Know Your Tax Forms

Question and Answer Column No. 66-9

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—Our daughter was married during the Christmas holidays. Will we be able to claim her as a dependent for 1965 even though she is now married?

A—If you furnished more than one-half the support of your daughter for the entire calendar year, you may claim her as a dependent unless she files a joint return with her husband, provided the gross-income and citizenship tests are met. If she files jointly, you may not claim her exemption.

Q—I qualify as unmarried head of household. Which tax table should I use?

A—If your adjusted gross income is less than $5,000 and you do not claim itemized deductions, use Table B on page 13 of the 1040 instruction booklet; otherwise, use Schedule III on page 11.

Q—I retired last year after 30 years of government service on a disability pension. It this taxable to me? I'm 58 years old.

A—Yes, although a disability pension received before the normal retirement age may qualify for the sick pay exclusion. Since U.S. Civil Service employees may retire at age 60 with 30 years of service, your pension qualifies as sick pay and up to $100 a week may be excluded from income. When you reach age 60 your pension will be treated as an annuity for tax purposes.

Q—Just what do you mean by gross-income?

A—Any income that the law specifically does not exempt from taxation is gross income. For example, Social Security pensions are expressly made tax exempt by law, and therefore are not added in when figuring gross income.

Q—When you are counting the waiting period for sick pay, do you include the weekends?

A—You count them unless the illness began on a weekend. Then you start your waiting period with the next work day.

Q—Is there any situation where partners in a business could file a joint return with each other?

A—No. The partnership will have to file partnership Form 1065, reporting its income and expenses. Each individual partner has to file his own Form 1040, showing his share of the partnership net income. He may, of course, file his individual return jointly with his wife.

Q—Do you have to be married to claim the child care deduction?

A—No. Women who are single, married, widowed, divorced, or deserted; as well as men who are widowed, divorced, legally separated, or those whose wives are incapacitated or institutionalized may use this provision of the tax law.

If you claim this deduction, use Form 2441 to compute the amount of your deduction.

Q. I am a housewife and have no Social Security number. Last year I received a little money from my uncle's estate and opened up a separate account. Do I need a Social Security number and do I have to report this income since it is under $600.

A—The law requires you to have a Social Security number for tax purposes if you received $10 or more in interest from you account during the year. An application for a number may be obtained from any Internal Revenue Service or Social Security Office.

If you file a joint return with your husband all interest from this account, as well as any other income you receive, must be reported unless a total adjusted gross income is less than $600 ($1200 if you and your husband are 65 or older.)

Q—Is there any deduction at all for the college tuition costs I pay for my son?

A—Present tax law does not allow a deduction for this purpose. However, if you borrow money to pay the tuition you may deduct the interest charges.

Q—Are legal fees in an adoption case deductible? My husband and I had a little girl placed with us last year.

A—These legal fees are considered a personal expense and are not deductible. A legally adopted child may be claimed as a dependent, however, if the other necessary dependency tests are met.

Q—I'm self-employed and don't need a Social Security number. Why should I bother to get one just for my tax return?

A—The law requires that each taxpayer have a tax account identifying number. For individuals, the Social Security numbering system is used.

Besides the penalty you may have to pay for not having a number on your tax return, no refund check can be issued without this identification.

Q—I'm 65 but my wife is not. Does that mean all my medical expenses are deductible while hers are subject to a 3 percent limitation?

A—When one member of a couple is 65 then all of their qualifying medical expenses become fully deductible. This means that your wife's medical expenses are fully deductible just as yours are.

Vets Caught in Cruel Hoax

A cruel hoax has led several thousands of veterans to write to the Veterans Administration in the hope of getting an insurance dividend that was actually paid sixteen years ago.

The hoaxers are spreading the rumor that the VA has asked veterans to write to the agency so that a dividend check might be sent to them.

VA officials point out that they have asked for no such queries and that disappointment is facing thousands of veterans whose letters are already flooding into VA offices throughout the nation.

The VA asks editors of publications and overseers of company bulletin boards to please see that the phony notices do not appear in print or become posted on the boards as these are the main methods through which the false rumor is being spread.

SOCIETY

On Centre Dean's List

Miss Sarah Hamilton of Carlisle has been named to the "Dean's List" at Centre College, Danville in the "high honors" category for having a high academic average for the fall-winter semester.

Miss Hamilton, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hamilton, Route 2, graduated in 1964 from Bourbon County High School where she was a member of the Beta Club, a varsity cheerleader, and a member of the yearbook staff. At Centre she received the John W. Reed English Prize in May of 1965.

Centre, a private, co-educational liberal arts college, is now in the midst of a ten-year development program with nine buildings completed since 1960. A unique main library-instruction building and a swimming pool are to be completed on the campus by August of this year.

Observe Golden Wedding Anniversary

School Lunch Workers Meet; Hear Economist For RECC

Mrs. Bernice Cash, home economist for RECC, Cynthiana was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Nicholas County School Food Service Association held at the Nicholas County Elementary School on Monday, March 14. Mrs. Cash discussed the problem of teen age nutrition. She stressed the important role parents play in helping children develop good food habits. Mrs. Cash emphasized that parents should teach their children to eat a variety of foods so that when they are faced with the school lunch menu they will be able to appreciate all foods. She complimented the school lunch workers on the excellent job they do in preparing and serving well balanced meals. During the business session the following new officers were elected to serve in 1966-67; Mrs. Sylvia McQuithy, president; Mrs. Elizabeth Conyers, president-elect; Mrs. Pearl Miller, secretary; Mrs. Edna Boyd, treasurer.

Mrs. Elizabeth Clay, county school lunch director, called attention to the problem of lack of government commodities, especially meats, with which the lunch program has been faced this year. One school in the county has been forced to raise the price of lunches to off set the rising cost of food prices. Mrs. Charles Crawford, president of the organization, announced that KSFSA will meet in Louisville on April 16. Plans for local members to attend were made. The next meeting of the NCSFSA will be in May at the home of Mrs. Clay.

Shooting Star 4-H

The February meeting of the Shooting Stars 4-H Club was called to order by our president Keith Jenkins. Debbie led us in the pledge to the 4-H flag and Wayne the pledge to the American flag. The secretary read the minutes and the president asked if there were any corrections to the minutes. We answered the roll by telling what you expect of a true friend.

We had a song by Charlotte. The president asked if there was any new, old, or unfinished business. He asked if there were any committee reports or any announcements. He turned the meeting over to the leader. We worked in our work books. The meeting was adjourned.

Michael Sexton, reporter.
