Nicholas County Chapter FHA Celebrating Scholarship Month

by Jane Talbert

In February we are blessed with perhaps the most celebrated month of the year speaking terms of many historical persons whose birthday falls in this month. We find in this birthday-packed month that we honor two of our country's most noted characters George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. And of course a day upon which love tokens are exchanged --Valentines Day. This month also marks the beginning of the Easter season which is called Lent.

These dates are general and familiar to almost everyone. In our school system we find that the Nicholas County Chapter of Future Homemakers of America is celebrating scholarship month and scholarship day. I will explain next week about our scholarship day. Each year a certain number of F.H.A. scholarships are given to girls in high school who show outstanding leadership, character, citizenship, and ability. The recipient of a scholarship attends a College or University in Kentucky and majors in the field of home economics. These scholarships are given at the state meeting each year. Last year, 21 girls from the state of Kentucky received an F.H.A. scholarship each amounting to $250. This year 18 scholarships will be given. These are in the amount of $300.

Mary Lois Williamson, State Director, Home Economics Education has sent a bulletin to each teacher of home economics. In it she announces there will be three television programs during the month of February which will feature the adult homemaking program and the State F.H.A. Scholarship Project.

This is a wonderful opportunity for the members of our community to gain information about these two phases of the home economics program.

The programs will feature our state advisor, state president, and State Scholarship committee members. The one that can be seen in our area is, Channel 27 on Sunday, Feb. 12 at 12:45 p.m.

Your Library

A shipment of new books has been received at the Nicholas County Library from the Department of Libraries in Frankfort. Among them are; "All About The Months," by Mayme Krythe. In a readable ready reference book the author gives a history of each month, telling how it was named, important events which occurred, holidays which fall during each month, and provides facts about birthstones and flowers.

"The Birds Fall Down" by Rebecca West. Daughter of an English Member of Parliament and granddaughter of an exiled Russian aristocrat, Laura Rowan, in escorting her grandfather on a European train, is caught in a plot to assassinate her grandfather and herself. A period novel.

"The Boston Strangler" by Frank Gerold. This gripping story tells of the reign of terror in Boston between June, 1962 and January, 1964 when 11 women were brutally murdered.

"Customs and Culture of Vietnam", by Ann Caddell Crawford. This timely book fulfills a need for a source of basic information on a nation which was unknown to Americans a few years ago but which is now the object of national attention.

"The Early Life of Stephen Hind'", by Storm Jameson. A polished entertainment concerning a young Englishmen in the first stages of a carefully calculated climb to success.

"The Fine Art Of Hypochondria Or How Are You?" by Goodman Ace. Here's a short, sweet and funny cure for that dread disease - imaginary illness. It is a prescription of inspired nonsense for emotionally inspired ills.

"The Glory Of Their Times," By Lawrence Ritter. Informal anecdotal reminiscences of baseball in the early 1900's by 22 old-time ballplayers.

"Lyndon B. Johnson: The Exercise Of Power" by Rowland Evans & Robert Novak. This political bligraphy tells us about Lyndon Johnson's political life from its beginning to the contemporary scene.

"The Master Magicians" by Walter Gibson" Mr. Gibson give short sketches of the greatest artist of magic shows. He emphasizes the individual tricks and illusions each of these artists. An explanation of each trick and how the illusion was created are included.

"Valentina" by Evelyn Anthony. A novel of romance and intrigue during Napoleon's invasion of Russia.

New Books for Children from the State Department of Libraries: "Go Away Ruthie, by Laura Nelson Baker. This is a very sobersided personal account of adolescence. Ruthie, the tolerated girl-next-door, has married Lyn's steady boy-friend. The homelife and high school experiences of Lynn are typical of a protected, middleclass girl. This is a record of a trip through the teens to understanding and continued growth without any preachiness.

"The Real Mother Goose," illus. by Blanche Fisher Wright. This large volume of over three hundred Mother Goose verses is one of the most popular. It has colorful pictures on every page. The pictures so clear and simple that they appeal to the young child.

"Myths and Legends Of Many Lands," by Nichola Stasona, comp. A treasure chest of wondrous stories that will open up a world of delight.

"Roller Skates, by Ruth Sawyer. For one never-to-be-forgotten year Lucinda Wyman was free to explore New York on roller skates. Her enchanting personality, her gay conversation, and her many delightful friends give a picture of child life in New York in the '90's.

"Run, Westy, Run," by Gudrun Alcock. This is a matter-of-fact, realistic account of what happens when a boy runs away continually in spite of his parents, the truant officer, and all adult authorities. Westy has to learn to look at life realistically and work out his problems. Recommended for all libraries in this day of wide - spread juvenile delinquency.

English Workshop Date Set

The ever-present gap between senior and high school and college English will be discussed in Composition Coordination Workshop on Feb. 18 at the University of Northern Community College, Covington.

Administrators, supervisors and teachers of English from the area, plus representatives from the Lexington campus and other community colleges have been invited to attend the day-long series of lectures and group discussions.

"If we are to serve adequately English composition requirements of our high school graduates, we must create a program that will complement the work of the secondary teacher," William Bryon, chairman of the English and humanities division at NCC, said.

Thomas E. Gaston, chairman of the English and humanities division at the UK Fort Knox Community College, will be principal speaker. Ted Clingner, teacher of English at Holmes High School, Covington, and Larry Dickson, NCC instructor in English, will also be on the program.

Boy Scouts Celebrate Anniversary

Service projects will be high on the list of activities for Cub Scout packs, Boy Scout troops, and Explorer posts in February as 430 Scout units celebrate the 57th anniversary of Boy Scouts of America in the Blue Grass Council.

Fourteen thousand members of the Boy Scouts of America in the Blue Grass Council area of 41 Central and Southeastern Kentucky counties and Claiborn County in Tennessee will join millions of brother Scouts around the world in a year-long friendship program.

John S. Swift, President of the Blue Grass Council, explained that Scouting in this area operates in partnership with over 300 local churches, and civic organizations that are chartered to use the Scout program.

Other activities for the anniversary month, particularly Feb. 7 to 13 -- Boy Scout Week, will include demonstrations, window displays, Uniform Day, institutional programs, Cub Scout blue and gold banquets, Boy Scout parents' nights, courts of honor, overnight camps, and special religious services on Scout Sunday, Feb. 12.

The general theme is "Scouting Rounds a Guy Out". The Blue Grass Council will be represented at the XII World Jamboree in Idaho in August, by 11 selected Scouts and three adult volunteer leaders.

Welfare Aid—1975

An estimated 9.2 million persons will receive aid in meeting their regular living costs -- as compared with just under 8 million in 1965, according to a recent study of the Tax Foundation, Inc. And state-local spending under this phase of public welfare is anticipated to increase from 1965 levels of $4.1 billion to $5.4 billion by 1975.

The report states that although the number of those receiving old-age assistance is projected to decline by 375,000 by 1975, this decrease will be more than offset by an estimated rise of 1.54 million persons in the aid to dependent children category.
