Experinence Speaking
By W. Foster
"Pap" Adams
Editors Note: This is the first of a series of columns to be written by W. Foster "Pap" Adams, former President of the Kentucky Press Association, who is now a Journalist in Residence at Morehead State College following his retirement as Editor of the Berea Citizen.

There should be some way, the man said, to get the message over to the public, concerning the popularity and importance of the high school bands.

Admittedly this is a bit difficult. Our folks have been cheering footballers, baseballers and basketballers so long that they lose sight of the youngsters who march together, sit side by side in the bleachers or come washed up and prim for concert in the school's auditorim.

It takes a bit of discipline for a dad or a mother to brag about their offspring when all around them there are people who quote percentages and who have their "truthera" about who is and who is not a good referee.

Now, I never got past "Activity" in the Bennett Book. But there are memories of band practice which lighten an old man's heart and keep his feet patting when a brass band begins to play.

This may be a wild guess--it is our belief that there are more youngsters in bands than there are in the major sports, it is not impossible that they practice more hours and appear as often as their athletic contemporaries.

Among life's inequities is the fact that business people, and individuals give more freely for baseball uniforms than they do for the fancy dressing connected with bands. And, bands are equally important.

When a mother looks toward the platform and says with pride "That's my daughter playing the bassoon," people just must know how proud, in a humble sort of way, that mother is.

Perhaps my single division of a high school's importance has witnessed such vast growth as has the development of high school bands. Forty years ago a man by the name of John Lewis came to Pikeville, a pipe in his mouth, and a case under his arm enclosing a horn.

This dedicated man went from town to town blowing the fun and facts of life out of young people--some hardly hefty enough to carry an oboe.

Each succeeding year has found music on the gain. Now there is no stopping it. You see your sons and daughters on the street on parade, on the football field doing intricate drills and at basketball games whooping it up for the home team.

Look what's happening! Young musicians by the hundreds came to Morehead State College two weeks ago during the cold and snow to take part in a clinic set up by the department of music. Neither cold nor snow hindered them as they studied with some of the world's finest musicians who served as clinicians for the clinic.

These, then, are the people who will make you happy at public occasions. They are your sons and your daughters. And you will be ever so proud.

It is our humble hope for all girls and boys that someday they will have the experience of belonging to a band, some kind of a band, all the way from a beginner's group to the thrill of having a chair in a great concert band.

HEADLIGHTS

Sgt. Eugene E. Berry of the United States Air Force Recruiting Service made the following statement today: We of the United States Air Force Recruiting Service wish to express our appreciation for the thoughtfulness and consideration shown by the residents of Nicholas County. We have a habit of driving around in our staff cars with our headlights on, and many local residents have brought this to our attention by means of phone calls, flashing their own headlights, or waving frantically at our passing vehicle.

We thank you for your interest. However, we should point out that we know our headlights are on, because we are required by military regulation to turn them on. The USAFRS has found, in a recent study conducted in cooperation with Greyhound Bus Company that the use of headlights is a definite safety factor. Since our staff vehicles travel several million miles each year, we are concerned about safety-not only our own safety, but the safety of the residents of our community. So, the next time you see a blue staff car with the distinctive USAFRS emblem on the door and its headlights burning, don't panic. In fact, why not contribute to the reduction of accidents here in Nicholas County by smiling at us and turning on your headlights, too?

PLANNING TO MOVE?
If you plan to move or if your mailing address is to be changed, please let us know early so that you will have your Mercury without interruption. Thank you for your cooperation.

Falmouth Dam Funds May Be Included In Next Budget

Budget Bureau heads denied a March 5 request by Northern Kentucky officials for inclusion of Falmouth Dam funds in the fiscal 1965-66 budget. However, they were told such funds may be included in the new budget next January.

This is only one round to our credit in the fight against this dam. If we do not renew our efforts, sooner or later we will find these funds appropriated. Once the money is approved by congress the fight is lost. There will be nothing we can do to stop the dam then.

You say this project won't affect you? Think it over again. Once built, it will have an effect on practically all of us in one way or another.

If you believe in our cause now is the time to join the fight. We can win but only with your help.

Remember the elections that have carried by only a few votes? Perhaps you stayed at home and found the next day your cause was lost. Don't let this happen now. Write your congressmen and join the Licking Valley Protective Association.

TWO ORBIT EARTH

Astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young, Tuesday manauvered their space craft during 3 orbits of the earth and still had 35 percent of their fuel left. The craft was landed safely within 50 miles of the intended letdown point.

A NEW CHAPTER for Nicholas County library service was written in Frankfort last Friday (March 19) as Joe Conley, treasurer of the county library board, accepted from Governor Edward T. Breathitt part of the $59,340 in Federal matching funds allocated by the State Department of Libraries for a new library at Carlisle. At the ceremony (from left) were Miss Margaret Willis, State librarian; Conley; Mrs. Mary K. Dawkins, Buffalo Trace Regional librarian; Governor Breathitt; and Ralph Shearer, chairman of the library board. The new library structure will also house the headquarters of the Buffalo Trace Region.

Registration For 4-H Automotive Program Underway Tonight, March 25

This week marks the beginning of the 4-H Automotive Program for teenagers in the high school freshman and sophomore groups.

R. L. Talbert, chairman of the Automotive Steering Committee, announced that the first meeting of the boys and girls interested in participating in this activity will be held tonight (Thursday, March 25) at the Carlisle Methodist Church assembly room.

Several leaders will be assisting with the program which promises to be one of the most interesting yet developed for high school teenagers.

Meetings will be held on Thursday nights for the next several weeks to enable completion of the program before the end-of-the-4-h-y1-year activities begin.

Further details can be obtained by contacting Mr. Talbert or Thomas Stevens, Jr., Associate Extension Agent.

Johnson-Mathers Has 17 Residents

William Smith, administrator of the new home for the elderly, states that there are now 17 residents at the home. Mr. Smith is quite pleased with the manner in which it has been possible to get the new home underway, and states that they continue to receive many compliments on the beauty of the home. He urges anyone who has not seen it to visit it soon.

Before the home was opened, it was thought that the dining room might occasionally be used for a meeting place for local civic organizations, but it appears that the noise and gathering of people would disturb the elderly residents, and it is thought advisable that the dining room not be used for these purposes.

There had also been some discussion among the members of the Board of Directors, prior to the opening of the home, that it might be possible to serve dinners on Sunday to the general public, but upon careful consideration the Board has adopted the policy of not using the dining room to serve the general public. The home will qualify to re-

Basketball Banquet Tonight

Coach Bob Davis of Georgetown College will be the guest speaker at the annual basketball awards banquet Thursday, March 25, at Nicholas County High School Cafeteria.

Graduating from Georgetown College in 1950 with an A. B. Degree, Davis has been Georgetown's coach for 12 years. Davis's teams have won 246 games while losing 115 games. His teams have also won the K.I.A.C. season championship seven times and the K.I.A.C. tournament five times. Davis has taken Georgetown College to the N.A.I.A. tournament eight times. He has produced four "Little All-Americans while at Georgetown.

Horse Pulling Contest May 1

The Lloyd George Post No. 86-Ky. Veterans of Foreign Wars is sponsoring a horse pulling contest on Saturday, May 1, at 7; 30 p.m.

The contest will be held on the County Farm on the Paris road and is for horses in the lightweight class under 2800 pounds and the heavyweight class under 3200 pounds. Premiums of $70, $55, $40, $25, and $10 in each class. Entrancf fee is set at $10.

Local Man Hurt In Traffic Mishap

A local man suffered minor injuries early Sunday when his car ran of the Paris Pike near the Iron Works Road, Lexington, Fayette County police said.

Donald R. Smith, 25, was treated at Good Samaritan Hospital for a forehead cut and pains of the left hand.

Smith told police he did not know exactly how the accident happened but he believes he fell asleep and the car struck a utility pole.

BABE RUTH SIGNUP SET

All boys eligible to play in the Babe Ruth Baseball League are asked to report to Jim Gill before April 1, and signup.

Advertising Pays!

"This has made a believer out of me!" "I didn't know so many people read the ad," said Jewell Vice of Reid, Vice and Green, while in The Mercury Office Tuesday morning (placing another ad).

Mr. Vice's ad in last week's Mercury resulted in numerous sales of plywood and pre-finished panel board. Many had even cut the ad out of the paper and brought it in, he added.

23 Take Part In 4-H Speech Event

One of the largest groups of Nicholas County 4-H members ever to participate in a county speech event gathered at the courthouse Tuesday night, March 16, to compete for the honor of representing Nicholas County at the district speech contests to be held later this spring.

The boys and girls presented a very interesting variety of subjects as follows:

Mary Ann Gaunce-Nobody Loves a Litterbug, Jo Ann McKee-Cheating in School, Doris Darrell-Kentucky, the Land I Love; Jack Sexton-Make Kentucky a Cleaner, Greener Land, Randy Stevens-Man' s Search of Space, William Ray Hunter-Safety on the Farm, Mary Ellen Stone-Can Democracy Endure?, Claude Campbell-The Sportsman's Stake, Larry Trussell-How the Name 4-H Began, Dennis Hunt-Keeping Kentucky Beautiful, Phillip Gillispie-The Custodians of Wildlife; Jackie Coatney-What I Want to be When I Grow Up, David Ritchie --Communism; Joyce Ann Tincher-The Farmer's Challenge, Carolyn Tolson-Budgeting the Farmer's Land; Phyllis Workman-Be a Better You, Ruby Darrell-Fellow Citizens; Ann Burden-Make Your Own Happiness, Alice Faye Tapp-Kentucky's Beauty, Everyone's Duty; Joe Burden-Don't Be a Dropout, Larry Wills-Kentucky's Voice of Agriculture; D. Winners of the event were as follows:

Junior Girls Division-Ann Burden.

Junior Boys Division-Joe Burden.

Senior Girls Division-Mary Ellen Stone.

Senior Boys Division-D. W. Booth.

These four winners will compete at the district speech contests later this spring.

All who participated in the speech contest or assisted with the event are to be congratulated for a job well done.

New Bulldozer Delivered

Fred Jones, heavy equipment owner and operator, accepted delivery of a new bulldozer last week. Lovell Hollar and Charles Whaley, Supervisors of the Nicholas County Soil Conservation District, observed the equipment as its first job of land clearing was started on the Elgin Clark farm near Moorefield.

The Kentucky Division of Soil and Water Resources assists Soil Conservation Districts by making money available for loans to purchase equipment for conservation work.

Jones now owns four bulldozers and other earth-moving equipment. This makes almost $100,000 worth of equipment that has been brought into the county to do conservation work through the efforts of the Nicholas County SCD in cooperation with heavy equipment operators.

Other operators in the county who have been benefited from this type of financial assistance includes Clifton Waugh and Bill and Russell Alexander.
