similar farms — may ask the county committee to reconsider the matter. Such requests should be made in writing and mailed or delivered to the county committee within 15 days from the mailing date shown on the notice.

To take part in the programs, the farm operator first files his intentions on a preacribed application form at the ASCS county office during the signup period. This period starts January 31, 1966 and will extend through April 1, 1966.

Food Theme of Youthpower Conference

"Food Comes First"

This will be the theme for the 3rd annual state Youthpower Conference which will be going on in Louisville this weekend, Jan. 28-29.

Youthpower began as a project of the 1960 National Food Conference and has become a nationwide movement to emphasize concern about teenager eating habits and culture, social and economic value of food. Other objectives of Youthpower include; improving teenage nutrition, understanding of the farm-to-table story of food, acquainting teenagers with careers in the food industry and developing cooperation between youth groups.

There will be 140 4-H members, Boy Scouts, girl Scouts, FFA and FHA members and Distribution Education Clubs of America in attendance. Selection of delegates was based on leadership in 4-H, school and other activities and ability to promote Youthpower ideas after returning home from the conference.

Some of the speakers at the conference will be Dr. Harry Sparks, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Bob Hanna, vice-president of the Sealtest Dairy Industry. Also highlighting the program will be tours of representative food industries in the Louisville area.

This promises to be a most worthwhile conference and will aid in helping to solve the teenage nutrition problem facing so many parents today.

Wheat Growers To Have Choice

The 1966 voluntary wheat program offers several options to farmers so they can best plan their individual operations, according to Freeman M. Hockensmith, Chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee.

The options include planting wheat on all allotment acres, diverting allotment acres from production to conserving uses for payment, overplanting the allotment by up to 50 percent and storing the excess production for bad crop years, substituting wheat for feed grains or feed grains for wheat, and substituting wheat for oats and rye.

Farmers should investigate each of the options to see which is best for their own farms, Mr. Hockensmith said. Full details of the program are available at the ASCS County Office.

Mr. Hockensmith said the signup period extends from January 31 to April 1, in Kentucky.

TOO MUCH SLEET!

Too much rain, snow and sleet was the downfall of this cloth awning at the Teen Inn on Locust Street. Sometime Tuesday evening or early Wednesday morning, the ice enshrouded shade came down. The man with the snow shovel is George Summers.

Winter descended on Carlisle and the Nicholas County area not unlike a period in 1950-51, although many proclaimed the snow accumulation as the worst in 50 years. Some four inches of new snow fell Monday evening, turning to sleet and freezing rain most of Tuesday. Then nature added another inch of snow Tuesday night. Traffic in the area was virtually at a standstill, only those who found it necessary to be out attempted to battle with the elements. Except in cleared areas, snow tires were of little use, as low slung-cars buried themselves in drifts. State crews did their best to keep the main highways clear of the accumulation which surpassed 12 inches, packed-down. According to all reports, driving was considered hazardous throughout the state. City crews under the direction of Brooks Henson used the city tractor and blade in an attempt to widen the street and areas next to the curb on Locust Street near the Christian Church Wednesday morning. The above picture taken early Wednesday morning is not unlike a picture published on page ten, taken nearly 16 years ago.

Burley Quotas Announced; Referendum Set March 10

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman today announced a referendum among Burley tobacco growers in order that they could decide between the continuation of the present acreage allotment program with a 15 percent cut in allotments for most farms for 1966 and an acreage-poundage program under which acreage allotments would be increased for Burley growers for 1966 by approximately 6 percent.

Increases in per acre yields in recent years have resulted in a build-up in Burley supplies.

Under an acreage-poundage program supplies would be brought in line with demand.

Details of the two programs were announced. Under the acreage allotment program, the acreage available for allotment will be 243,854 acres in 1966. The acreage allotted in 1965 was 286,000 acres. Thus, farm acreage allotments will be 15 percent smaller for most farms in 1966 than in 1965 if the present program is continued. As provided by law, however, no allotment will be reduced below the smallest of (1) the allotment established for the farm for 1965, (2) five-tenths of an acre, or (3) ten percent of the cropland in the farm.

Department officials pointed out that the reduction in allotments under the acreage allotment program were due to substantial increase in per acre yields in recent years which have caused a build-up in Burley supplies. Production during the past 4 marketing years has exceeded domestic usage and exports by 288 million pounds.

Under the acreage-poundage quota announced today, the national marketing quota for 1966 is 625 million pounds. The acreage-poundage legislation provides more flexibility in establishing the annual marketing quota and the resulting farm acreage allotments since the poundage quotas provide protection against excessive marketings.

Officials pointed out that a quota of 625 millions pound will maintain an adequate supply for both domestic use and export, and will effect an orderly reduction in supply.

A national average yield goal of 2,050 pounds per acre was announced. It was determined that this yield on a national average basis will approve or insure the usability of the tobacco and increase the net return per pound to the growers. This yield is about 100 pounds per acre below the average of the past three years.

The national acreage allotment under acreage-poundage is determined by dividing the national marketing quota by the national average yield goal. Thus, the national

Fire Destroys Clothing; Help Sought for Family

A fire Saturday destroyed most of the children's clothing of the Jesse Bach family on the Lower Jackstown Road. Persons who desire to help this family, with either clothing or money, are asked to contact the Rev. August Peters or Police Chief Eugene Kelley. The Bach's have nine children, ranging in age from two to 17 years.

The Nicholas County Fire Department answered the call at approximately 12;10 p.m. The house owned by Clifton Waugh was saved, although the second floor was extensively damaged.

Extra water to fight the fire was hauled by Bob Chanslor from the city reservoir.

GuardTo Collect Clothing For Appalachia

Second Lt. Ralph W. Taylor, Communications Officer of the local National Guard unit stated that his organization has undertaken the task of collecting children's and adults clothing in support of the Annual Clothing Collection drive, benefiting "Save The Children Federation."

This drive is for the needy people of the Appalachian areas of Kentucky, Tennessee and Western Virginia. It has been pointed out in many newspaper and television reports the dire need in this area due to the mass unemployment in the coal industry.

Lt. Taylor listed the items most needed as blue jeans, sweaters, diapers, dresses, shoes, coats, shirts, pants, pajamas, blankets, overshoes and all types of underwear.

Nicholas Countians are urged to join the local Guard Unit in support of this humanitarian project by giving some of these items during this drive starting February 1.

Special bags may be obtained at the National Guard Armory or you may bring your clothing to the Armory.

Clear Snow From All Mail Boxes

Rural Mail partons are reminded that mail boxes must be placed so that they may be safely and conveniently served by carriers without leaving their conveyances. Patrons must remove obstructions, including snow, that make delivery difficult.

These rules must be observed by all concerned to have effective delivery. Your cooperation is solicited.

Carriers are not required to deliver mail unless these regulations are observed.

Deposit Bank To Observe 100th Anniversary Feb. 11

One-hundred years of service to a community is something few businesses in this area can lay claim to. Observing its 100th Anniversary throughout the year of 1966, is the Deposit Bank of Carlisle. Friday, Feb. 11, has been chosen for the anniversary celebration since the bank's actual organization date falls on Sunday.

Special invitations have been sent many persons whose families were associated with the bank, and everyone is cordially invited to visit with the officers, directors and personnel on Friday, Feb. 11.

The bank was organized on the 13th day of February, 1866, by four Carlisle citizens, namely, F. E. Congleton, William Dinsmore, B. F. Adair and W. P. Ross.

Better Education Committee Holds Meeting Monday

The Citizens' Committee for Better Education met Monday at 8:00 p.m. in the Court House. The plan to prepare informational material concerning procedures and responsibilities of Board Members, school officials and local citizens was further discussed and a decision reached to circulate the material through the means of the newspaper and to publish it as a weekly column. It was announced that the source book of the information published would be given and the reference books will be available at all times on the Reference Shelves of the Nicholas County Library.

The purpose of this information is to promote better communication between Nicholas County citizens and the Nicholas County Board of Education, by informing the public of the rules and laws that govern school boards in the State of Kentucky.

The next meeting of the organization will be Thursday, Feb. 10, at 8:00 p.m. in the court house.

All persons in Nicholas County are urged to attend. All meetings are public meetings.

Bond Sales Short of Goal

The Series E and H Savings Bonds sales in Nicholas County during December were $11,665, bringing the final sales for the year to $69,520 or 49.9% of the annual goal of $140,400.

For Kentucky, sales of both series for the same month totaled $4,252,355, bringing the cumulative sales to $51,321,177 or 95.4% of the $54,000,000 annual goal.

FARM BRINGS $29,645

A 490 acre farm was sold Saturday by Earl Hamm, local auctioneer, for Mrs. Reynolda F. Gaunce and Mrs. Frankie Feeback. The farm brought $60.50 an acre for a total of $29,645, and was purchased by Maurice Cameron.
