CATTLE GAIN 3.4 LBS. PER DAY

We are informed this week that the cattle at the Cincinnati Union Stockyards Demonstration gained 3.4 lbs. per head per day during the first 14 days on feed. One individual steer gained 6.4 lbs. per day. The cattle required only 5.44 lbs. of Purina Cattle Starters to put on a lb. of gain. Cost per pound of gain was 16.8 cents. Average daily consumption was 18.6 pounds of feed per head. Visit this important cattle demonstration. See how you can feed cattle on your farm with very little investment in equipment, land and labor. No hay, pasture or silage needed. No daily feeding chores. Cattle eat from a self-feeder. Let us discuss this opportunity with you.

BE READY FOR BETTER MILK PRICES

A recent article in the Cincinnati Enquirer stated that this country may be facing a milk shortage this fall and late summer. Better milk prices will be needed. Will your cows be able to produce at their breed in capacity? Will they be producing you milk at the lowest cost and still be at peak production? One sure way to add needed body condition to your cows is to top feed Purina Golden Bulky or mix it in your ration. Purina Golden Bulky is a sweet-tasting, nutritious, high vitamin A supplement. New Golden Bulky also helps put solid body condition, not fat, on dry cows and heifers when mixed with your grain. Purina Golden Bulky is also a food corn stretcher since there are six bushels in a 100 pounds. See us today for Purina Golden Bulky.

CORN RUNNING LOW

We sure would like to tell you about NEW Purina Checkerboard Dairy 16%. New Checkerboard Dairy 16% Pellet Dairy Ration is now lower in fiber and higher in energy. We call it ENT, extra nutrition per ton. By reducing the fiber level and firmness of the pellet which reduced moisture by 2%, Purina Research was able to give you 70 lbs. of extra nutrition per ton without additional cost to you. This is an all grain ration that can provide your cows with proper, low cost nutrition to produce more milk. Check with our special bulk price. Be surprised . . . we were.

Taxes Are Not Increased; Vandalism Report Not True

Taxes were not voted to be increased at the April 7, Nicholas County School Board meeting, as was erroneously reported in a daily newspaper last Friday. Dr. A. A. Page, superintendent, stated Tuesday, "No definite or permanent action was taken by the school board on increasing taxes."

In addition, a report of vandalism at the newportion of school which is under construction, also proved false. This reporter talked with several persons closely connected with the school affairs, and an inspection of the premises made by Dr. Page and others failed to show any form of vandalism. In-fact, as of Tuesday, only four window panes have been damaged in the old section of the school building and one of these by a teacher, this in itself, is a record any school principal could be proud of.

Dr. Page was also very complimentary of the students and school faculty.

Tigers Win JC Little League Basketball Tournament

The 1965-66 Little League program came to an end Saturday with the Gassers playing the Tigers for the tournament championship.

This game was probably one of the best games ever to be played in Little League competition and by far the most exciting with the score after regulation being tied 24 all.

The Tigers had led most of the game but the Gassers rallied to force the game into overtime action.

Neither team scored in the first overtime, but Billy Allison, of the Tigers, hit a foul shot in the second to give his team a 25-24 lead, and with the pressure on both teams, this was the final score.

Phil Eeton led the winning Tigers with 13 points, while Charlie Jolly and Ernest Watkins had 7 each for the losing Gassers.

Viehman Is Secretary-Manager Of Kentucky Press Association

Arthur John Vieham Jr., of Frankfort, the statewide sales supervisor for an insurance company, has been appointed secretary-manager of the Kentucky Press Association and the Kentucky Press Service.

His appointment was announced by Larry Stone, Central City, president of the Kentucky Press Association; George M. Wilson, Irvington, president of the Kentucky Press Service, and Dr. Robert Murphy, director of the University of Kentucky School of Journalism.

Professor Victor R. Portmann, whom he succeeds, has been secretary-manager of the newspaper organizations for 24 years. He will become secretary-manager emeritus of KPA about May 15 when Viehman formally takes over management of the KPA-KPS central office in the Journalism Building on the University of Kentucky campus.

The new secretary-manager will be a full-time employe of the newspapers of Kentucky. A native of Huntington, W. Va., he holds a Bachelor of Science degree in business administration-journalism from Marshall University at Huntington. His wife, the former Kay Cloninger of Gastonia, N. C., was an assistant planner with the Kentucky Department of Commerce at Frankfort.

Viehman lived in Lexington some years ago when his father, who is now head of a large hospital in Birmingham, Ala., was associated with Julius Marks Sanatorium.

As secretary-manager of the press association, he will manage the annual winter and summer convention of the two press groups, edit the Kentucky Press magazine, prepare industry newsletters and act as representative of Kentucky weekly and community daily newspapers in the sale of advertising to manufacturers, distributors and service companies.

Miss Florida R. Garrison, the secretary and office manager in the Kentucky Press Association central office, will continue in that capacity. Professor Portmann, who previously had been retired by the University from his position on the school of journalism faculty, will receive retirement pay from the press association and its affiliated press service.

Special tribute will be paid to Professor Portmann for his long service to the newspapers of Kentucky during a special program at the mid-summer Kentucky Press Association meeting at Cumberland Falls State Park in June.

Professor Portman had requested release from active work with the press association and the press service sometime ago. A special committee headed by Al Schansberg of the Voice-Jefferson at St. Matthews considered a number of applicants for the press-service job before deciding to recommend Viehman.

Meanwhile, an objectives committee headed by
