

School Days Are Calling

All good things come to an end—at least temporarily. And so it will be on August 29, when the long school holiday draws to a close. Very shortly hundreds of youngsters will be abandoning their school books once again in Nicholas County. Other millions elsewhere will do the same. While it is true that an educated man does not get all his education in the classroom, the fact remains that formal education is the foundation and best hope of civilization. Education is the bedrock of tolerance and understanding. Tomorrow's scientists, men of medicine, agriculture, the arts and business will be training back to the halls of learning. Their return is an example of a steady advance toward a better way of life.

An article we were reading the other day revealed that there were 600 taxes on a house that one-fourth the price you pay for a new car is in taxes, hidden and direct. The same day the basis for most breakfasts has 100 hidden taxes on it, and there are 150 taxes on a woman's hat. Other figures, more local in nature, 52% of our county potential is lost to outside competition. Nicholas County's Personal Income after taxes for 1965 was $7,722,000, an increase of $647,000 over 1964. After taxes our county produced $4,190,000, an increase of $60,000—in other words, we kept less than 1% of the increase money from going outside the county retail areas. —M.V.—

Sounds in the evening, especially sounds of carrying new bodies of water. For instance take, Monday night, the caller's voice, form a circle, "business your partner" and 27 counties will be rattling tune, hundreds of 4-1 year olds from each of 27 counties have enjoyed the North Central Camp this year, and hundreds more will continue too, each summer. —M.V.—

Frankfort, Ky.—The field of Democratic gubernatorial eligibility for administration support national reportedly narrowed down to Highway Commissioner Henry Ward and Atty. Gen. Robert Matthews.

It was the same old story of four years ago—youth versus age. However, the trial balloon of last week that Gov. Edward I. Breathitt had apparently given his blessing to Ward is stoutly denied by the chief executive who says his position is the same as earlier this year—former Gov. Bert I. Coombs holds the primary spot if he wants to run, and father that Breathitt wants to get the senatorial and congressional races over before getting into the gubernatorial campaign for 1967.

Political observers here labeled the Ward trial balloon story as an effort of some of Ward's supporters to swing enough public opinion in his favor to press the governor into acquiescing. It may be so. Ward has signaled publicly that he is receptive to the needs of the state and the delivery man's office in the regular session earlier this year. Both Ward and Matthews have support within the administration to get the nod for next year.

Don't be "labeled" by the "529,000ers" —Aluminum siding may be exactly what you want and need for your home, but don't be taken by the "529,000ers" as they are known in the trade. This group may canvass your home by mail or door-to-door. Persuade you will be told why price includes labor and siding for any size home up to 1,000 square feet. Stop and think. Aluminum siding is sold in quantities. Call a reputable building supply company and find the price of the metal without installation. How many square feet in your house? A thousand-square-foot house is considerably smaller than the national average.

The "529,000ers" as a group, are known as "the white-washed" artists who will offer this bargain but sign you up for a much more expensive job. The Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office asks your support in putting this type operation out of business.

I've been taking it since 1900—when my father, Charlie Mann, subscribed for it in my name. I'm 56 years young. So you can see I'm just like new from my home town for all my childhood days were spent in and around Carlisle. So here's the news coming and Good Luck to all my old friends and the good paper.

statements aimed against him by several members of the governor's group. Ward made his defense in a letter to the governor, and then proceeded to point out his experience and qualifications to become chief executive.

How much youth, television personality, and other factors may weigh in the final decision is unknown, but it is safe to speculate now that the governor will not make his decision this winter to meet the demands of a new

Local Business Young Families Are Controlling Most of Buying

By S. E. TALLENT
Chairman, Dept. of Distribution
Bureau of Economic Development of Mississippi
Dramatic changes are taking place in the American family conditions which affect every type of business. American families are becoming younger, wealthier and smaller.

In the next ten years the number of families under 35 years of age will increase 50 percent. The new families will have fewer children to support.
While ten years ago, economically predicted, the number of families in the United States earning more than $10,000 per year will double. The newly affluent families will control more than two-thirds of the buying power in the country. The same families will control virtually all of the optional buying power, that is, the ability to buy as they choose after the necessities of living have been met.

Picnic Cutting.
How to entertain your youngsters on birthdays and special occasions is an easy decision in summer. Most times out of ten they'll vote for a picnic or cook-out. Foods go with outdoor setting are abundantly available this season.

To keep the menu both varied and simple, it pays to be an early bird and get picnic plans in motion ahead of time. Fry the chicken on a cool morning or evening, then wrap and store in the freezer until the day of the outing. The chicken can travel to the picnic site while still frozen and you will be assured of a fresh appearing main dish at serving time.

Picnic salads are another make-ahead dish that must be kept chilled. For fresh, flavor-boost out some mayonnaise or salad dressing when preparing at home. Take it along to the picnic in the salad jar before serving. Salad greens should be washed and prepared at home, and stored in plastic wrap or in the bowl you plan to serve from. Cover it tightly and keep it cool, of course. Add tomatoes, cucumbers or other salad items when it's eating time.

For a hearty menu, a hot dish of baked beans may be in order. Wrap the hot casserole in a double layer of foil, then in several layers of newspapers for insulation, and it will stay warm 2-3 hours. Pack hot and cold foods in separate carrying containers. Insulated containers help keep food fresh.

Coffee-on-the-cob roasted over the coals is easy if you prepare the coals at home. The good way to do this is to pack the coals without detaching them, and remove the sticks. Pull the banks back over the coals and secure with a piece of bank or string. Soak the ears in water for about 30 minutes and
