POINTERS ON CULLING SOWS
Cull sows whenever superior gilts are available for replacement. Cull sows that produce inferior offspring, produce too few pigs per litter, that have nonfunctional udder sections, that develop spoiled udder sections. Also cull sows that get too fat and heavy, that have poor temperament, that produce offsprings with abnormalities. Cull sows and gilts that do not settle after two matings and cull sows that develop serious lameness. Don't cull on the sow's appearance--check your record book first. One sure way to keep sows from getting too fat is to follow the Purina Sow Chow Gval 25 Program.

CONTROL FLIES ON SOWS AND PIGS
One sure way to control flies on sows and pigs is to spray them with one of the following Purina Fly Sprays, Horse and Livestock Spray, Purina Spray and Dip, Purina Stock Spray Special. Control flies around buildings with Purina Cygon 2E and Purina Fly Bait. REMEMBER: We still have close to 50 Fly Days left this year. Ask us for a product that will do the job for you on your farm.

Rural Electric People Are Committed To Progress— And They're Doing Something About It

America's rural electrics have a continuing commitment to improve the quality of life in this nation.
Across the land, rural electric people are combining their own experience and resources with those of the rest of the community to improve education, assist young people, encourage democracy, and develop industry.
Rural electrics are seriously aware of their responsibility to provide community leadership . . . as well as electricity . . . in the areas they serve.
