Several Attend Crop Meet

Attending a Southern States Cooperative regional board meeting in Cynthiaiana last week, were Allen Watson, local cooperative manager; Clay Dayton, James C. Lowe, Paul Hedge, Billy Hunter, Maxwell Burden and Woodrow Richey, board members. Young guest farmers of the area also in attendance were Donald Gillispie; Ronald Wilcoxson and R.S. Willis Jr. John Feland of Richmond, Va., told the session that "not only does change occur in agriculture, but a lot in other segments of our economy. The businessman serving agriculture--

"another room and I quit!"

If you're adding another room, why not add worry-free electric heat at the same time... it never quits!

Planning to add another room? Why worry about overloading your present system when modern electric heating can make that new room warm and comfortable from wall to wall. And you don't have to worry about maintenance for electric heating because there just isn't any--no moving parts to repair or adjust and nothing to order and store.

If you're planning to add a room but your present heating system just won't take it, come in and have a talk with KU heating specialists about electric heating. The final step up to the joy of total electric living. They'll estimate annual heating costs before you decide.

Farmers-- Look How Little it Really Costs To Avoid Crop Troubles

When you plant a crop and get a lot of weeds, that's trouble. When you get a spotty stand, that's more trouble. And when you get yields below the break-even point, that's the most trouble of all. By planting Southern States Quality Seeds, however, you can avoid these expensive crop troubles--for less cost than you may think. Did you know that Southern States Quality Seeds usually give you more pure live seeds for your money--than the cheap, inferior, unprofitable seeds that cause all the grief? Southern States Quality Seeds represent only about 5% of your total crop production expense. When the best costs so little, why plant anything less? See your Southern States Cooperative Agency now.
