that are white, red, pink, lavender, rose, maroon. This needs a cool to degree night temperature. To water is safer from the heat of the day put on the evening and over-moistened, thus inviting rot. Anemones are popular. There are many tender kinds that must be brought indoors each winter, and hardy kinds that can be planted in the garden permanently and will bloom over many weeks. The tender kinds are the miniature types in shape. The hardy ones branch out closer to the ground. The double four luxury garden center, or best to call them, are the one you select is handy or not.

Laidie Beauty
Primitives have blossoms that look like pastel Christmas trees. Select plants with lots of bloom over many weeks. Some plants are watered and fed regularly and temperature in the room is below 60 degrees at night. The Christmas poppies in bud should much the same as the Jerusalem cherry. Among smaller plants, latoban and African violet are tops for Christmas. A white flowered African violet in

South of the Border It's Posadas at Christmas

Santa Claus, the Christmas tree and holiday the Best of New Year. They don't mean much to folks south of the border. And because they don't, visitors to Phoenix, Arizona, and the Valley of the Sun can enjoy some unusual and interesting customs. The traditional method of greeting Christmas in Mexico is by means of posadas and piñatas. Piñatas, usually of earthenware, are suspended from the rafters of a room. The piñatas are decorated with colorful streamers and are filled with small gifts. The piñatas are broken by means of a stick, and the contents are scattered about the room. Calafed Posadas
The posadas among the most colorful of Mexican customs. Posadas emphasize the religious aspect of the holiday. They begin about nine days before Christmas. A couple of nights before Christmas, usually accompanied by a religious procession, the piñatas are broken. The piñatas are broken by means of a stick, and the contents are scattered about the room. The piñatas are broken by means of a stick, and the contents are scattered about the room.

Pot Plant Is Popular Gift
The poinsettia is the traditional Christmas plant, yet an upsurge in the popularity of indoor gardening has brought a number of flowering plants into the gift category. Plants that prosper, that are easy to care for, and that many a gift for this season. Before the poinsettia pot plants as the Jerusalem cherry. Its round, red fruit is especially appropriate for the holiday season. It sends
