MARKETING HOCS
It was reported to us recently that the market for hogs over at Carlisle sold hogs weighing 230 lbs. in four months and three weeks from birth with a feed cost of a little less than 11¢ per pound of gain. Mr. Smith is a strong supporter of the Purina Hog Program. Keep up the good work Mr. Smith.

QUARTER BILLION DOLLARS A YEAR
Cattle worms cost American cattlemen an estimated quarter billion dollars a year, according to a survey of cattle worm infestation. The presence of cattle worms in a herd seldom suspected, until serious damage has been done. It is safer to assume that your cattle are infested by worms than to assume they aren't infested, since even apparently healthy cattle can be infested from worms. Even a light burden will result in a marked reduction in weight gain, decreased feed efficiency and severe stress. Let us show you how little it costs to worm your cattle with Purina Warm Blood Cattle Dewormer.

PUBLIC CATTLE DEMONSTRATION
Fifteen head of cattle were officially weighed at the Purina Cattle Stockyards, Paris, Ky. Friday and then placed on a feed of their right. All they could eat. These cattle came off grass and were on full feed the next day. These cattle are eating out of a self-feeder and are on Purina's Complete Cattle Starter. They will be weighed every Friday through the end of the year. The results will be announced at the stockyards every Friday. Stop by the New Paris Stockyards and see the self-feeder put on beefsteak, efficiently and at low cost. Mark your calendar for Sept. 10. New Paris Stockyards. I. P. M.

KEA Discusses Tax Legislation
Louisville — Kentucky Education Association president Richard VanHoose announced today that the KEA board of directors, meeting in emergency session to discuss the special General Assembly session planned for August 23 to consider property-tax legislation, took a unanimous stand against altering the present statutory tax limit at that time. This was a step, the board said in a statement, would be premature and ill-advised for these reasons:

1. It will not be possible to make a meaningful body to predict in August what actual assessments are going to be in 1966. The recent court decision requiring assessment of fair cash value will take time to implement more time in some counties to implement uniformity in assessment practices is unsatisfactory.
2. Setting a different assessment ceiling now would cause irreparable harm to educational opportunities in many Kentucky counties. A rate reduction based on inadequate data would cripple educational and industrial growth.
3. Equalization is the issue. It should be assessed at a higher rate than his neighbor. Equalization should be completed before any new rate reduction is needed. It is imposed by the Legislature.

Don't Knock The Ball Off John! Easy Does IT

That was the task presented to Johnny Kerns at the District 4-H tractor driving contest held at Georgetown last week.

Johnny is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Kerns and is actively participating in the district event as a tractor driver. He is competing in the contest held during the Nicholas County Youth Fair.

There were representatives from seventeen central and northern Kentucky counties. Each driver had to do more than just drive in order to participate. The program involved a written quiz on the 4-H tractor project book that was used in the tractor classes held earlier this year. This written quiz was not an easy one. There were questions on safety with the tractor, what makes an engine run, the operator's manual, nuts, bolts, screws, and rivets, the instrument panel, controls on the tractor, and daily maintenance and safety checks.

Each driver was required to find out what was wrong with a "bugged" tractor. Things such as a loose fuel tank cap, crossed spark plug wires, and several other items were spotted.

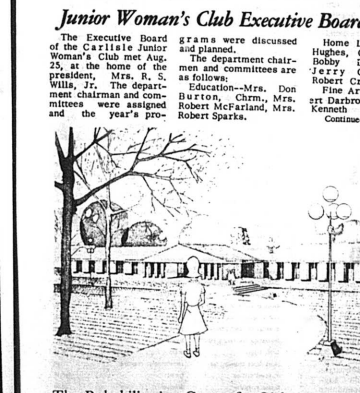

After all the preliminary testing, the boys got down to the business at hand: driving. There were three types of courses for the contestants. In the Junior division under 14 years of age as of January 1, 1965, the boys drove the course with a two-wheeled vehicle and a tractor. It may look easy to maneuver a tractor in any space desired, but just try backing one into a space just six inches wider than the tractor. With the two-wheeled spreader the boys were using, it wasn't so bad. But when the Senior boys took hold of the four-wheeled wagon, it was a different story completely. Unless you have had a lot of practice, you probably will not be able to back it in a straight line. Ask any farmer. Many of them admit that they are not good at backing a four-wheeled wagon.

You also find "why all this fuss about driving tractors and finding what's wrong with bugged tractors". The 4-H Tractor Program gives farm boys an opportunity to learn better tractor care, to use the farm tractor safely, and to get longer life, more power, and lower operating costs for all farm machinery. They also learn how to do many of the small yet important tractor maintenance jobs to cut down on costly breakdowns. With more than 1200 deaths from tractor accidents each year on U. S. farms along with thousands of injuries and loss of hours of work, safety is one of the prime objectives for the 4-H Tractor Program.

Each year Standard Oil presents several awards to the club members having the outstanding record in the 4-H Tractor Project. On a county level, four gold-filled medals of honor are presented to the blue award group. To the state Senior Champion, an all-expense paid trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago is awarded. On a national level, educational scholarships of $500 each are awarded to two of the state winners. With such a worthy and beneficial program available to participate in, the program will be available to Nicholas County boys and girls again this year. For additional information, contact Thomas Stevens, Jr., Association Extension Agent.

Incidentally, Johnny received a blue ribbon for his efforts at the District
