not eligible.

Winners in this contest will be chosen on the basis of achievement in 4-H Club projects, leadership, activities, and citizenship development.

Complete information on the contest is available from county agents, home demonstration agents, and adult 4-H leaders, or by writing to the Public Service Department, The Courier Journal, The Louisville Times, and WHAS, Inc., Louisville, Ky., 40202.

MAKING SURE that all labels are in place are Teresa Ellington, Phyllis Letcher and Lavina McFarland, 4-H members and leader, as exhibits are prepared for the Blue Grass Fair now underway at Lexington. Nicholas County 4-H'ers have nearly 125 different items on exhibit at the Lexington show. Plans are also underway locally for the Nicholas county Youth Fair, August 19, 20 and 21.

Clifton Waugh, right, accepted deliver y of a new bulldozer last week. The Nicholas County Soil Conservation District sponsored the purchase by an agreement with the Kentucky Division of Soil and Water Resources. The SCD representatives are (left to right) Charles Whaley, Lovell Hollar, and Frank Henry. Sitting on the bulldozer are Allen Waugh and Floyd "Starr" Gaunce, operator. Almost $200,000 worth of new equipment has been brought into the County by heavy equipment operators Clifton Waugh and Fred Jones, in recent years, to do conservation work.
