Keep Growing--READ

(by S. Gilbert Wood, Kentucky Chairman (General Manager, Versailles Branch, Texas Instruments, Inc.) The theme for National Library Week is "Keep Growing--Read". This is a good time for you to visit their libraries, look at them critically, discover the treasures which exist here, and also note the many things which may be lacking.

be possible as well; if we take the trouble to back these bills, and with more state and local support, Kentucky can begin to develop a modern library system, which is the most effective and most economical method of bringing the best and most up to date information to everyone.

The Elementary and Secondary Education Act is building stronger school libraries. The Higher Education Act will help college libraries. Under an improved Library Services and Construction Act, which has just been introduced in the House (H.R. 14050) and Senate (S. 3070) some improvement in public libraries may How good is our library service? How do we use it? How can we improve it? It is up to us to help find the answers.

'Agree or Not, I say what I Think...'

time that he had to make the announcement early before Ward pre-empted it. The big push isn't on for Ward at this time or for any other candidates for that matter.

Also figuring in the picture four years ago was the fact that Gladys Hunter had been running for more than a year as an anti-administration candidate for the nomination and he was getting his campaign machinery set in motion throughout the state.

Wardfield is the nominal head of the anti-administration segment in the former Gov. A. B. Chandler's camp. He has been careful not to align himself with either side although he was attorney general under Combs, and it would ill behoove either Observers here look back at 1962 when Combs announced Derby week-end that he would support a third time when he was attorney general. The timing is the same now. Circumstances are a little different.

Ward was being pushed by an influential group of men who were running for U. S. Senator against Thurston B. Morton, had asked Combs to wait until the state race was over. But Combs apparently felt that it

SHORT AND SWEET

Praises of the flowering dogwood, national symbol of spring, have been sung by American poets, writers and statesmen since the early days of the republic.

Such well-known literary figures as Henry David Thoreau, Christopher Morley, Jane Stuart and A. E. Housman have paid tribute to the tree and used it in his landscaping of Monticello and the University of Virginia.

Do you know how to tell termites from ants? The two are often confused, but they look somewhat alike. Similar, according to Dr. Richard Miller, UK Extension entomologist.

Use Starter Solution When Setting Out Plants. A starter solution should be used when setting plants in the garden.

Formulas vary as to quantity of material contained. If a tablespoonful of the material is recommended to each gallon of water, this does not mean that three or four tablespoons will give better results.

When a starter solution is applied, you are sure that a small amount of nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium is in the soil around the roots.

ly available for the planter. If a special starter solution is not available, you can use a 10-10-10 fertilizer, used at the rate of one cupful in 12 quarts of water.

Use one cupful of the solution around each plant. The use of starter solution helps prevent shock to the young transplants and will get them started quickly in the garden.

1. Have early pasture that terminates awn and wings of equal length. Ants also have two pairs of wings, but the longer than the other.

2. Fill cattle up with hay during the night for the first 3-5 days cattle go to pasture.

3. Turn the cattle on the young lush pasture for only a short time in the afternoon the first few days.

4. Wait until after dew is gone in mornings the first 7-10 days before return in just after rain.

5. Watch cattle that has been burned to pasture even though the preceding precautions have been taken.

6. If you find an animal that has bloated, get the animal up and walk him around; if the case is bad
