Senior Citizens Should Have Interests After Retirement

People sometimes look forward to retiring and getting away from the pressures of work, only to find themselves feeling useless in a world of many people after retirement. For good mental health at any age, a person must have a feeling of achievement, of accomplishing something, according to UK Extension family life specialists. Too many people after retirement only without a purpose and start feeling sorry for themselves because they're no longer "needed." They "rust out" rather than "wear out" because they fail to keep their minds busy. May is Senior Citizens Month, with the theme "A New Day for the Older American." If you are nearing retirement age, this is a good time to make sure the "new days" of your later years will find you alert and interested, not bored and lonely. Have something to do, as well as after retirement, it will be fun to "lose" for a while and just take it easy. But, before you do, you may find yourself wishing for "something to get up for" in the time you make every day count—for yourself and for others—when you become a senior citizen, you'll need to start now to broaden your interests—if you haven't already done so. Friends can help serve as "insurance" against boredom and loneliness. The UK specialists note—not only old friends, but new friends, too. Since it's sometimes harder to keep social contacts after retiring, belonging to a group of some sort and taking part in social activities are important for satisfying older years. Remember, too, that a hobby can keep you alert and young in spirit. Hobbies offer outlets for creative self-expression to persons of any age, the family life specialists point out. If you haven't already learned to enjoy something that can be turned into a hobby during your later years, this is a good time to start.

Nicholas County Residents Due To Earn More

The lifetime earning capacity of the average male resident of Nicholas County could reach new heights. Under current conditions of employment, of national productivity, of education and life span, the average male resident who is just starting out to earn a living has a prospective lifetime income of no less than $146,000. It is no pipedream. It is based on figures recently cited by President Johnson to indicate the dollar and cents value of a better education. The estimated earning power of the average young man in Nicholas County, for the 40 to 45 years that he will be working, takes into account the amount of schooling he has received and the present level of income locally in relation to incomes in other parts of the country. The data comes from the Department of Labor, the Department of Commerce and other sources. It shows that 26.5 percent of the local population, age 25 or older, have gone through elementary school, that 11.5 percent have completed four years of high school and that 2.7 percent have had four years or more of college. From a purely financial standpoint, the figures show that whatever investment of time and money is made toward getting a good education produces a very high rate of return. In general, the average man earns approximately $60,000 more than a person with only an elementary school diploma and a college graduate will earn about $180,000 more than a high school graduate, according to the latest estimates. In Nicholas County the educational level of the population is steadily moving higher. The median years of schooling, locally, is now 8.7 years for male residents. For young parents who look forward to seeing their new offspring entering college 18 years hence, now is the time to start preparing for it, say the bankers. They figure that it will require savings of $25 a month, invested at a 1/2 percent compound interest, to yield $6,300 in 18 years, just enough for a college education.

HomeMakers
The Mt. Zion HomeMakers held their monthly meeting with Mrs. Paul Vinson. The meeting was called to order by our president, Mrs. Vinson. Mrs. Paul Vice gave the devotional. Five members, Mrs. Margie Wilson and three children were present.
Plans for our family picnic at Cass discussion will be held July 19 at the Lick State Park. Project leaders and hostesses were selected for 1966-67. Also chairman by our new president, Mrs. Bernice Moore and hope she will be able to attend our family picnic.

4-H Leadership Conference
My Trip to the 4-H Leadership Conference in Lexington, it was an experience I will remember the rest of my life. On Tuesday and Wednesday we were divided into 5 small United Nations discussion groups. We were to represent a country in the U.S. and vice of the topic presented. The main topic was "Should the United States have help from the United Nations in Viet Nam?" although other topics were discussed. I represented Italy and voted to have the devotional. Five felt the Italians would have voted.
Also Tuesday we attended special interest groups. I chose group activities in 4-H and IFYE. In the IFYE group Melaine Conley, who went to Nepal, and Richard Gibson, who went to Israel, presented a skit about the IFYE program. They answered various questions about their trip and how they were selected to go. Logan Loubertack was in charge of the special interest groups on opportunity in 4-H. He briefly outlined some of the fields of work in 4-H and how we can use our own skills we learned in 4-H in our jobs and everyday life.
On Wednesday afternoon we had a chance to tour the college and see what teaching facilities they have for the particular kind of work we hope to do. I chose the tour of arts and music. Harry Clarke who was our tour leader, took us through the Fine Arts building.
Each night we had visitors at the amphitheater. The songs were led by Kaye Moore, Uncle Sam Vander Meer from Breathitt county brought us the inspirational message. On Wednesday night John Day talked to us on "How do you measure up as a citizen?"
For recreation we went swimming at the U.S. Memorial College pool. At night we had our own choice of other round dancing at the women's gym or square dancing at the Students Center.
We were also fortunate enough to get to meet some IFYE's from India, Turkey and other countries. Mrs. Margie Wilson went with us as a leader and helped us find our way around the campus.
I did not get to vote, but it was a great experience. I had to leave on Tuesday as I had to leave to attend a piano recital here in Carlisle.
All of the girls and the teachers will thank the sponsors for making the trip possible.
